INTENTIONS IGNORED.

MILLIONS TO HEIRS.

San Francisco Out of Sutro Will.

Sutro Heights, Cliff House and Ocean Shore Go to Children.

Charity and Education Also Fail to Secure Their Bequests.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Supreme Court at noon today invalidated the original will of the late Adolph Sutro and ordered a decree of distribution among the surviving heirs. This decision takes away Sutro Heights, the Cliff House and the wide sweep of ocean property from the city of San Francisco and gives it to the children of Sutro.

The Supreme Court has been nineteen months deliberating on the issues involved in this will contest, and the fatal objection to the validity of the will lay in the ultimate distribution of the property. According to the will these estates were to be held in trust until the last surviving child should die, after which they were to be sold and the proceeds devoted "to the uses and purposes of charitable and educational institutions and others which are in my will provided and specified."

The Supreme Court held that the devotion of this fund to charity must be clear and certain and not left to the discretion of the trustees.

FAILURE TO SPECIFY.

The court held that the words "institution" and "organization" may apply to private bodies, and that educational awards under the terms of the will could properly be made to inventors. The failure to specifically provide for the disbursement of the fund destroyed the charitable perpetuities decreed in the will.

The Supreme Court, therefore, after a citation of innumerable prior adjudications, invalidated the will and ordered a decree of distribution among the heirs. The surviving beneficiaries are Clara Sutro, Edgar E. Sutro, Kate Nussbaum and Rosa V. Morbio, who brought the original action against Dr. Emma Merritt, a daughter of Adolph Sutro, and executrix of the estate.

Sutro died on August 8, 1888, and his last will and testament was written May 22, 1882, leaving to each of his children, $10,000, and trust interest in his properties. The lands of the San Miguel ranch and his holdings at the ocean beach were left to the city and the proceeds thereof were to be distributed to charitable and educational institutions.

VALUABLE ESTATE.

The estate is valued at about $12,000,000. At the death of the last surviving child the lands were to be sold to the highest bidder and the fund derived was to be devoted to the purpose of education and charity. The vagueness of these bequests is the basis, for the present opinion of the Supreme Court and through it the city has lost a valuable land acquisition and the latter have won a long legal battle of many years' duration.

BABY PRINCE MAKES BOW.

Future Emperor of Germany on Parade With Cat in Arms.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although not yet 2 years old, Prince William, who will be German Emperor some day in the natural order of things, has made his appearance before the public, which proves him to be the Emperor's own grandson.

"Prince Billy," as he is affectionately called by the German people, stole out of the nursery to a balcony overlooking the famous Boulevard Unter Den Linden. The throng in the street soon caught sight of the little fellow and stopped to watch him and to cheer.

Finding that he had centered on himself the earnest attention of his future subjects, the baby Prince considered them military honors. He was carrying a big cat, which he shouldered like a rifle and marched two and fro stopping now and then to "present arms."

ST. MICHAELS (Md.) June 25.—Emmitt or John T. Roberts, the man charged with the murder of Mrs. Edith May Woodill, was killed by a Sheriff's posse early this morning while defying arrest.

ST. MICHAELS (Md.) June 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Early last night information reached the authorities that Roberts was on the river in a small boat, presumably the one in which he escaped from his boarding-house.

He was followed up the river by a deputy sheriff and two other men, who gradually drove him to the neighborhood of McDaniels's wharf, from which the murder was committed.

Here were waiting Magistrate Willy and a posse. Magistrate Willy, when Roberts was within 100 yards of shore, ordered him to throw up his hands. The reply of the fugitive was a shot.

Before its echoes died away, a member of the posse [illegible] and [illegible] dropped back [illegible]

The police and detectives ... searched in vain all day among the ... marshes for the educated and refined ... man of 45 or 50, who is accused of ... slaying the young wife of another, and ... a woman who sang at the White ... House, and whose musical education ... abroad was aided by former Secretary ... of the Treasury Lyman J. Gage and ... former Gov. Frank Brown of Maryland.

Mrs. Woodill was the adopted daughter of Col. O. H. Thompson, a prominent resident of McDaniels, Talbot county. It appears that Roberts was last seen in St. Michaels, where the body of the murdered woman has been identified.

Mrs. Woodill's nude body was found by two boys in a creek near her home. The skull had been crushed with some heavy instrument. She was evidently killed on shore and her body taken out in a boat and cast overboard. The police believe the woman was murdered in Robert's bungalow.

It appears that she had been associating with Roberts for some time. Last Saturday she went to Dr. Smithers, a dentist at Easton, to have her teeth treated. Roberts had arranged by letter to meet her at Royal Oak station. Following is a copy of her reply to his letter, dated June 16:

SIGNS "DOLL BABY."

"Dear Wobby: Can't come down. Haven't even had my morning ablutions, and I know how men hate waiting. Why, I'd be afraid you'd wear out the parlor rug, plus your temper, if you tried it. It's only an intermittent delirium, anyhow, and you'd better go and wash your dishes.

"Even without an imagination you might know that I'd be thinking of you.

[Signed] "DOLL BABY."

Roberts got as far as this place in his launch, and then, missing the train, hired a team and drove to Royal Oak, when he met Mrs. Woodill and drove back to St. Michaels, avoiding the main street, and making directly for the pier, where his launch was tied. Leaving Mrs. Woodill standing on the bridge he disposed of the team.

That the young woman was Mrs. Woodill was asserted by Miss Cora Dodson, who saw the couple from the porch of her home near by. After the couple had pushed off from the pier they were passed by Orem, one of the jurymen at the inquest which decided that the young woman had come to her death as the result of foul play. The presumption is that the couple next went to Roberts's bungalow.

Last night constables went to Roberts's bungalow and found there an arsenal of arms, enough first-class supplies to keep up a regiment of soldiers. No blood stains were found until they got ready to leave, when they found a sheet on the bed. On the top was a large blood stain, as if the head had rested there. The blood had soaked through to the mattress. A pair of corduroy trousers, the same as Justice Willy claims Roberts wore when he last saw him, were also found and contained the letter from "Mrs. Woodill.

MANY CLEWS IN SIGEL CASE LEAD NOWHERE.

Reports Pour in from All Quarters But No Trace of Leon Ling Is Found. False Rumors Excite San Francisco Threatening Letters Surrendered.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 24.—With all tangible indications of an approach to a solution of the murder of Elsie Sigel narrowing to the vanishing point, another day of the three-fold investigation by police, detectives and District Attorney, ended tonight.

Chung Sin, after thirty-four hours of steady grilling, with but one intermission for sleep, had a day of rest at last. The same stream of unsatisfactory clews kept pouring in from Chinatown, from Newark and the suburbs, and even from the cities of the Pacific Coast, but so far as the police here could determine tonight, not one has any substantial basis.

The one bit of authentic information which turned up today did not greatly forward the search for Leon Ling. This information came from Chu Gain, who explained that the $360 advanced to Chung Sin, Leon Ling's roommate, did not come out of his private purse.

Chu Gain explained today that the money was part of a loan fund belonging to the Chinese Empire Reform Association of which he is treasurer.

HANDKERCHIEF MISSING.

The theory of Quon Yick Nam that the girl had died from an overdose of chloroform administered by Leon cannot be confirmed, as the handkerchief which his room-mate, Chung Sin, declares he saw over her mouth has disappeared.

The finding of the two letters written by Leon to Chu Gain, whom he regarded as his rival in the affections of the Sigel girl, in which Leon threatens the life of both Chu and the young woman, is the evidence obtained yesterday to show the motive of the case. Both these letters, which are in Chinese, and signed "The Chief," were today shown to Chung Sin and readily identified by him as having been written by the fugitive.

The text of these letters has not been revealed, but it is known that in them Chu Gain is threatened with death unless he discontinues his attentions to Miss Sigel. Gain has already said that his own brother brought him oral warning emanating from Leon that he must cease his visits to the Sigel woman, and that upon one occasion when he called at the home of the young woman, Leon, who was already there, left the house in a passion.

TERRIBLE THREATS.

The two threatening letters received by Chu Gain, warning him to pay no attention to Elsie Sigel on penalty of death were surrendered by Chu Gain to Asst. Dist.-Atty Ward today. The letters were signed "the Chief" and were written in Chinese characters.

Other than that they contained terrible threats against Chu Gain. The contents have not been made known.

The possibility that Leon Ling has fled to Cuba was brought to the attention of the police today by a white woman living in Chinatown. The woman told the police that she had heard two Chinamen discussing the Sigel case and heard them express the belief that Leon was now in Cuba.

NOT ON MANCHURIA.

The Chinese empire Reform Association today sent out a letter to its branches throughout the country calling upon them to give aid in finding Leon.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—After a series of reports that Leon Ling, the suspected murderer of Elsie Sigel had been captured on board the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria, the vessel sailed for the Orient shortly after 1 o'clock today and the police engaged in the hunt for the fugitive returned to headquarters, disappointed and empty-handed.

Two hours before the departure a report was circulated that Ling had been captured. A message received at police headquarters sent an additional detail hurrying to the dock with a Chinaman qualified to identify the man said to be held as a suspect. When the party arrived, however, it was found that there was no ground for the belief. Up to the very moment of the vessel's departure the search for Leon Ling was captured. Detective Sergeant George MacMahon, with a dozen men selected because of their acquaintance with the Chinese and their customs, ransacked every foot of space throughout the big liner, their task extending over a period of several hours.

MacMahon, through a Chinese with whom he is well acquainted, obtained positive information last night that Leon Ling was hidden in Oakland by friends and fellow-members of his tong, and it was expected, according to his reports, that an effort would be made to smuggle the fugitive aboard during the night or just prior to the hour of sailing. It was supposed that this was to be done through the co-operation of Chinese servants or members of the Chinese crew, and a vigilant watch was maintained throughout the night.

COLORADO RIVER UNCHANGED.

YUMA (Ariz.) June 24.—The Colorado River situation at Yuma tonight is practically unchanged. The river has not risen perceptibly since noon, when the gauge stood at 30.7.

The discharge is 149,500 second feet. Reports from Needles and Ehrenberg state the river is falling at both points. The Colorado levees are holding splendidly, but are constantly patroled.

Traffic over the Southern Pacific bridge, spanning the Colorado is uninterrupted, although the bridge is being carefully watched.

POLITICAL.

BRYAN LECTURES GOV. JOHNSON.

EXECUTIVE IS SCORED FOR VETO OF TONNAGE TAX BILL.

Nebraskan Leaves Inference That Corporations Swayed Minnesotan in His Action—Violation of Democratic State Platform Also Charged. Illinois Democrats Flayed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The current issue of W. J. Bryan's Commoner will contain a long lecture to Gov. Johnson of Minnesota for his veto of the tonnage tax bill. He deplores the action of the Minnesota executive because he (Bryan) contends the tonnage tax was opposed by the corporations and he leaves the inference that Gov. Johnson may have been swayed in his action by such opposition.

The tonnage tax, Mr. Bryan contends, was indorsed by the Democratic State platform, and he reiterates his old argument that a platform is binding and that if Gov. Johnson was opposed to it he should have repudiated it at the time of its adoption instead of waiting until after the Legislature had carried out the platform pledge.

The Supreme Court, Bryan says, was the body to pass upon constitutionality, and concludes: "The time is ripe for emphasizing the doctrine that a platform is binding and that no official elected upon a platform is at liberty to disregard it or to repudiate it."

Commenting on the election of William Lorimer to the United States Senate by Democratic votes, Mr. Bryan says:

"Democracy as defined by the Democrats in the Illinois Legislature is about as loathsome an article as one can imagine. A Republican boss has been sent to the United States Senate by the aid of Democratic votes. If the Democratic members of the Legislature had voted for Hopkins, objectionable as he was, they might have pleaded as an excuse that he had received a plurality in the primary of the dominant party. If they had found the selection of some clever and upright person they might have justified their action, but to join in the selection of Speaker Cannon's right hand man is indefensible, whether considered from the standpoint of party or from the standpoint of patriotism.

"Why did they do it? Well, you cannot judge from the resolutions given publicly. Watch the Democrats who voted for him and you may be able to discover from their movements what led them so grossly to abuse the authority vested in them."

DANGER SIDETRACKED.

STANDARD OIL PLANS FOR AUSTRIA UPSET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to the decisive intervention of the imperial government the Standard Oil Company's plans for gaining control of the Galician petroleum industry have suffered a final and crushing defeat. The Austrians have withdrawn the contract with the company, which would have insured to the American concern the dominating position in the Galician oil fields, for which it has been striving for many years.

The Ministry of Finance has undertaken to build reservoirs and lease them to the oil men at rents much less than those demanded by the Standard Oil Company. Moreover, the home refiners will escape the handicap of the heavy rebates on the price of the raw product which the Standard was to have enjoyed under the contract now canceled.

The government expresses the hope that competition will be sharpened through the abrogation of the contract, but it is probable that a lively fight will follow for the export trade, which virtually affects the Standard's position in Germany.

The Vacuum Oil Company, which is the Austrian branch of the Standard Oil Company of the United States, acquired the controlling interest in the largest oil transport and storage company in Galicia, in October, 1907. In February, 1908, the Standard company introduced tank wagons, which purveyed its product direct to the storekeeper, thus eliminating the wholesaler. The company began a campaign on purchasing the holdings of all the wholesale concerns in the country districts and took steps to drive out of business those who refused to sell.

FATAL.

EAST SUFFERS FROM HEAT THAT KILLS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One dead because of the heat, another killed by lightning, and seven persons prostrated, additional to those reported Wednesday night, were the result in Chicago of the high temperature of Wednesday and of the electrical storm which broke over the city about 3 o'clock this morning. The storm mitigated the heat somewhat but besides the fatality, the lightning caused some damage.

The hot wave which has extended over almost the entire country, continued elsewhere. There was no alleviation in New York City, where fatalities continued and the mercury ascended to 90 deg. at 3 p.m. The death list there for the day reached ten.

The heat was most intense in that part of the country extending from the Mississippi Valley east. In some sections, as in Chicago and its vicinity, local rains relieved conditions somewhat. In Philadelphia three deaths were reported and in Pittsburgh, four. One dead and six prostrated were reported in Cleveland. In Washington, D. C., the mercury reached 88 deg. The highest here today was 80 deg. at 1 p.m. Prof. Cox expects a continuance of the sultry weather with more local thunder storms.

The humidity continued here and the death and additional prostrations were attributed to that.

NINETY IN ST. LOUIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The maximum of 90 deg. was reached at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the same as at New Orleans, Cincinnati, Baltimore and New York. Even at 9 o'clock tonight, it stood at 81 in this city. Reports from the West indicate nothing in the way of relief.

Killjoy experts say it will be worse because after a few days of high temperature, the big brick, stone and steel structures of a city become thoroughly heated and radiate heat for some time. A carpenter was seriously prostrated by the heat while working today at Edwardsville, Ill., near here. Five prostrations were reported to the police up to 11 p.m.

W. D. Scott, of Columbus, O., was overcome by heat here at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and is a patient at the City Hospital in a critical condition.

FIFTY PROSTRATED.

CINCINNATI, June 24.—During the parade of the Turner societies here, fifty persons were prosperated by the heat today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Edith May Thompson Woodill, ward of Lyman Gage and pupil at Point Loma, murdered at Baltimore, is said to have married Dr. W. W. Caswell of Boston, three years ago, after a brief acquaintance, the couple separating in two days. Comment on this association was declined by Dr. Caswell tonight.

MODEL OF PROPRIETY.

Millionaire's Wife Denies Servants' Testimony.

Dustin Farnum Declares Conduct Was Good.

It Is Believed the Case Will Conclude Today.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 24.—Katherine Clemmons Gould was called back to the stand for a final ordeal today, to explain away, if possible, the damaging testimony given by the witnesses for her husband in her suit for separation and alimony of $250,000 a year.

It was a day of denials, beginning with the reading of the deposition of Dustin Farnum, who denied all allegations of improper conduct with Mrs. Gould, and ending with Mrs. Gould's denials of practically everything in word or action attributed to her by witnesses for the other side.

For two hours, Mrs. Gould answered the carefully framed questions of her counsel, repudiating with a monotonous flat denial all the testimony thugging her with excessive drinking, profanity or other impropriety.

Chauffeurs, grooms, stable men, shopkeepers, laborers and other servants and employés were alike branded with the short and ugly epithet.

WAS DIGNIFIED.

She never drank, to excess; never used profane language, never forgot her dignity as mistress of Castle Gould, and never overstepped the bounds of propriety, according to her statements.

She told her counsel she never tried to hitch up a pair of mules, never ordered dishes and food thrown from her St. Regis apartments, never referred to Dustin Farnum as "my new beau," never quarreled with her husband before company, never had a coachman's arm about her waist to hold her on the carriage seat, never discharged an employé in anger, never became intoxicated aboard the yacht Niagara, never consumed two quarts of cocktails in two days.

Mrs. Gould's explanation of her friendship with Dustin Farnum took up much of her time. Her testimony held close to the line drawn in the deposition offered in behalf of Farnum, who was unable to appear, it was announced, on account of illness.

Whatever intimacy there was between her and the actor, was accounted for by her desire to have his advice regarding her plans to return to the stage.

HAPPINESS GONE.

"My home had been broken up," she said. "All authority had been taken from me, my happiness was gone and I wanted some occupation to divert my mind. I thought of returning to the stage and wanted to talk the matter over with Mr. Farnum, who, I was convinced, would be able to help me."

She had not seen Farnum, she said, from 1904 until 1906, when she talked with him about returning to the stage.

Mrs. Gould said Farnum was never in her parlor at the St. Regis, except on the August afternoon in 1906, when they lunched together with several others, and on the occasion of the automobile accident on Long Island, when they returned to the house to arrange for bail for the chauffeur.

She never addressed Mr. Farnum by endearing names, she said, and never permitted any improper familiarity.

Only once was the ripple of question and answer between Mr. Shearn and Mrs. Gould disturbed. The interruption was by Justice Dowling, who said that he wanted to look later at Mrs. Gould's now famous dinner checks at the St. Regis.

"I had not intended to mention them," declared Mr. Shearn. He promised to produce them for the court's inspection tomorrow, however.

It is believed the case will close tomorrow.

FARNUM'S DEPOSITION.

Delancy Nicoll, counsel for the defense objected to the reading of Farnum's deposition. Justice Dowling allowed the deposition to be read and Mr. Shearn asked the privilege of also calling the actor on Monday, if he could get him.

Farnum deposed that he first met Mrs. Gould six or seven years ago at a charitable benefit given by a number of New York society women. Mrs. Lounsberry introduced him to Mrs. Gould.

The second time he met her was at Castle Gould when he went with Miss Mae Robson, the actress, and Mrs. Gould drove them for two hours about the estate. In August, 1906, the actor took lunch at the St. Regis Hotel with Mrs. Gould upon her invitation, the witness deposed.

"I went then on a matter of business as Mrs. Gould was thinking of going back on the stage and wished to talk it over with me," the witness said. "We had lunch in the parlor of Mrs. Gould's apartments and I stayed about an hour and a half. Mr. Sells was to have been there, but he came in just as I was leaving."

MEETING IN HARTFORD.

Farnum told of meeting Mrs. Gould in Hartford, Conn., when he was touring the New England cities in "The Virginian."

Mrs. Gould, Miss Sells and another young woman and the actor had supper at Mrs. Gould's hotel after the play.

"I remained about an hour and then returned to my hotel. Next day I invited Mrs. Gould to lunch with me at my hotel."

The deposition covered the week Farnum was playing in Brooklyn in 1906. One night Mrs. Gould came to the theater with a friend and Farnum accompanied them to New York and they had dinner at a café. Farnum went directly to his hotel, he said. On another occasion, Farnum, Mrs. Gould and his manager rode over from Brooklyn to New York in Mrs. Gould's automobile. They talked about Mrs. Gould's ambition to return to the stage.

GOOD-NIGHT DOWNSTAIRS.

They left the manager at his hotel and Mr. Farnum continued on to the St. Regis and had a bite to eat in the restaurant with Mrs. Gould.

"Did you go up to Mrs. Gould's apartments afterward?" was asked.

"No, sir; I bade her good-night downstairs and returned to my hotel," was the answer.

Farnum described his meeting with Mrs. Gould at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia where he had supper in her apartments. Miss Sells and another young woman were present at the time and afterward they all went to Atlantic City, where Farnum was to play.

A dinner was given there in Mrs. Gould's parlor at the hotel and Farnum, Miss Robson, Mrs. Gould and the two young women were present. Miss Robson entertained them most of the evening with funny stories, the witness said. He remained a little while after the young women retired, with Mrs. Gould, Miss Robson and the maid and then retired to his own room. He was not alone with Mrs. Gould at any time on that occasion.

AT OYSTER HOUSE.

The witness deposed that he met Mrs. Gould and Miss Sells in Washington one night after the theater and took them to an oyster house. He left them at their hotel afterward. Farnum described his meeting with Mrs. Gould in Lynchburg, Va., at the Hotel Carroll, when he was playing the southern cities. He received an invitation from Mrs. Gould to Blue Gap farm, but later received word that Mrs. Gould was ill and he did not go. He heard at the Carroll that Mrs. Gould was there ill and he went to her door and knocked and asked if he could do anything for her.

"She looked very ill and as though she had been poisoned," said the witness. She said there was nothing he could do so he left. That night he took dinner with Mrs. Gould in her parlor. The waiter was there all the time, the witness said.

Farnum did not breakfast in Mrs. Gould's rooms in the Hotel Carroll, he said, as witnesses for the defense have testified. It was at a restaurant that they ate, he said.

Farnum declared he had never embraced Mrs. Gould, or addressed her in endearing terms.

MRS. GOULD DENIES.

Mrs. Gould was then called as a witness. Her attorney asked her about the times when witnesses for the defense testified they heard her call Malloy, manager of Castle Gould, a liar, puppy and other harsh names. She denied that she had ever called the former manager any of these names.

She said that she had never asked Malloy to sit on a sofa with her, saying she wanted to talk to him.

"Richards (steward at Castle Gould) testified that seven bottles of brandy were sent to your room at Castle Gould during a period of two weeks. Is that true?" asked Mr. Shearn.

"No, it is not," replied Mrs. Gould.

"Richards also testified that one night at Castle Gould you rang all the bells in the house and set of all the burglar alarms. Is that true?" Mrs. Gould was asked.

Mrs. Gould said it was not.

"What was the occasion of having the burglar alarms at Castle Gould?" asked Mr. Shearn.

"I was so much alone at night that I had the outside door wired, and when Mr. Gould opened the door that night the alarms began to ring," answered Mrs. Gould. "He came upstairs and was angry, and accused me of spying on him, and threatened to quit me."

Mrs. Gould said she never called her husband "a little puppy" and never applied any other epithets to him. She also denied that she swore or used abusive language to the servants on any occasion.

Howard Gould and one of his lawyers, Mr. Sullivan, seemed to be considerably amused at Mrs. Gould's denials. They whispered to each other as she was testifying, and smiled broadly.

FIFTY WOMEN ARE PLEDGED TO MARRY SUFFRAGE MEN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fifty unmarried members of the Progressive Woman's Suffrage Union of this city have signed a pledge not to marry any man who will not first formally agree to support woman's suffrage.

A mass meeting of women was held at suffrage headquarters, Twenty-third street and Fourth avenue, last night. A resolution was drawn up and unanimously accepted. Nearly fifty young women who were present signed it that time, and today many dropped into headquarters, where Miss Helen Murphy received signatures.

Delegates from suffrage unions in Chicago and other cities were present, and a similar price will be put on women's hearts everywhere.

"Within a month," said Miss Murphy, "we will have the names of 10,000 girls eligible to matrimony who have pledged themselves to abide by the resolution. In six months we should have nearly a hundred thousand girls, and when the men who won't give us our rights see that it is a question of votes or wives, they'll choose the wives."

DRASTIC PLEDGE.

The petition which was read at the meeting last night and received with cheers, was drawn up by Miss Murphy. It reads:

"We the undersigned, hereby declare that we will not unite in matrimony with any man who is not willing to sign an agreement that he will not only lend his moral support to suffrage, but will work patiently and hard toward its support and success."

Miss Murphy was the first to sign the resolution. Maud L. Glascow followed, and then in quick order, Miss Josephine Casey, leader of one of the Chicago unions; Miss Sophie C. Aus, Miss Martha Klatschken of Orange, Miss Maud B. Hubiey and a host of others wrote their names on the resolution.

Today Miss Mary Tyng, known as one of the prettiest suffragists in New York, joined the ranks. Miss Tyng is a tall, graceful brunette.

"Nobody gets me but a real suffragette man," she laughed as she drew her pen across the rapidly-growing string of names below the resolution.

WHAT WILL HE SAY?

"I know somebody who won't like this, but he'll have to come around now," said Miss Klatschken, another pretty brunette. She is one of the leaders of suffrage in Orange, and a belle of note. Her blue eyes twinkled and the white teeth beneath the full lips gleamed with satisfaction as she finished her signature with a flourish.

Miss Emma Moesch, an unusually pretty Blonde, filled in her name with a smile.

"Oh, these men," she said, "I guess they'll have to come to time now."

She was followed by Miss Ida Wingers and Dr. Emma Gantz.

CANNON AGAINST SUFFRAGE.

TELLS GIRLS WHY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 24.—"I am against woman suffrage," said Speaker Cannon yesterday.

The Speaker was talking to the graduating class of the Oswego, N. Y., High School, introduced to him by Representative John Dwight.

"I'll tell you why I am against woman suffrage, girls," said the Speaker, and a score of the young women gathered close around him. "You see, each of you girls will get married and control your husband's vote, as well as everything else. If you don't marry you will control your brothers' vote, or your brother-in-law's. So you see, if we let you vote, the first thing we know, we men won't have any chance at all."

MONEY FOR CENSUS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 24.—On the eve of the expiration of the current fiscal year, the House, today, authorized an emergency appropriation of $10,000,000 for defraying the expense of the thirteenth decennial census.

In presenting the bill, Mr. Tawney, chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, announced that unless the money were forthcoming the Census Bureau would be compelled to suspend all business next Wednesday.

Notwithstanding this warning, the bill met with much opposition and it finally passed only after Mr. Macon of Arkansas had forced a roll call on a point of no quorum.

To get the members for this vote, the sergeant-at-arms and his deputies scoured the capitol under orders from Speaker Cannon. About eighty members were found comfortably seated in the Senate, listening to the tariff debate.

The first active step toward ship subsidy legislation in the Sixty-first Congress was taken today when Representative Humphrey of Washington introduced in the House his Ocean Mail subsidy bill, patterned after the bill which was considered by the last Congress, but containing several new features.

American lines are to be permitted to purchase vessels in any country they may choose and run them under their own flag in the foreign trade or trade with the Philippines.

"BUSINESS IS GOOD."

OGDEN ARMOUR IS OPTIMISTIC.

Anticipates Era of Prosperity from Now on.

Finds Excellent Prospects in Europe.

Believes International Wars Are Past.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "The business outlook, both in America and in Europe, never was so bright as today."

Such was the optimistic message brought by J. Ogden Armour on his return home this morning from a continental tour of several months' duration. The demand for American goods in foreign markets, Mr. Armour declared, is a growing one. He expressed the hopeful belief that the time is near when Germany and all other countries will open the door to American meats.

Reports of abundant crops, mingled with the gladness of being at home again to promote the brightness of Mr. Armour's smile as he was greeted by friends on his arrival. Nor did he find any cloud on the horizon of the tariff question.

"The tariff will be settled, and settled right," was his forecast.

ERA OF PROSPERITY.

He saw in the broad plains of South America abundant opportunity for the development of the world's live stock industry, but characterized the extent of the participation of local packing interests in that field as "problematical." He squelched rumors that the packers would go into the manufacture of shoes.

"Not in a great many years, if ever," said Mr. Armour, "have the fundamental conditions for industry and trade been so promising as at the present moment. During the coming five years I look for an era of phenomenal prosperity the world over.

"Business conditions upon the continent are rapidly improving," Mr. Armour continued. "This is particularly true in Germany and France. In England, too, the manufacturing and commercial interests are showing great recuperative strength, and the English budget will be settled as will our American tariff, in accordance with the broadest requirements of the country. America has made much progress, and we have in addition the prospect of large crops and money in abundance."

NO MORE WARS.

Mr. Armour said that reports of serious trouble impending between Germany and England were foolish.

"There won't be any war between these two countries," he said. "In the first place there's no reason for a war, and in the second place the big financiers of both countries, as well as of this country, would not permit a war. There would be too much lost.

"The financiers of the world will prevent any war between any of the great nations. I firmly believe, and I don't think that there ever will be any more wars."

TORNADOES IN KANSAS.

NORTON (Kan.) June 24.—Northwestern Norton county and Southern Nebraska were storm swept late this afternoon by a half-dozen tornadoes, all plainly seen by citizens here. All rural telephone lines are down, and reports are meager.

HER HEART TOO SOFT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LACROSSE (Wis.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pleading that she be sent where some one would give her proper care and declaring, "I'm dead in love with every boy and man I meet and simply can't resist them," Miss Gladys Lawrence, 17 years old, had her wish granted, and was sent to the industrial school. The girl came here six years ago from Sioux City, Iowa.

SIGEL CASE.

An hour before the lines were cast off MacMahon received another report from similar sources, notifying him that Leon Ling was on board the Manchuria. Chinese passengers, male and female, were again subjected to rigid inspection.

REPORTED IN TEXAS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) June 24.—It was declared today that a Chinaman bearing every resemblance to the picture and identification marks of Leon Ling, was seen on a Southern Pacific train Sunday last, routed from New Orleans to Jerome, Ariz. The number of the Chinaman's ticket was 8086, form "K," and was purchased in New York at the Southern Pacific office, June 17.

Dr. Thomas P. Wilson.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Dr. Thomas P. Wilson, one of the best known homeopathic physicians in the United States, formerly of Cleveland, O., and Detroit, died of paralysis yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louise K. Comstock at Montclair, N. J. Dr. Wilson was 78 years old, was a pronounced agnostic and instead of a religious service over his body, one of his medical friends, by the physician's request, will read selections from the writings of Robert Ingersoll. Dr. Wilson and Col. Ingersoll were warm friends. After studying abroad for several years, Dr. Wilson became president of the Pulooe Homeopathic Medical College, in Cincinnati, in 1871, and several years later accepted the chair of therapeutics in the University of Michigan. In 1876 Dr. Wilson wrote a story "The Horseless City," in which he predicted the time was coming when the place of the horse would be taken by the automobile.

HAYWOOD IS FINED AGAIN.

Gets Drunk, Smokes Cigarette, and Pays Ten Dollars for Luxury.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DAVENPORT (Wash.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. D. Haywood, union-labor agitator and socialist, came in on the evening train yesterday to fill an engagement to deliver an address. There were twelve present at the lecture. After the lecture Haywood got gloriously drunk, and this morning was still intoxicated, missing his train to Spokane.

This afternoon he was caught smoking cigarettes, and Deputy Sheriff Goffinet arrested him as he was in the act of boarding a freight train. A charge was placed against him of having "the makings" in his possession and he was hauled before Justice of the Peace J. E. Fraser, where he pleaded guilty, and was fined $7 and costs, making the sum taxed against him $10. He paid the fine and was released.

This is Haywood's third arrest within a week for smoking cigarettes.

BAPTIST WOMEN MILITANT.

Seek Representation in Convention of Northern Association Convening at Portland.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Women of the Baptist American Home Mission Society have become infected with the suffragette spirit. Sentiment among the delegates to the convention now in session is practically a unit for demanding representation in the convention of the Northern Baptist Association, which will convene here Friday evening. The question of the proposed demand has been actively discussed ever since the women delegates began gathering here. At their final session Friday evening action will be taken and there is little doubt that the proposal will pass unanimously. Delegates to the Northern Baptist convention who are already on the ground are inclined to view with dismay the impending onslaught. Just how the women's demands will be acted on is hard to foretell.

Several hundred delegates arrived yesterday in preparation for the convention opening Friday night, and the last trainload will arrive tomorrow. All traveling via the Oregon Short Line are being delayed by a train wreck near Huntington, but are expected to arrive before the curtain rises with the addresses of welcome and the opening of the convention by Prof. Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago.

LINEMAN HUNG BY FEET.

Shoes Caught by Short Circuit at Top of Pole; He Hangs Head Downward.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Held by the soles of his shoes to a big metal transformer at the top of a pole, Edward Moore, a lineman, suffered agony and faced death for fifteen minutes today, until finally rescued by firemen after the current had been turned off.

The mishap was occasioned by the accidental short-circuiting of a wire which allowed 1000 volts of electricity to slowly burn through Moore's shoes and into his flesh, shocking his system so that several days of treatment will be necessary to render him able to work again.

CITY OWNERSHIP FAILS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—The special election to decide upon a proposition to issue $1,950,000 of bonds for the reconstruction and equipment of the Geary-street railroad as a municipally-owned line, resulted today in defeat for the plan.

The total number of votes cast was small—22,258. There was a majority of nearly 7000 for the proposition, but it failed by 400 to receive the necessary two-thirds vote.

NEPHEW OF GRANT VICTIM.

SAN JOSE SHOOTING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the inquest tonight over the remains of A. Cleveland Urlin and W. Evans Dent, it developed that the latter was a nephew by marriage of Gen. U. S. Grant. Julia Dent, who became the wife of the Civil War hero, was a sister of W. Evans Dent's father. The woman, Mrs. Ida Schley, is a daughter of one of the best-known ranchers in the valley, Lyman McGuire of Saratoga, but it is hinted that she has not been on the best of terms with the members of her immediate family for some time.

A. Cleveland Urlin was a son of one of the first pioneers of Montana, the latter having died a few years ago. It was stated tonight that Urlin was preparing to return to Montana on business connected with his father's estate.

PLAN MINING EXCHANGE.

FOR NEVADA CITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEVADA CITY (Cal.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Recent rich strikes in the Allegheny mining district probably will cause a mining stock exchange to be established in Nevada City.

H. E. Ish and M. Camp of Goldfield, left this morning to investigate conditions at Allegheny with a view to opening an exchange here in connection with local properties. The Goldfield men announce that they will make known their intentions on their return. They consider this a good place for a mining exchange, owing to many constant producers in this county and in Sierra.

For "Pith of the Telegraphic News from all the Middle West" and "Hotel and Resort" announcements, see next or fourth page. These important departments will hereafter be invariably published in this attractive location.

SECOND TRIAL FOR DIVORCE.

Mrs. Kate Howland, Granddaughter of Lord Devonshire, Files New Suit at Reno.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Kate Howland, who is a descendant of the famous Devonshire family of England, being a granddaughter of Lord Devonshire, one of the peers of England, today filed suit for divorce from Charles Howland. Mrs. Howland alleges that her husband has failed to contribute anything toward her support since two weeks after their marriage, which took place at Los Angeles in 1898. She asserts that her husband squandered an enormous fortune which she inherited, and forced her to earn her own living.

This is the second suit filed by Mrs. Howland against her husband. In the first case the decree was denied because neither party was a resident of the State at the time the suit was filed. Steps were taken to appeal the case, but as Mrs. Howland has now gained a legal residence in Nevada, it was decided to file a new case.

Howland is now in San Francisco, and Attorney William Schnitzer, counsel for Mrs. Howland, will go to San Francisco tomorrow for the purpose of securing the appearance of Howland in the case.

PUBLIC TROUGH MENACE.

State Veterinarian Would Abolish Common Drinking Places for Horses.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] State Veterinarian Dr. Charles Keane has advised that all public watering troughs be abolished as the most effective means of fighting the spread of glanders, the most dreaded disease among horses. In giving this advice Dr. Keane knows that he is likely to bring down the wrath of the people of the entire State on his head, because of public sentiment which has long been in favor of establishing numerous watering troughs for animals.

Dr. Keane, however, is prepared to back up his stand by good sound logic and facts that show how the fatal disease is spreading. His first step in the matter was taken today when he sent a letter to the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco asking that body to pass an ordinance forbidding the maintenance of watering troughs.

Similar letters will be sent to other governing bodies, for it is from them that the State Veterinarian looks for help.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Many Passengers for Orient.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—The Pacific Mail liner Manchuria, Capt. Dixon, carrying 2000 tons of government supplies and 900,000 rounds of ammunition for small arms, sailed at 1 o'clock today for the Orient. Accommodations for passengers were at a premium, and many were disappointed. Bernard Legardo, special delegate from the Philippine Islands to Washington, was one of the passengers.

Capt. Conboy Charged.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Captain of Police Michael Conboy, who shot Bernard Lagan, a young merchant, and who has been in jail since the tragedy occurred, on Tuesday morning, awaiting the outcome of Lagan's injuries, was charged today with assault to commit murder. Conboy was released on $1200 bail. Lagan's life still hangs by a thread.

DETWILER NOT FAR AWAY.

Man Wanted in San Francisco Graft Cases Does Business Right Along.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOLEDO (O.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In a suit filed in Common Pleas Court today another chapter was added to the San Francisco sensational graft cases. The petition stated that A. K. Detwiler, who was indicted by the San Francisco grand jury two years ago, has been negotiating deals in San Francisco and Los Angeles despite the fact that secret service officers were on his trail.

While a fugitive from justice he has been living in Chicago, New York, Cleveland, Detroit and other large cities.

The suit was filed by attorneys for Detwiler and asks for $30,000 for services rendered. The petition recites that T. H. Tracy of the law firm of King & Tracy, negotiated and visited many places to meet sundry parties interested in the negotiations and that his efforts resulted in an agreement whereby he sold for Detwiler all his interests in the telephone enterprises with the exception of the United States Long-Distance company of California, to James H. Adams & Co. of Los Angeles, for a sum in cash and securities aggregating approximately $225,000 at a profit of $150,000.

MAJ. CLARKE COURT-MARTIALED.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Maj. Charles T. Clarke, Twenty-sixth Infantry, has been dismissed from the army, having been found guilty by court-martial of misconduct in financial affairs. The sentence was today approved by President Taft. Maj. Clarke is now at sea returning with his regiment to San Francisco, from the Philippines.

UGLY CHARGES UNFOUNDED.

K. Hirade Held at Vancouver, Accused of Traffic in Women, Allowed to Enter.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 24.—The sensational charges of having been connected with the illicit traffic in Japanese women, preferred against K. Hirade, vice-president of the American Oriental Bank of Seattle by certain of his fellow-countrymen, have not been sustained. Hirade is free to return to the United States.

This was the finding today of a special board of inquiry of the local United States immigration officials. The investigation has been in progress for nearly a fortnight.

Hirade started for Seattle this afternoon. He declares that he has been the victim of a conspiracy. Hirade reached here from Japan on the Empress of China on June 12, and on his arrival he was charged with having an interest in houses of questionable repute.

SENATORS IN LONG DEBATE.

Beveridge Discusses Size of Tobacco Package.

Bailey Justifies Vote on Free Raw Materials.

Newlands Elaborates on the Corporation Tax.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 24. — The course of the Senate today was the reverse of that of yesterday, the entire day being given over to speeches. Senator Beveridge talked for about four hours and was followed by Mr. Bailey who spoke almost as long. Mr. Newlands was the last of the day's orators.

Mr. Beveridge discussed an amendment proposed by him regarding tobacco packages. He contended that while the size of the packages had been reduced during the Spanish War to compel the purchaser to pay the war tax, those sizes had not been restored and the prices had not been reduced.

Mr. Bailey talked about free raw material for the purpose of justifying his vote against free iron ore, lumber and hides. He declared that previous to the Cleveland administration the established Democratic policy was opposition to free raw material.

Mr. Newlands considered the income tax question, devoting especial consideration to the President's recommendation for a corporation tax. He discussed at length the legislation of 1898 providing for a tax upon the gross receipts of oil refiners, on which the Spreckels case was decided by the Supreme Court and which is relied upon by the President as a precedent for the corporation tax. He pointed out that the law of 1898 was applicable not to corporations alone, but to every person, firm, company and corporation engaged in the oil business. He suggested that a tax applying only to corporations might be unconstitutional.

ATTACK ON TOBACCO TRUST.

Senator Beveridge spoke at length in support of his amendment on the size of tobacco packages. By repealing the tax without increasing the size, the Senator claimed the American Tobacco Company had been the recipient of many millions of dollars it should not have received.

"The manufacturer kept on collecting the war tax," he explained, "after it had been taken off, and instead of paying it to the government, he paid it to himself."

Mr. Beveridge declared that if his amendment was adopted the government would receive more than $21,000,000 of revenue and correct the wrong which the people had suffered for eight years.

"The American tax on tobacco," he added, "is only a fraction of the tax of most other civilized nations."

NEWLAND'S SPEECH.

While agreeing that President Taft's corporation tax idea is an easy and effective way of securing needed revenue for the government, if a graduated income tax cannot be adopted, Senator Newlands raised the question as to whether it would not be wise in enacting the proposed excise law to follow the exact verbiage of the tax imposed by the War Revenue Act, and under consideration in the Spreckels case. He also asked whether equally beneficial results in the shape of revenue and supervision over corporate concerns could not be secured by it.

Mr. Newlands asserted that while the tax which the President recommends is as he declared, "an excise tax on the privilege of doing business as an artificial entity and of freedom from joint partnership liability by those who own stock," the tax sustained by the Supreme Court in the Spreckels case was not of this nature, but simply a tax imposed upon the occupation of refining petroleum or sugar, whether done by a person, firm or corporation.

"If the tax suggested by the President," continued Mr. Newlands, "is to be regarded as an occupation tax, may not the question be raised that the rule of uniformity is broken by applying this occupation to corporations alone?

"If, however, it be held that the suggested tax is, as the President asserts, 'a tax upon the privilege of doing business as an artificial entity,' that is to say, a tax upon the right to be a corporation, may it not be contended that the corporate franchise is the creation of the State sovereignty; that the power to tax is the power to destroy, and that the nation has no power for this reason to tax the privilege granted by the State."

Mr. Newlands suggested that the excise tax on sugar and oil refiners could be easily enlarged so as to include all manufacturers of goods protected by the tariff, and that small manufacturers could be relieved from its operations.

PRESIDENT UNDECIDED.

Coast Trip Not Finally Abandoned and Depends on Many Contingencies.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is stated at the White House that while there is nothing new to give out regarding the President's projected trip to the Coast, the President has by no means abandoned the hope of making it. Even should Mrs. Taft not be well enough to make it advisable for her to go, it is possible that the President may go without her.

There are so many contingencies, however, that he is not willing to say positively that he will be able to go. Invitations from cities anxious to entertain him are still coming in, but definite acceptances cannot be returned as yet.

OFFICERS DREAD TEST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 24. — With Washington in the grip of a hot season, naval officers are wondering if their superiors will order the physical tests to which they are subject during the summer days.

The officers have the option of riding a bicycle 100 miles, riding a horse 50 miles or walking 50 miles.

The penalty of retirement on three-quarters pay, if they fail to stand the strain of the test chosen, makes the dawn of the fiscal year something to be dreaded.

It is estimated that nearly 200 officers of various ranks from rear-admiral down to midshipman, will take the tests some time during the year in the vicinity of Washington.

RAW IMPORTS INCREASE.

FOOD EXPORTS DECREASE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The May trade statement of the Bureau of Statistics, as compared with last year, shows a marked increase in the importation of manufacturer's material, and a decline in the exportation of foodstuffs.

Fifty articles are named in the import list and these, it is stated, form about two-thirds of the total value of the imports, while a similar number of articles in the export list form about three-fourths of the total value of exports.

"It will be observed," says the bureau, "that in nearly all articles for use in manufacturing, including raw silk, hides and skins, India rubber, wool, copper, lumber and chemicals, the imports of the month of May and the accumulated months of the year are in excess of those of the corresponding period of last year; that in many of the important manufactures the figures of the present year exceed those of last year; but that in foodstuffs, the exports of 1909 are, in most cases, less in value than those of 1908."

WHISTLE TO STOP SPEEDING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

VOLIVA DEPOSED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 24.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor of John Alexander Dowie as head of the Christian Catholic Church of Zion, was deposed as political dictator of Zion City last night, when the Independent officers elected several weeks ago were sworn in by the retiring City Council. The Voliva officials admitted their defeat only after they had attempted to adjourn without swearing in the officers-elect. This would have left the city absolutely without a governing body, but the attempt was frustrated by a rush into the Council chamber by 300 members of the independent faction. E. N. Richey is the new Mayor of Zion City.

The congress favors a national policy of waterways development, and a $50,00,000 bond issue for that purpose.

DYNAMITE KILLS DIVERS.

Eight Lives Lost in Attempt to Raise Wreck of Hill Liner Dakota.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) June 24.—Eight lives were lost in an attempt to recover salvage from the wreck of the long lost Hill liner Dakota, off Shirashama at the entrance to Tokio Bay, shortly before the sailing of the steamer Kaga Maru, according to mail advices from the Kaga.

The wreck has been sold by the underwriters to the Yamochina Marine Iron Works Company of Tokio, and a party of wreckers was engaged in bringing up the remnants of the wreck when a dynamite cartridge was exploded by one of the divers as he was about to go down. Of sixteen men on board, eight were killed and several others severely injured. The dead bodies were recovered.

Japanese scientists have discovered relics of ancient lake dwellers where the customs were entirely alien to the Japanese according to the searchers. At Lake Suwa several hundred stone arrows, distintegrated pieces of earthenware and other relics of the ancient water dwellers have been located and are expected to contribute an important addition to ethnological science.

FEAR GUARANTY LAW.

Nebraska Banks Hasten to Nationalize Before They Are Oklahomized.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By reason of the near approach of the date for the Nebraska guaranty law's going into effect, today the State bank of J. L. Brandeis & Sons Co. announced a consolidation of that bank with the United States National, which will run a savings department. The Brandeis bank takes along one and a quarter millions in resources. Vice-President Kennedy of the last-named bank gives the following reason for the consolidation:

"The new guaranty law, however excellent it may be from the depositor's standpoint, introduces elements of uncertainty into the banking business. The attack made upon the law in the court creates confusion and because of the pending litigation bankers are in doubt under which law to proceed."

During the past week, the city bank of Omaha, the Grand Island Banking Company of Grand Island; the Minden Exchange Bank of Minden, all State banks, have taken steps to nationalize.

JAP SQUADRON AT HAWAII.

WAY OUT OF JUNGLE.

WOMEN'S CLUBS SAVAGERY CURE

CHICAGO "BARBARIANS" ANSWER PROF. STARR, BACHELOR.

Finery, Bright Colors and Perfume Merely Poor Mediums for Making Sex Beautiful for Men to Look at, Declares One—Another Agrees With Her Critic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago women have struck back at Prof. Frederick Starr, the noted anthropologist of the University of Chicago—also evidentally a bachelor—who brands woman as a savage, in an essay entitled "The Women Men Marry," in a current magazine.

Prof. Starr's statements that women show savage instincts by adorning themselves with feathers, as did their remote ancestors, and wearing jewels, as did their first grandmothers, who used coral and bright quartz, aroused a storm of comment. His criticism of their fondness for gaudy colors and strong perfumes, which, he said, are indications of such primitive instincts as sometimes guide their reasoning powers, came in for marked attention.

The women were not unanimous in their opinions concerning the statement of the professor. One admitting that truth underlies a portion of Prof. Starr's theory, suggested a remedy. To enter civilization and leave savagery far behind, she explained, it is only necessary that her sisters join a woman's club.

"If Prof. Starn were married," said Miss Lucy Page Gaston, president of the Anti-Cigarette League, "he would have more sympathy for women and realize that finery and perfumes are merely their poor little mediums for making themselves beautiful for men to look at. Men would wear bright colors if they dared, but they are afraid to do so. The difference between men and women in that respect is only a matter of custom."

"I believe that Prof. Starr's acquaintances among women are confined to the savage races with which he has been so closely identified," said Mrs. Charles W. Mann, president of the West End Women's Club.

"He is entirely right," said Mrs O. T. Hulburn, who is president of the Woodlawn Women's Club. "Women are in an undeveloped state, but it is because of the subjection which they have experienced through all ages. They have to make themselves beautiful for the men and it will be a long time before their natures can be changed. This is because men have no great love for colors and jewels and decorations, as women have, but the men indulge their pleasure by loading the pretty things on the women's backs. And this will always be so."

LEMHI LANDS OPEN.

Indian Reservation in Idaho to Be Awarded to Homestead Entries, July 15.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DILLON (Mont) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Lemhi Indian reservation in Lemhi county, Idaho, just across the main range of the Rockies from here, will be opened for settlement July 15.

There are about 64,000 acres of land in the reservation, all of which will be thrown open, with the exception of 475 acres of land upon which the reservation buildings are located, and these will be sold, together with the buildings, to the highest bidder at the Hailey, (Idaho) Land Office on September 1. The buildings were erected by the government at a cost of about $40,000.

The regulation governing the opening of the reservation provides that the land will become subject to homestead entry at Hailey Land Office on July 15, but no settlement will be permitted until August 16, and no rights can be acquired under the homestead law under any settlement of the lands prior to August 16. Applicants for lands must line up before the Land Office July 15, and will be permitted to make filings in the order in which they enter the office.

If there is any indication of disorder at the Land Office the local officers are instructed to call on the city or county authorities for assistance.

The Lemhi reservation lands are largely grazing lands, including much valuable mineral land and some farming land.

OGDEN SHOPS CLOSED.

OGDEN (Utah) June 24.—Many departments of the Southern Pacific machine shop plant will be closed down tonight until next Thursday morning, July 1, and several hundred men will be temporarily out of work.

The cessation of work at this time is due to a general order for retrenchment whenever possible during the balance of this, the last month of the railroad year.

A WOMAN contributor will tell readers of The Times Magazine the coming Sunday about [illegible] in Alaska.

BILLINGS (Mont.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The grafting of an arm from one man to another will take place in a hospital in this city, should some unfortunate individual come along from whom the arm may be secured.

J. G. Williamson was knocked down and robbed in the railroad yards at Park City several weeks ago. He was thrown beside the tracks and a train came along while he was unconscious and cut off one of his arms just below the elbow.

County Physician Miller states that Williamson's arm is in good condition for grafting and if a dying patient should happen along in time to supply the limb the operation will be performed.

BOY OF TWELVE KILLS BROTHER.

BURIES BODY IN HOG PEN AND HELPS POSSE SEARCH.

Denies All Knowledge of Whereabouts of Victim, Aged Six, Until Little Figure Is Found by Accident Refuses to Give Any Reason for Shooting.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MODESTO, June 24.—After aiding all day in the search for his 6-year-old brother, who was believed to have been kidnaped, Cecil Hopkins, the 12-year-old son of a farmer living just south of this city, confessed tonight that he shot and killed the child last night and buried the body in the hog pen, where it was uncovered by the searchers.

Cecil was placed in jail tonight. He has maintained an air of indifference and refuses to make any statement beyond saying that he shot his brother and buried the body.

The shooting took place last night during the absence of the boys' parents. The neighbors noticed that the younger child was missing and believing he had been kidnaped, called on the police to aid in the search.

Throughout the day the surrounding country was scoured, and every canal and pond dragged without result. Cecil declared that he was utterly ignorant of his brother's whereabouts and helped the searchers without giving a sign of his guilty knowledge.

Tonight the searchers found the body in the hog pen. The child had received the full charge of a shotgun in the back, and death was probably instantaneous.

When Cecil saw the body uncovered and was again questioned, he admitted that he had fired the shot and buried the body, but refused to give any reason for the shooting. He was removed to the jail, but even this did not break his calm silence, and the questions of the officers remained unanswered.

CAUGHT AFTER LONG CHASE.

FUGITIVE MEXICAN EXHAUSTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 24.—After the most tireless and exciting chase for a criminal in the history of Yavapai county, Sheriff Smith and Deputy Sheriff Cook have succeeded in capturing Faustipno Rivera, a Mexican, who was locked up here this morning on the charge of attempting to murder Wiley Woodruff, a prominent citizen and contractor of Poland, ten days ago. They have been on the trail through the mountains ever since the crime. Rivera when caught in the mountains, made no resistance, being exhausted by his long ride over the country. He inquired as to the condition of Woodruff. The latter, who was brought to this city, probably will die. Rivera will make no statement as to the cause of the shooting. Woodruff says he doesn't know the cause.

IN LAW'S GRASP.

IS TRAPPED AT TRYSTING PLACE.

FUGITIVE CAUGHT ON HIS WAY TO MEET WOMAN.

Harry M. Williams Who Is Wanted Here Badly to Answer to Two Charges of Grand Larceny Is Arrested in San Francisco by Wily Oakland Detective.

Word of the capture of Harry M. Williams, as he was entering a house in San Francisco, where he had arranged to meet another man's wife, was wired to the police of this city last night. Williams, who is 26 years old, is badly wanted here on two charges of grand larceny, and has been hunted for some days without success.

The arrest was made at a house at Ellis and Steiner streets, San Francisco, where the prisoner had gone to meet Mrs. Edith Kenney of Richmond. The capture was the culmination of several attempts to arrest the fugitive by the police of Los Angeles, Richmond and Oakland.

The detectives trailed Williams, through the woman, who fled from her husband, an employé of the Standard Oil Company in Richmond, to meet Williams in San Francisco. Williams, who, when first taken into custody, gave the name of Harry M. Weeks, fled from Los Angeles after having sold a quantity of worthless stock in a wireless telegraph company, in order to raise money enough to take Mrs. Kenney to the exposition in Seattle.

His crime became known to the local police authorities two weeks ago, but he escaped before his capture could be effected. It was learned that he had taken a train for Richmond, where he was to meet Mrs. Kenney. The Oakland authorities were notified to this effect by the Los Angeles police, and detectives McSorley and Kyle were detailed to capture him on the train. Williams learned of the plan to capture him and left the train at Fresno, several hours before the arrival of the Oakland officials. According to the dispatch from the North it was discovered that Williams had been in Oakland some time ago, and had later gone to Richmond, where he met with Mrs. Kenny and arranged to meet her at the San Francisco house where he was arrested. Detectives McSorley followed the trunks and baggage of the woman to San Francisco, and learned where they were to be sent. He then stationed himself outside the house, and arrested Williams as he was opening the door and entering.

Williams is also wanted on a charge of having stolen $355 from a safe in the office of T. Wiesendanger, No. 311 Merchants Trust Building. He was employed there as a clerk. On the night of May 23, it is alleged he opened the safe, after other employés had departed, secured the money, and ran away to San Francisco.

An officer will be sent North for him, today.

BERLIN AS CITY BEAUTIFUL.

New Regulations Provide That Building Plans Must Be Submitted to Art Board.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BERLIN, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The city of Berlin is taking effective measures to insure the success of the programme of city beautifications. In accordance with an ordinance approved by the municipal authorities, permits for new buildings in many portions of the city may be refused hereafter on purely aesthetic grounds, even where the requirements regarding fire protection and sanitation are satisfactorily filed.

Under the new regulations, which are the subject of lively discussion, plans for new buildings and proposed alterations of any kind can be approved only in case they correspond with the general style and character or the surroundings. New structures must "not impair the characteristic aspect of the street view of which they form a part."

The neighborhoods of certain historic churches are especially designated as localities where particular care must be taken with the impression created upon the eye by the entire perspective. When permits are desired in certain districts, which include some of the most prominent and attractive squares and avenues in Berlin, the local authorities must submit the plans to a board of experts selected by the academies of art and the Berlin Association of Architects, which will pass upon them.

NERVOUS WOMEN

NEED JUST THIS TONIC TREATMENT TO BUILD THEM UP.

The first thing to do when threatened with nervous trouble is to stop the cause of it, if possible, whether it is irregular living, worry, or whatever it may be. Then the nerves must be given special nourishment and the blood must be kept pure and rich. This is the mission of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and this is why the pills have been used with such great success in nervous trouble that did not yield to ordinary methods of treatment.

These pills are a tonic for both men and women, but are especially adapted for girls and women of all ages, and give just the aid required to bring back health and strength to the nervous and exhausted as is shown by the experience of Mrs. R. P. Taylor of Oakland, Kans. She says:

"I am glad to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to weak and nervous women, because they build and tone up the whole system and give lasting benefit. Some years ago I had nervous debility and seemed to be on the verge of a collapse. I was all broken down. My heart beat so fast at times that it would frighten me. I had smothering sensations and felt as though I was going to faint. These spells came on me frequently. My stomach was affected. I did not enjoy my meals, but had to force the food down. I often had severe nervous headaches which made me dizzy. I was greatly reduced in weight.

"The doctors pronounced my trouble weakness and nervous debility. He would help me for a while and I would think I was getting better, but as soon as I quit taking his medicine I would become as bad as ever. I had been sick for over two years, before I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few boxes proved to me that the pills were helping me and I used them until entirely cured. I occasionally take the pills now as a tonic and always find immediate relief."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain the elements necessary to make new blood, and, as the nerves get their nourishment from the blood, have been found invaluable in a wide range of diseases of the blood and nerves, such as rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers, neuralgia, nervous debility, St. Vitus' dance, and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

FUGITIVE KILLS HIMSELF.

Illinois Man, Accused by Eleven-Year-Old Stepdaughter, Dies Facing Posse.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MATTOON (Ill.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Standing on the porch of his home, which was surrounded by a posse headed by Sheriff Slover of Coles county, Austin Wooldridge, for three months a fugitive from justice, shot himself through the heart, rather than face a charge of paternity preferred by his 11-year-old stepdaughter.

Wooldridge escaped arrest after an indictment in March and fled to Mexico. He returned to his old home four miles south of this city this morning, and, the information being given to the officers by his wife, the mother of the wronged girl, a posse was formed.

Wooldridge seized a double-barreled shotgun and pulled one trigger at a member of the posse. Finding that the barrel was empty he turned the muzzle on his breast, fired and died instantly.

Woolridge's crime was unique in Central Illinois annals. Iva Akers, his 11-year-old step-daughter, gave birth to a male child last winter. The infant lived two weeks. Wooldridge's indictment followed, but he escaped at the time. He was an extensive land owner.

GOOD BEGINNING.

HURD SHINES IN TOURNEY.

Pasadena Boy Plays Great Tennis at Venice.

Summer Season Opens Under Fine Auspices.

Champion McLoughlin Shows Class in Prelims.

Play in the first session of summer tennis opened auspiciously at the Venice Country Club courts yesterday, with more entries and a greater attendance of tennis enthusiasts than have marked the beach contests for several seasons.

The day was ideal for fast play, and the preliminary matches developed several surprises. With a dappled sky overhead, a cool breeze sweeping courtward from the ocean; with the courts in excellent condition, and a generous "hand" greeting every good play, the contestants entered into the opening matches with unwonted vim.

Clifton Hurd, an unheralded entry, was heard from most emphatically in the elimination matches of the junior singles, the most particular surprise coming in the defeat of Winne Mace of Occidental College, who was picked as a very likely winner in the junior events. Hurd annexed the honors from Mace in two straight sets, 6-2, 6-4. He will meet Ward Dawson today in the finals of the junior play.

Hurd hails from Throop Polytechnic School, and until very recently was still numbered among the bunch of mediocre racqueters who drop from active competition with stage fright in the first round. Hurd suddenly jumped into the top-notch class of juniors at South Pasadena several weeks ago when he succombed only to Ward Dawson in the finals of the County High School championships.

Playing consistent, strong, and well within himself, Hurd yesterday defeated the veteran Mace before the Occidental favorite quite realized the march of events. Without discrediting Hurd's victory, but rather in explanation of Mace's defeat, it should be said that Mace was decidedly erratic in his play, and failed to show by far his accustomed form. Hurd sent home his points from mid-court with monotonous regularity, and only in the last two games did Mace begin to place his drives along the side lines.

Ward Dawson, junior champion in the Venice tourney last year, must meet the new aspirant in two matches, both of which probably will be played today. In the finals of the junior singles and in the preliminaries of the open men's singles Hurd and Dawson will meet across the net, and many of the veterans who watched the junior struggles yesterday predict an even chance of victory for the Throop representative. Dawson may be holding himself in reserve for the pinch, considering his service yesterday, and in all events has a generous respect for his rival.

M'LOUGHLIN MAKES DEBUT.

Maurice McLoughlin, State champion, casually registered his first court appearance in Southern California by chalking a matter-of-fact defeat of R. W. Mattison in two sets, 6-0, 6-2. Mattison scored his three games while the northerner was turning a few of his fancy serves into the net.

McLoughlin is really a playful fellow and seemed to enjoy warming up his train-racked muscles under the warm southern sun. He carried his strong right wrist bandaged in a string of tape, and appeared a bit careful in returning a hard service during the early part of his match.

A buzz of conversation rose from the stands when McLoughlin trotted out on the court for warming-up practice. Those of the fans who had not seen the State champ before were expecting to see a strong-armed, overtowering athlete, rather mature in appearance as well as in action. Instead, a red-headed, freckle-faced, kindly eyed youngster of perhaps 18 years answered to the honored name, and the spectators could only associate the name "champion" with the nonchalant youngster when his opening service displayed in every movement the easy control and characteristic points of a top-notcher.

McLoughlin's service is not only original in conception, but baffling in reception. The opposing player stands amazed on the back court trying to find some mathematical solvent for the spinning sphere, bouncing in a puzzling curve from the drop of the service, and if his opponent manages to return the ball McLoughlin coolly proceeds to fatally victimize his rival by an apparently easy drive to the side lines just beyond his reach. McLoughlin's strokes are finished in execution and his control of service balls is unusual. Grace in movement, quickness in action and ever-apparent knowledge of the game make his exhibitions both delightful and instructive.

Progress in yesterday's matches was marked by the playing of the first two rounds in the junior and open men's singles.

Of the junior matches Merrill gave Dawson the most interesting contest, the Los Angeles High veteran winning in two sets, 6-4, 6-2. Merrill climbed over the first round by defeating Moore in two sets, 6-1, 6-1, and passed through the second grade, taking a match from Weller by 6-1, 6-2. When Merrill tackled Dawson the enthusiast began to take notice. By much celerity Merrill encountered Dawson's service with surprising regularity, and tied with Ward at three games before Dawson got warmed up. Gradually Dawson beat out his points with a stronger service, added a few tallies on backhand drives to the corners, and pulled down the match in two sets, only after Merrill had forced him to show the ace spots on his card.

TODAY'S PROGRAMME.

This morning at 9 o'clock play will be resumed with the contests running through the semi-finals of the men's singles. Bundy, Bell, Sinsabaugh, Browne and McLoughlin are the most promising entries for the final rounds. Bundy, the winner of the final match last year, will meet the winner in the challenge round, and with McLoughlin in the running, indications are that a great match will occur between these two cracks in the deciding round. What McLoughlin can do in the rather sultry and enervating southern atmosphere is problematical. Bundy, at any rate will be at his best, and as his rival is slightly handicapped with a sprained wrist, the southern champion may turn the tables on San Francisco's pride.

Play in the ladies' singles and doubles also will start this morning. With four courts available, progress in the tourney is more noticeable than at other of the tourney points, and the semi-finals in the ladies' events and men's doubles should be decided this afternoon. The mixed doubles will be started this afternoon.

Drawings for the ladies' and men's matches carded for today were made last night, as follows:

Ladies' singles—Miss Ryan and Miss Bailey, Miss Scott and Miss Conger.

Mixed doubles—Miss Scott and Bacon, Mrs. Bruce and partner, Miss Merrill and G. Merrill, Mrs. Parquhar and Law Freeman, Miss Conger and Bingham, Miss Schumacher and Galusha.

Men's doubles—Shook and Appel will play Lawrence and Morphy, Freeman and Holmes will play Hopper and McFarland, Weller and Merrill will play Hurd and Roehrig, Bell and Bundy will play Mattock and Bacon, Coombs and Edwards will play Noble and partner, Brown and Sinsabaugh will play Cawston and Nebeker, Overton and Bumiller will play Rogers and Dawson, Mace and Woodbury will play Sheldon and Dixon, McLoughlin and Duncan will play Schaefer and Fife.

Summary of yesterday's matches:

Men's singles—First round, Overton beat Davis, 6-0, 6-3; Fife beat Moore by default; Maddock beat Nebeker, 6-3, 6-3; Cawston beat Harrell by default; Shook beat McFarland, 6-3, 6-2. Second round, Maddock beat Fife, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2; Bacon beat Robb, 6-0, 6-0; Feltshans beat Appel, 6-0, 6-0; H. FINALS TODAY.

MISS HOTCHKISS SURVIVES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, the Berkeley (Cal.,) expert, defeated Miss Edith Rotch of Boston in the semi-final of the woman's national championship lawn tennis tournament, at the Philadelphia Cricket Club, and will meet in the finals tomorrow Miss Louise Hammond of New York, metropolitan champion.

Miss Rotch, although defeated 6-3, 6-3, made a game fight against superior speed and fast volleying.

WELCOME!

LEAPING TUNA VISIT CATALINA.

AFTER LONG ABSENCE FIGHTERS RETURN WITH RUSH.

Unprepared Anglers, Though Warned by Clouds of Flying Fish, Lose Their Outfits—Wanderers Come from Southern Waters and Are Expected to Stay.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

AVALON (Cal.) June 24.—After an absence of over six years the leaping tuna of large size struck Catalina like a thunderbolt today and the anglers are wild with excitement. Dr. Alder, surgeon of the French Hospital of San Francisco, brought the news down from the isthmus.

The tunas came in with a rush, filling the air with flying fish. At the time of the onslaught a number of prominent anglers were making several tests with outfits used for yellowtail fishing in the Catalina Three-Six Club. Many of the veteran anglers began to reel in their lines when the fish were first sighted. Several of the uninitiated refused to do so, but soon found their outfits "melting away."

Arthur J. Eddy of Chicago had a number of strikes upon a nine-ounce rod and a nine-strand line, but he failed to land any of his catches. He fought a tuna estimated to weigh at least 400 pounds for nearly thirty minutes, and then broke his rod while trying to stop one of its mad rushes.

Col. Stearns and about twenty other old Tuna Club men left for Long Point at noon fully equipped to land fish of the largest size.

Prof. C. F. Holder, president of the Tuna Club, when interviewed upon the matter, stated that his opinion was that the fish were here to stay and that they had no doubt come from southern waters. The flying fish have been seen in vast numbers around the island for several weeks. The appearance of the leaping tuna has caused more excitement than has been seen here for some time.

MILLER ENTERS RACE.

Crack Long-Distance Runner Is to Compete Against Low in the San Pedro Contest.

George Miller, the professional runner, who jumped into prominence by playing the role of the original "dark horse" in the last Los Angeles-Venice race, and who later defeated Soldier King in a regulation Marathon contest at San Francisco, yesterday entered the sixteen-mile foot race that is to be held at San Pedro Sunday afternoon.

With Miller and Low pitted against each other, the contest promises to be the most interesting long-distance event that has ever been held in the South. These men are recognized as the best road pluggers in this end of the State, but which is the better is a question unsolved, for the men have never run against each other.

Miller has made the better time over the full Marathon course, but in both races that Low won he had a walkaway and there is no telling what he will do when he is hard pressed.

Shonestein, the Flying Dutchman of San Pedro, is to be reckoned with and he has many supporters who are backing him to beat the field, no matter whom it includes.

Manager Burness claims that nineteen men are entered for the contest. One of the latest entries is Curt Brunbeck, the German vegetarian, who won first place in a six-day walking contest in this city last winter.

CONSIDINE IN DANGER.

NEW YORK, June 24.—John R. Considine, the sporting man and former proprietor of the Hotel Metropole, is suffering from pneumonia at his home, and it is feared he will die. Four doctors are in attendance, one of whom never leaves Considine's bedside.

PERHAPS SHUT OUT TAIL ENDS.

Young Bush Pitcher Raleigh Proves a Surprise.

Holds the Visitors Down to Three Little Hits.

Vernon, 3; Oakland, 0.

If the Perhaps had a few more bush heavers and not so many professionals there would be a lot more games won, if one may judge from what happened yesterday at the ball yard, for the one they put in yesterday to fling the ball made the Tail Ends look like a pair of sixes after the draw.

This boy was Raleigh, who pitched in the amateur teams in this end of the State until Hap Hogan took a chance at him and added him to his collection of flingers. Three or four of them have been shown up as morning glories, but Raleigh appears to be a good one that will hold his own, for he had about everything that was necessary yesterday. Three hits were all the Tail Ends could get off what he had, and but one man reached third base, only four getting as far as second. He gave but one pass and fanned four, and had an out and an assist. Hogan never had a man that did any better work.

It was somewhat different with poor Nelson, for while he was not soused around much, some of his fielders acted as if they liked him, and in the sixth inning he had to be carried off the field in the arms of two of his men as the result of a collision with Haley at the plate. His left knee was wrenched and bruised and, while the injury is not serious, he will probably be out of the game for some days.

As he had lost the game in the fifth, when the Perhaps scored one run, the sixth made little difference in the result, but it was an eventful one for Nelson. He started it by passing Brashear and then Martinke soused out a double to right field that put Brashear on third. With Haley at bat, Brashear tried to work the squeeze play, but was run down between the plate and third base, Martinke reaching third on the out. Then Haley bunted a sacrifice hit toward first base and Cameron made a wild heave of the ball to McKune, who covered first base, Haley being safe and Martinke scoring on the play. Nelson then soaked Eagan with the ball, which put Haley on second, and he ran to third on Mott's sacrifice bunt to Cameron. With Hap Hogan at bat, La Longe had a short passed ball, that Haley tried to score on and, when La Longe recovered the ball and threw it to Nelson at the plate, Haley collided with the long heaver. Nelson made the out, but fell to the ground writhing in pain. Two players carried him to the bench and he was finally helped to the dressing-room, Tonneson taking his place in the box the next inning.

Martinke's run was the only one of the three in which an error did not figure. In the fifth inning Eagan walked and stole second, ran to third on Hap Hogan's drive to center and scored when Carroll booted this. Brashear opened the eighth with a single off Tonneson and Martinke followed with a hit to left and when Duff Lewis let this get away from him to the fence, Brashear scored.

Notwithstanding the many errors in the game, there was some very pretty fielding. Bernard made a fine running catch in left field of McKune's fly in the fourth; Duff Lewis showed a running back-up catch of Mott's fly to left in the second; La Longe ran more than 100 feet for a foul that Stovall hit in the third, and Mott showed a very classy stop of a hot grounder from W. Hogan's bat in the seventh. There were errors to burn, but the good plays almost offset them.

SENATORS SHUT OUT.

GRAHAM WILL PROTEST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, June 24.—Portland shut out Sacramento today, 3 to 0, two of the runs being made on errors. Harkness had the better of a pitching battle with Brown. The game closed sensationally, Gandil apparently starting a batting rally by driving a three-bagger to deep left field. With Jansing at bat and two balls called on him, Harkness was losing his head and was succeeded by Garrett.

Manager Graham of the local team will protest the game on the ground that a pitcher could not be taken from the box until the man at bat was disposed of.

DINKY HITS AND ERRORS WIN FOR THE ANGELS.

Corbett Heaves Better Ball Than Toser, But Has Bad Luck in the Sixth Inning—Tennant's Home Run Scores First Tally and Two Doubles Make the Second.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Back once more to the humdrum of a nine-inning game, Joe Corbett's support fell away from him at critical moments today and the Angels took their second game of the series, 3 to 2. A little better fielding would have meant another victory for the Seals. They outhit their opponents two to one, but they bunched their errors with two scratch Los Angeles hits and the trick was turned. Even with the score against them, however, the leaders fought hard and in the last of the ninth, came through with an additional tally, but could not quite connect for enough to tie up the game. Tennant's home run started the affair and that should have been sufficient to win.

Corbett had far better control than Toser. The ex-Baltimore star had everything on the ball and in the first five innings struck out five men and held the Southerners to the one good hit they made during the afternoon. The sixth was his undoing, however, for two runs came across the plate which, added to Daley's tally in the eighth, gave them the game.

Toser was better as the contest progressed, but the ninth inning rally came close to putting it on for extra innings.

With two out in the first inning, Tommy Tennant put the ball over the right field fence for a home run. Bodie singled through second, but was thrown out trying to reach second.

The Angels gave the Seals one good score in the second. After Beall had fanned, Wheeler singled to center and when the ball went through Nick Williams in center, George took third. Smith hit a grounder to McArdle that was relayed to the catcher to get Wheeler, and Smith was thrown out at second, with no damage done.

The Seals had many a chance after that to score but failed. Melchoir opened the second with a single, and stole second. After Williams fanned, Melchoir went to third on Toser's wild throw to second, but the next two up, Berry and McArdle, retired the side. In the third and fourth innings, also, the Seals worked men as far as third. Mohler was caught trying to steal home and a double put the Seals out of commission in the fourth.

The real trouble came in the sixth. Orendorff was out and Toser hit a grounder to McArdle that took a difficult bound and was hard to handle. Daley put a Texas leaguer over short and when Ross hit a grounder to Tennant that was booted, the first run scored. Dillon walked and when the double steal was started, Daley was across the plate before Dillon was retired.

The eighth was also a Los Angeles inning. With two gone, Daley was walked and stole second. Ross singled past third and when Bodie let the ball get away from him, Daley scored.

San Francisco made one last effort in the ninth. Bodie hit for two bases to left, but Melchoir popped to Dillon and Nick Williams to the catcher. Berry's two bagger scored Lewis who was running for Bodie, but McArdle was fanned and the game was over.

Some 1500 youngsters took advantage of Kid's day to fill one entire side of the grandstand and kept their rooting up from start to finish. There was a good sized crowd present, although not as big as on the previous day.

ESTIMATING SPEED.

LOCOMOBILE AND CHALMERS CONTINUE TO BE FAVORITES.

Interest in Coming Santa Monica Road Race on the Increase — Speed Experts Continue to Make Conjectures as to Winners of Classic Event—Many Think Very Fast Time Will Be Made.

INTEREST in the great Santa Monica road race for the Ferris and the smaller trophies, on July 10, is rapidly increasing. Most of the speed experts, who are guessing on the outcome, are of the opinion that very fast time will be made by the winners.

The Locomobile and the Chalmers-Detroit in the heavy and light car classes, respectively, continue to be favorites in the betting, according to the estimates submitted to the automobile editor of The Times. Out of 28 estimates received up to Thursday noon, the winners were tipped off as follows:

Heavy cars—Locomobile, 48; Apperson, 3; Stoddard-Dayton, 24; Chadwick, 2; Chalmers-Detroit, 17; Franklin, 1; Thomas, 13; Lozier, 13; Pope, 1; Pope-Hartford, 3; Rambler, 2; Studebaker, 3; Premier, 1; Haynes, 1; Columbia, 0.

WHO CAN NAME WINNERS?

The course is a little over 24 miles long, and each machine will cover the distance twenty-four times, making a total distance of 262.417 miles.

The course is considered very fast, as in some of the cars entered are capable of making over eighty miles an hour, the average speed made by the winning racers should be very high.

Familiarize yourself with the running times of the several cars, estimate which one will prove the speediest in each class, then figure out how long it will take them to cover the 262 and odd miles. State your estimate on the following coupon, and mail it to the Automobile Editor of The Times. The coupons will appear every day in The Times up to and including July 8. Fill out as many as you like. Everybody, except employés of The Times, will be allowed to compete. No coupon will be counted that is postmarked after 12 o'clock midnight July 9.

GREATEST EVER.

GREAT THRONG FOR ROAD RACE.

Racers Can Be Seen from Points Along Course.

Reserved Seats at Start Are Vantage Points.

Great preparations for the Santa Monica road race to be held Saturday, July 10, are being made. The course will be finished Thursday night and will be ready for practice spins Friday morning. Work has been begun on the two monster grand stands near the start and finish lines. A throng of 60,000 people is expected.

There is reason to believe the crowd will be the greatest that has ever attended a race meet in the West. From the fact that there are more cars entered in the meet than have ever been started together on the same track, and from the class of machines that will start, the race should be one of the best ever. There should be thrills every second after the cars are started.

It will be possible to see the races without paying a cent. You can stand on Nevada avenue and watch some of the best speed dashes that will occur. There are places along the Palisades where the racing picture will be fine. If you wish to pay you can see the start and finish and watch the big score board on Ocean avenue.

Reserved seats will be placed on sale at the Wiley B. Allen Music Company, No. 416 South Broadway, at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. On account of the rush which is expected, the entire 6000 seats may be sold during the first week.

There are 120 boxes, a double row along the entire front of the grand stand and over 5000 seats in the grand stand. The choice seats will sell for $2 each and the cheapest seats at $1. The only difference is in the distance from the start and finish and from the score board.

The preliminary rush has been for boxes and advance orders have already been received sufficient to make a big opening sale. These orders will be filled after the opening of the sale Saturday morning. The Automobile Dealers' Association has been asked to limit the number of seats to a purchaser, but on account of the numerous large parties which are being made up for the day, this has not been considered practical, and no limit will be placed on the number of seats sold to one person—unless it becomes apparent that they are being bought for speculative purposes.

As the number of seats is limited to 6000, out-of-town motorists who intend coming in should reserve their places at once, for even should it be necessary to build an additional grand stand, seats in this stand would not be as desirable as those which will be placed on sale Saturday. It is expected that every seat will be sold in advance.

Many racing cars are being seen on the streets daily. The Columbia has arrived and has shown good speed. Frank Siefert has been trying out the big Stoddard and the Premier is ready for the road. The Apperson is here and such racers as the Cadillac, Thomas, Rambler, Franklin, Pope Hartford, Buick, Lozier, Stoddard and Mitchell are on the ground.

Much interest is being shown in the big Chadwick entry, which is expected to make close to ninety miles an hour.

Classified Liners.

Times Classified rates: The rate for inserting "Want" ads in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word, each insertion; minimum charge, 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 50c: Lost and Found, Personals, Special Notices, Church Notices, Miscellaneous, and "Bath and Massage."

"Liner" (Classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements to be classified properly, must be in the Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Rates 15½c per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy and assumes responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "Liners," as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

"LINER" ADVERTISERS:
Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.
In these calculations covering a period of several months, leveling the fact that the average number of words to the line are 8 (eight), the advantage over rates by the line, therefore, will prevail after June 1.
Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.
The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 60,000 Sundays, has trebled during the period—proof of the fruitful field for results which exists in the United States rate considered as compared with The Times in "want" ad. service.
THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE LINERS—
Classified real estate advertisements for insertion in THE SUNDAY TIMES must be in the office by 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Rate 15½c per word. Other "want" advertisements for Sunday insertion will be taken over the counter until 11:30 p.m. Saturday.
The great volume of liners printed in The Sunday Times, numbering regularly over 800 separate announcements, makes it necessary to adhere absolutely to order to get the big Sunday issue out on time.

PUPILS FAIRLY STORM DOORS.

Intense Interest in Art in L. A. High School.

Auto and Locomotive Parts Drawn to Scale.

Wide Range of Products in Today's Exhibit.

One of the most interesting closing events in the year's work at the Los Angeles High School will be the art exhibit today. Under the general supervision of Mr. Housh, and the especial tutelage of R. J. Sterrett, art forms an important feature here.

Careful execution, talent, and even genius are displayed, along the entire line, ranging from the crude attempts of the beginners to the finished achievements of the graduates.

There are five departments in art at this school: Mr. Sterrett, in charge of the art work, conducts a department in drawing and color; Mr. McBurnie's department educates especially for illustration; Miss Sterrett trains in clay modelling; Miss Edna Gearhart, stencil and design; Miss Haas, mechanical drawing and engineering. The five departments are very well balanced, each turning out work of a distinctive type.

"Pupils are encouraged to study in all departments," said Mr. Sterret, "as we believe that a variety of teaching is necessary to secure to the student a well-rounded style, and to preclude the imitative tendency which is apt to creep in where study is conducted under one instructor. It is, of course, our aim to lead the pupils to original production."

That this aim is being fulfilled is shown in some of the mural decorations in this instructor's department. A mural, thirteen feet in length, done in colored crayon, by Leslie Stahl and Harcourt Blades, pictures San Pedro harbor. Another mural, original in idea, and showing strength of execution, is a personification of the athletic sports, by means of heroic figures, clustered around the Winged Victory, which perches upon the athletic trophy. Seven boys are cooperating in this panel: Grattan Condon, Otis Williams, Fred Archer, Arthur Millier, Bedford Rivers, Rufus Wagner and O. E. Woerner. The panel is fifteen feet in length and four feet in height.

The exhibits in blackboard chalks represent, in a broad style, local scenes and Spanish-California history. Considerable poster work has been done, it being the custom to give out a subject, upon which spontaneous designs are executed. The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition called forth some striking posters, some of which have been adopted commercially. An excellent exhibit of work from the school will be forwarded to the exposition, by the bye.

Pen and ink drawing, with a single color wash, is a new line of work, taken up during the year. Some fine architectural and interior designs are shown in this style, notably one by Godfrey Bailey. A water color, by M. S. Spaulding, is pronounced fit for the "line" in any exhibit. Cartooning, with a view to newspaper work, has not been forgotten. A picture of this class, done by Harcourt Blades, represents "Teddy in the Jungle."

In Mr. McBurnie's department are some excellent heads from life, notably one by Alma Eckl. Here are also original designs, illustrative of the stories printed in the school magazine. Color work predominates, the principal mediums being pastel, colored crayons, and water color; with an occasional striking piece in black and white. Much that is shown is above the average of school work. Letitia Millsaps, Margaret Spaulding and Jessie Harris have some especially good pieces in this department.

In the department of clay modeling, under Miss Sterrett, some excellent forming has been originated. Two of the boys, Roy Livingston and Hallam Anderson, have made designs for trophies for automobile contests. Entirely different are the two cups, yet equally worthy. "Literary," by Miss Spaulding, a cleverly-modeled figure personifying the subject, has found a deserved place in Blue and White, the school magazine, in which production William Otis's representation of "Organizations" is also presented. While original design is especially encouraged, the old masters are not forgotten, and some faithful reproductions testify to an understanding of their works. The study of architecture is carried over into an executive field, in models in clay reliefs. Miss Kraus's talent here demonstrates in vases of original and graceful designs.

In the department of stenciling and design, Miss Edna Gearhart, who presides, says: "It is my desire to teach the girls to accomplish beautiful work, with inexpensive materials. Also, I wish their work to be useful, and for this reason they are expected to make only such articles as can be used in their homes. Some have designed and executed the et ceteras for their own homes. We find that the personal possessive adds to the interest in their efforts." Not only stenciling, in its varied forms, for use upon fabrics, walls, etc., but conventionalized design for illustration is taught here.

Mechanical drawing and engineering sounds rather formidable to the average person, but under Miss Haas's inspiration, it is an extremely interesting department. It is not all dry bones, soulless cubes and squares and hexagons—many live issues are dealt with. For instance, a part of the class has chosen to study the automobile, and their drawings represent every separate part of the mechanism of certain makes of motor cars. These parts are drawn to a nicety, and later, all are combined, as in the actual motor.

Others have studied the locomotive, not theoretically, but from the engines themselves, drawing each separate part, and combining all. Drawing each little part of machinery, to scale, comprises the elementary work along this line," said the teacher. "This is the 'five-finger exercise' of our work." The Los Angeles High School is, so far as known, the only high school doing this class of drawing.

Civil engineering is also taught in this department, a survey of the school grounds having been made, as well as plats of the various parks and business sections of the city. In architecture, practical work has been done, some of the plans from this department being incorporated into the new Federal building, while plans for the new gymnasium, are made by pupils here.

Fine lettering is executed here, as evidenced upon the class diplomas, and upon the year books of the pupils, some of which are truly exquisite. Some who have made a conspicuous showing are Messrs. Kock, Mobbott, Gault, Hart, Lull, Brant, Condon, Webb, Harrison, Kimble, Barker, Corfield, Al Frank, Lewis Roberts, Edna Devanna and Frank Beottcher. Although boys naturally predominate in this department, a number of girls have gone from the classes to good positions in the line of architecture. So absorbed are the pupils in these seemingly dry lines of study that they have to be driven out from the classrooms at night, and they fairly storm the doors before the opening hour in the morning.

VISITORS INVITED.

A general invitation is extended to the public by the faculty of the Los Angeles High School to visit the school during the forenoon today. An entertaining programme will be presented in Assembly Hall, beginning at 9 o'clock and continuing till 12:45. The alumni will meet at 2 o'clock, when a number of pieces of statuary will be presented to the school, and the Star and Crescent Society will present the class pins to the graduates. At the close, a reception to the alumni will be held.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AWARDS MANY DIPLOMAS.

Commencement Exercises of Summer Class Held Yesterday—Graduates of Winter and Spring Classes Make Total Largest Number Ever Sent Out in Single School Year.

The many events in connection with the commencement of the State Normal School came to an end yesterday with the granting of diplomas to the 158 young men and women of the summer class.

The assembly hall of the school was crowded at the ceremonies, but the "no flowers" rule, enforced by the management this year, prevented the usual carload of nosegays from putting in an appearance. The effect was, of course, not pleasing, for the beautiful floral decorations about the platform have always been a dominant feature, owing to the great size of the classes graduated.

During the preceding days of the week, members of the class have been taking a very active part in many things, but yesterday, aside from singling two numbers collectively, they were only to be seen.

The commencement exercises consisted of an address by Dr. Lewis R. Thorpe, president of the board of trustees; the commencement address by the venerable Dr. R. R. Meredith of Pasadena; and the presentation of the diplomas by President Millispaugh. The class sang Handel's "Largo" and "Rockin' in de Win'," and the glee club sang two numbers. Those who received diplomas and are now full-fledged teachers are:

REICHSTAG REJECTS TAX.

Government's Financial Plans Balked by Adverse Vote on Inheritance Amendment.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERLIN, June 24.—The Reichstag today further added to the government's difficulties in its proposed financial reforms by rejecting, by a vote of 194 to 186, the imperial ministry's bill to extend inheritance taxes to direct heirs, including widows and children.

The bill in its present form will be dropped. Chancellor Von Buelow did not speak, and left the chamber when he learned that the voting was likely to be unfavorable.

The Conservatives, Centrists, Poles, Alsatians and Independents united to form a majority against the government. The Imperial Conservatists, National Liberals, Radicals and Socialists voted in favor of the measure.

It is rumored the Reichstag will adjourn until autumn to permit the government to revise its financial scheme.

Other reports say Parliament will be dissolved, or that Prince Von Buelow will resign, but nothing definite is known.

BRANDENBURG IN OWN DEFENSE.

TELLS HISTORY OF PREPARATION OF CLEVELAND ARTICLE.

Declares He Was Given Papers by Ex-President and from Them Letter Was Prepared, Which Mr. Cleveland Afterward Signed—Signature in Evidence Declared False.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 24.—Broughton Brandenburg, a witness in his own defense, today related the history of the preparation of the Grover Cleveland article, the sale of which to the New York Times led to Brandenburg's trial on a charge of grand larceny.

Brandenburg said he had suggested to the ex-President that he prepare a series of three political articles and allow Brandenburg to sell them. The witness said he offered Mr. Cleveland $2000 for the series.

March 5, Brandenburg called at Mr. Cleveland's office and received from him fifteen or eighteen groups of papers. The contents were made into the article signed Grover Cleveland. Brandenburg said he transcribed the matter himself and later took the typewritten sheets to Mr. Cleveland, who made corrections in them. The sheets were then again transcribed. His next and last interview with Mr. Cleveland was between the 13th and the 16th of March, he said, when Mr. Cleveland signed the last page of the carbon copy and did not blot the signature.

Brandenburg was shown the alleged Cleveland signature in evidence and declared it was not the signature Mr. Cleveland affixed to the article. Handed the Cleveland article in evidence, the one alleged to have been sold to the Times, Brandenburg said he could say positively that it was not the original Cleveland article, prepared by him personally and signed by Mr. Cleveland.

JOHNSON CHANGES MIND.

Dusky Champion Decides to Fight Tony Ross at Pittsburgh Wednesday Night.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, June 24.—Champion Jack Johnson will be in Pittsburgh next Monday to fight Tony Ross six rounds, at Duquesne Gardens, on Wednesday evening.

Frank Sutton, a local fight promoter, has prevailed on the dusky champion to reconsider his determination not to come here. Sutton received a telegram from Johnson last night which reads: "Will arrive in Pittsburgh Monday. All O.K."

French Lightweight Beats Englishman.

PARIS, June 24.—Marie Moreau, champion of France at 134 pounds, beat Peter Brown, champion of England, at 135 pounds, on points, in a twenty-round match here tonight. Moreau knocked Brown down twice in the course of the fight.

The manager of Sam Langford has offered to take both men to America to fight three matches in July.

VETERANS OUTPLAYED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ENGLEWOOD (N. J.) June 24.—The first day's play in the national golf championship tournament furnished several surprises, and it is confidently predicted that few of the "old guard" will carry off the prize money offered to the ten leaders.

Tom McNamara of Boston led at the end of the 36-hole medal play, with a card of 142, with Andrew Campbell of Spring Haven, Pa., second, and George Sargent of the Hyde Manor Club, near Chicago, third.

Walter J. Travis, former international champion, led the amateurs with a card of 150, while Jerome Travers, national champion, turned in a score of 155, and Fred Herreshoff, one of 156.

HANDICAP SHOOT.

Eighteen Marksmen Finish the First Round With Perfect Scores—Sousa Falls Down.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Only one round of twenty targets was shot in the Grand American Handicap, at the Chicago Gun Club today, and it is probable that the trap shooting championship of the country will not be decided until Saturday.

Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Iowa, led the professionals with 92, and L. I. Wade of Dallas, Tex., came next with 91. Mrs. A. Topperwein broke only 17 targets in her first round of the Grand American Handicap.

John Philip Sousa, the bandmaster, broke 18.

POLY STUDENTS HONORED.

Athletic Representatives Are Awarded School Letters for Their Good Work.

Polytechnic High School closed its athletic season with a rally in the auditorium yesterday morning. Members of the different athletic teams were awarded "P's" by the student board of control.

Some of the students received two letters, and Ned Manning and Mary Browne were presented with four stars, the former having represented the school on the basketball team for four years, and the latter on the tennis team for four years.

Donald Rayburn and George Dixon, graduates of the school, made speeches, and enthusiasm was at a high pitch.

The gymnasium contest between Los Angeles High and Polytechnic did not take place, as the question regarding the eligibility of Edwin Bly had not been settled.

Horses Arriving.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 24.—The first shipment of horses which are to run in the two days' meet of the State Harness Horse Association, arrived here today. The meet will be held June 30 and July 1, which are termed San Bernardino and Riverside Days, respectively. Owing to the fact that the full card did not fill, the third day of the proposed schedule was eliminated.

WOMEN ALL WILLING.

Three Hundred Storm Office in Answer to Matrimonial Want Advertisement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) June 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Approximately three hundred women residents of Cambridge, Mass., today stormed the offices of a local Cambridge paper, which published an advertisement over the name of John W. Grant of Truckee, Cal., in which it was stated the author was worth $25,000, and anxious to secure a wife from this section. It became necessary to put out a placard to the effect that the publishers would not receive applications.

TOO TONG

Hundreds of Californians Cured of Liver, Stomach, Kidney and Nervous Troubles.

After having suffered from chronic sickness and bodily disorders and now feeling restored to good health after taking the Chee Foo medicine called Too Tong, is the wonderful tale of hundreds of Los Angeloans.

For the past few weeks people streamed into Dean's Drug Store at 214 S. Spring street, to see Chee Foo, the Chinese scientist, who had put his famous remedies in American form. They came in different stages of disease and on being told what the medicines had already accomplished, most of them bought one or more bottles.

They are now returning with words of praise and saying they never felt better in their lives.

Too Tong is a medicine that purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, tones the nerves, and cleanses the liver, enabling that most important organ to do its work naturally without excitation. After a few doses of the medicine the increased appetite and general feeling of good health is marked, and the body soon becomes stronger and healthier.

If you are unwell, out of sorts, and downright nervous, take Too Tong, the marvelous medicine prepared under Chee Foo's directions.

BREVITIES.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in the Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday. Close calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

Remember the slogan: "Buy and Boost Home Products." For daily references, see page 9, Part II, of The Times, containing list of wide-awake manufacturers, under the heading "Made in Southern California." You will find there are manufacturers of necessities and luxuries here—manufacturers of things to eat and drink—things for the home, the factory, the office and the farm. Buy them! Try them! There are none better. Buy and Boost, and keep your money at home where it will do you and yours the most good!

Great Midsummer Stock Condensing Sale

Forcing Out Three Immense Stocks—Skirts, Shirt Waists and Petticoats

Sale Begins Friday and Continues Throughout the Month of June

Extraordinary Reductions on Every Garment

THE reasons for this sale are simple but strong ones. Our great suit and coat section has, owing to the rapid increase in business, encroached from time to time upon the space allotted to the waist, skirt and petticoat departments. The only way open was to condense the last mentioned stocks. This has been accomplished by moving them to the rear, and giving the entire front of our greater third floor over to suits and coats. The consequence is, the new waist, skirt and petticoat departments are decidedly overcrowded. Hence this extraordinary cut price sale. Reductions are in force ranging all the way from 25 to 50 per cent. Not a single garment in all three stocks reserved. Sale Third Floor.

When you buy a player piano be sure that it plays all the keys, not part of them. Most player pianos use but 65 notes, or 5 1-2 octaves, but the new model Cecilian plays every note on a full 7 1-3 octave piano. Don't buy an instrument which is out of date when you can have a complete 88-note player. 5 1-3 octave pianos have not been made for over 50 years. Why buy a 5 1-3 octave piano player?
Drop in our player department and let us demonstrate the new Cecilian Pianos. You will not be urged to purchase.
The new 88-note Cecilian Piano is sold by us exclusively. This is the only instrument made with the famous METAL ACTION, the THEMATIC EXPRESSION BUTTONS and the ACCENT BELLOWS.
88-note Metal Action Cecilian Pianos are priced at $750 and $850. Wood action 65-note models as low as $550. Terms $15 monthly.
A liberal supply of free music rolls and free exchange privilege in our large library go with every Cecilian Piano.

STEAM UP.

MERGER GETS FRESH BOOST.

Light Sought on Franchises Wanted in San Pedro.

Consolidation put on the high speed gear yesterday when the checking force of the City Clerk, which has been working night and day for ten days completed the verification of 9200 signatures on the petitions filed with the Council. The number is 300 more than is necessary under the law, which requires 25 per cent. of the vote at the last election.

Though 15,000 voters signed the duplicate petitions for the consolidation of Los Angeles and San Pedro and Wilmington, it was unnecessary to check more than enough to insure the validity of the work. The checking showed a very small percentage of disqualified signers and it is thought not more than 1500 of the whole number would have been disqualified if the comparison with the Great Register had been continued. Quitting saved both time and money.

According to the best judgment of City Attorney Hewitt, the election will take place on either Tuesday, August 3, or Thursday, August 5. It will not be earlier than the 3d, he is quite sure, because time must be given the San Pedro and Wilmington Trustees to act so the elections in those cities will conform to the law.

SPECIAL SESSION TODAY.

The first step in calling the election will be a special session of the Council tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to receive the report of the City Clerk and pass a resolution ordering the election, and fixing the date. This resolution will then be transmitted to the Trustees of the port cities and will be, under the law, notice to them that they must call an election in each place on the same day as the one fixed by the Los Angeles Council.

As the Trustees of both port cities meet next Tuesday, the action of the Council tomorrow will be in ample time to have the elections ordered more than four weeks before the date fixed, which is the requirement of the law.

At the regular meeting of the Council next Tuesday the ordinance appointing election officers and defining the precincts and locating the voting places will be passed. To advance this work the members of the Council will begin coöperation with the City Clerk today.

CONSOLIDATED PRECINCTS.

It is the purpose to consolidate the 189 voting precincts (because consolidation is the order of the day) into 69 precincts, and to use the same assembly of precincts as was used in the charter amendment election. This is expected to simplify the preparations, because in most cases the same voting places will be available, and election officers will not be so difficult to obtain.

Whether to hold separate elections on the same day or to hold them on different days, or whether to hold a consolidated election on the two propositions, is a puzzle the attorneys are now trying to solve. The decision is in the hands of the Law Committee of the Consolidation Committee, composed of City Attorney Hewitt, Joseph Scott and J. A. Anderson. It is the desire to hold one election on the two propositions, but to have separate election boards for each precinct. But if there is any doubt as to the legality of this method, separate elections, one for consolidation with San Pedro, and another for the union with Wilmington will be held. On this point no chance will be taken that might invalidate the result.

SCRUTINIZING FRANCHISES.

Secretary Fleming of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, who visited San Pedro yesterday to inquire into the situation, said last night that he saw no reason why any more franchises should be granted to different corporations until after the consolidation election.

Several franchises are sought on the Miner fill, but less importance is attached to these than to the petition in the interest of the Pacific Electric for the vacation of sections of Orizaba, Ancon, Front, Newport, Johnson and O'Farrell streets, on Knob Hill, San Pedro.

The petition for the vacation of these streets was filed jointly by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, the Los Angeles Inter-Urban Railway Company, the San Pedro Lumber Company and the Pacific Electric Land Company. The vacations of streets make up a total of about a mile, and in return the petitioners propose to dedicate a street of about one-third that length.

It is asserted that the various streets named have no direct connection with the railroad project, as most of them are several blocks from the proposed new entry of the trolley line into San Pedro over Palos Verdes street. On some hands it is asserted that the move is made for the purpose of preventing access to the water front from these streets.

MANY ON OPPOSITION.

Petitions against the vacation of the streets were in circulation yesterday, and there were numerous signers among residents of Knob and Barton hills, the districts most concerned. The petitions and the protests will reach the San Pedro Trustees next Tuesday.

Some objection is made to the application of the Pacific Electric for a steam road franchise over Palos Verdes street, from Santa Cruz to Thirteenth. At the last meeting, Trustee Peck proposed that in return for the franchise the trolley company pave the street. The grade of Palos Verdes street was lowered more than a year ago, at great expense to property owners, who now think the railroad company should offer some consideration in return for the privilege it seeks.

A dispatch from Washington last night states that Senator Flint has been assured by Secretary of War Dickinson that the latter will personally take up the matter of the transfer of Capt. A. A. Fries, Corps of Engineers, U.S.A., from Los Angeles to the national capital, in charge of a company. The Secretary of War has called for all the papers, and will go into the matter thoroughly. The Senator states also that he will do everything within his power to fulfill the requests of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and other bodies, urging the retention here of Capt. Fries.

SPARROWS GOING.

Game Warden Says Feathered Pests Are Gradually Disappearing from About Here.

Fish, Game and Fire Warden, W. B. Morgan, reports that the pestiferous English sparrows are about exterminated from Los Angeles. They are also disappearing fast from all parts of the county. Since January 1, thirty-eight have been killed at Lancaster, two in Burbank, six at Newhall and ten at Palmdale. It was not until last year that the English sparrow came to this side of the San Fernando range of mountains, the first located being a colony of nine at the Huntington school grounds on South Main street.

The Supervisors some time ago appropriated $250 for ridding the city and county of the pests and good progress is being made. These birds are the hobos of the air, being dirty and lousy, and have been known to steal rides on the tops of railroad cars. They are not a welcome adjunct to the bird life of Southern California, and will be killed off as rapidly as they can be located.

POOR WHIFF.

OUT TO DROWN WHIFFEN-POOF.

SUNSET CLUB WILL DO ACT IN SAN GABRIEL CANYON.

Members to Leave This Afternoon for Scene of Tragedy, Where They Will Have Something to Eat and a Place to Sleep on Their Annual Outing of Two Days or So.

"The Drowning of the Whiffen-Poof, a Mysterious Midnight Ceremony," is to be the greatest and most alluring of many events that are planned by the Sunset Club on its annual outing, which will begin today with the departure of about forty Sunsetters for Mountain View camp in the San Gabriel Cañon. Other members will depart tomorrow morning, reaching the camp in time for the jinks.

The Sunset Club is a very sedate body, concerning itself mostly with scientific and other research, together with anything else that may strike its fancy. Its members also are quite fond of eating, and of getting out in the summer where they can go barefoot and do other devilish things. It has been at the seashore, at Catalina, out on ranches and at other places in times past, and the bank presidents, railroad magnates, scientists, doctors, near-physicians and others who make up the membership have cut all sorts of didoes on these trips.

Once they "cremated care," which was a very commendable thing to do; then they "buried the hatchet," and again they "broke the hammer." Having done all these things, they decided that the time had come when the whiffen-poof should be drowned, so they are going out today to do the act. Treasurer Vetter and Secretary Alles will have charge of the old whiff until it is finally put out of the way.

H. E. Huntington, who is a member of the club and who will go along, has provided a special car for the party, that will leave here at 1:45 o'clock p.m. today for Azusa, where carriages will be taken at 3 o'clock for Mountain View. The camp will be reached at 5:45 p.m., and, according to the printed schedule, the travelers will disembark three minutes later to refresh—inside and outside.

A little later, if all goes well, there will be something to eat. Henry W. O'Melveny, one of the old-timers of the club, accompanied by one of the best sportsmen of the organization—also by a man who really knows how to catch fish—left here last night for the headquarters of the San Gabriel, expecting to fish from sun up till 6 o'clock this evening to provide a mess of trout for the dinner. Some members last night were inclined, however, to carry along a box of sandwiches, for, they said, O'Melveny might fall in the water.

After the trout dinner—if there be any trout—a "Night of Peace" is scheduled. This will be all that the members expect—and more, if any reliance is to be placed in the voiced plans of those who are to provide the peace.

Tomorrow morning, if any shall have failed to get away before, Sunsetters may take a Pacific Electric car at 8:05 o'clock and reach the camp for luncheon.

At 2 o'clock on Saturday there will be the annual tree climb for fat men, Judge Conrey and Homer Laric, the programme announcing, being barred from the contest. At 5 o'clock p.m. Henry W. O'Melveny will conduct the annual steak broil, assisted in minor details by Al Levy, the club's private chef.

Following the steak broil, at 8 o'clock there will come what is termed a gorgeous camp fire and an evening of reminiscent stories, with W. C. Patterson on the log.

Later—no one knows just when—the drowning of the whiffen-poof will be accomplished, and after that there may be sleep.

Breakfast, it is announced, will be served when ready Sunday morning, and at noon there will be luncheon. At 2 o'clock the party will board tallyhos for Azusa, and 6 o'clock is the time scheduled for arrival at Los Angeles.

The zobo band of the Sunset Club will furnish music, assisted by Arend's orchestra of six pieces; James A. Foshay will sing, and there will be other forms of entertainment besides those mentioned. Old clothes and easy shoes will be the order in wearing apparel. The San Gabriel River is reported to be running a heavy stream, so there will be plenty to drink.

MICHIGAN ALUMNI FEAST.

The Alumni Association of the University of Michigan held its annual banquet last night at the Lankershim. Dr. A. S. Lobingier was elected president; M. V. Parmelee, vice-president; M. H. Gregg, secretary and treasurer; I. R. Ruben, corresponding secretary. One hundred and fifty attended the feast, which was presided over by Frank Garrett, the retiring president. Resolutions of regret for the death of Byron L. Oliver, a member of the association were read, but there was no speaking. After the banquet all went to the Belasco Theater to see "The Lion and the Mouse." They occupied seats together near the stage, and their college yells rang out frequently.

MISSING SCOTCHMAN.

The relatives of William Simpson, who came here from San Antonio a few years ago, are anxious to hear from him. British Vice-Consul Mortimer is seeking information.

METAMORPHOSIS.

ELKS PUT ON MAGIC TOUCH.

Transform Old Building Into Thing of Beauty.

Spring-street Headquarters to Meet All Needs.

Every Want to Be Filled at the Central Bureau.

A large force of decorators went to work yesterday on the interior of the building selected for general headquarters for the Elks during Grand Lodge Week—the old Hamburger stand, Spring and Franklin streets. At this place, for ten days or more next month, Elks from all over the United States will flock by thousands. During the week of the Grand Lodge meeting this will be the liveliest spot in Los Angeles.

It is no small task to transform a deserted building into a thing of beauty, but James Lang, who is doing the work, under direction of Will Stephens, Sam T. Curson, John A. Burton, Guy Hill and Joseph Maier, Jr., of the Elks, made a big stab at it yesterday and the work of a few hours gave a pretty good indication of what may be expected.

Lang and the committee in charge are concerning themselves just now with the interior of the building; later they will attempt the decoration of the front.

Thousands of yards of bunting—purple and white—are used in wrapping the columns on the first floor, and great quantities of purple and white paper are used to help out.

SHINING UP WITHIN.

The walls are to be hung with immense cloth banners—elks' heads, clocks and other insignia, in purple or a white background.

Long counters are building throughout the first floor—once a busy mart—and within another week the place will be a thing of beauty, if not a joy forever.

All of the first floor and part of the second are to be used by the Elks for the accommodation of visitors. At the Franklin-street side, with a wide entrance from Spring street, will be the registration booths, where every visiting Elk will leave his name and local address, together with the name of the city from which he hails.

Miss L. L. Whitlock, who has had long experience in this work, will have charge of the registration, and it is expected that by Tuesday of Elks' Week a list will be available by which the general public may learn almost at a flash the local address of friends who may come with the horde, or herd.

Immediately on registering, each Elk will be handed a package containing a badge, coupon books, covering various entertainments that are to be provided free, the programme for the week, and other things that all good Elks should have.

FIND ANYBODY HERE.

The register is to be kept by State, city and name of visitor. If an Angeleño, formerly from Pink Mink Marsh, Ind., wishes to learn if there is a visitor from that important section, he will be obliged to refer only to Pink Mink Marsh, and if any one be from that place he will be scented out in a jiffy.

If a man named John Smith be sought, he will be found instanter through the system that Miss Whitlock will install.

On the first floor there also will be a counter at which railroad tickets will be validated, and there will be all sorts of information as to accommodations at Los Angeles hotels.

In the northern portion of the main room on the first floor there will be booths conducted by electric, steam and water transportation companies, where facts may be had as to the arrival and departure of cars, trains and boats. All the mountain, coast and island resorts also will have representatives on the floor to offer the attractions of their respective places to the visitors.

At the rear of the first floor will be the Elks' postoffice, to which most of the mail addressed to the visitors will come for delivery.

TAB ON THE TRAINS.

There also will be a bulletin board on which will be shown the time of arrival of all special trains. In charge of this bulletin will be an experienced railroad man, who will at all times be in close touch with the train dispatchers of the Southern Pacific, Santa Fé and Salt Lake lines.

This information will be principally for the benefit of the drill corps of the local Elks' lodge. This corps will be divided into three squadrons, and each squadron will look after the arrivals over one line of railroad.

A large doorway on the New High street side will permit the drill corps to leave and enter the building without conflicting with the crowds that will be assembled on the main floor.

Though there will be a tremendous lot of space on the first floor, it is stated that not one inch will be let for commercial purposes; that is, that nothing will be sold and no samples given. This does not include railroad transportation and other necessities.

On the second floor, with a door opening almost directly on New High street, will be the emergency hospital in charge of Dr. Ralph Hagan, and the restroom for ladies. The hospital and the restroom, together with most of the booths on the lower floor, will have both lines of telephones. The elevators in the building will be put into service for the occasion, and many other conveniences will be afforded the visitors.

It is believed the building will be ready for use two weeks from today, to take care of the advance guard of Elks that is expected a few days ahead of the great rush.

TRAVELER AND STUDENT WED.

Earl W. Howe, a young man who has a fondness for traveling around the globe, and Miss Grace Kidd of Flagstaff, Ariz., a student at the Normal School in this city, were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral on Olive street. Miss Kidd is the daughter of Robert John Kidd, the probate judge of Flagstaff. They will make their home at No. 706 West First street.

ANNUAL ATHLETIC BANQUET.

Members of the Southern California Commission of the P. A. A. held their annual banquet at the Y.M.C.A. last night. After discussing the work of the last year, the members appointed a committee to investigate the amateur baseball situation in Southern California.

SURPRISE.

ROMANCE OF STAGE AND BUSINESS MAN.

Miss Marian Berg,

formerly a local actress, who is to become the bride of Percival F. Schumacher of this city, in Chicago, according to statements of close friends.

PERCIVAL F. SCHUMACHER, vice-president of the Schumacher-Wilson Realty Company, and well-known clubman, is in Chicago, and a dispatch from that city forecasts a speedy marriage for the local business man, and names as the bride-to-be Miss Marian Berg, former Los Angeles actress. Close friends say this is correct.

Schumacher slipped out of the city last Saturday, and his acquaintances, while somewhat in the dark as to his detailed plans, generally suspect that his trip had but one object, and that matrimonial.

Miss Berg, until a few months ago, was ingenue of the Belasco Theater company, and did much effective stock work. She is a slender, blonde girl, extremely vivacious, traveled and well educated, and of pretty face and figure. She is now playing in Chicago.

Mr. Schumacher has one matrimonial experience to his credit already, his first wife having been Miss Virginia Orr. Mr. Schumacher is about 40 years of age, was born near First and Spring streets, and has been prominently identified with the progress of the city during his entire life.

Schumacher's devotion to Miss Berg has been of the unostentatious sort, hence except to those most intimately associated with him, the announcement will come as a distinct surprise.

TOUCHING.

PAULINE'S BAIT LURE OF UNKEL.

COOK SORE NOW AND WANTS HIS MONEY BACK.

Stunning Keeper of Seattle Rooming-house Is Alleged to Have Been Gay Deceiver to the Great Unhappiness of the Man Who Manipulated the Garlic and Onions.

William Unkel of Seattle, Wash., in a petition filed in the Superior Court yesterday, tells about a woman's wiles, and prays to have his money back.

The defendants in the action are Pauline Robinson, the gay deceiver in the case, according to Unkel's claims; William H. Moore, who is said to have some interest in a piece of property owned by the Robinsons in Los Angeles, and Louis Zinnaman, administrator of the estate of Harry Robinson, late husband of the fair Pauline.

Unkel, so he says, was, in April, 1905, a cook employed in Seattle, where he was paid $17 a week for his services. From April 25 to November 1 of that year he roomed in a lodging-house leased and managed by Pauline Robinson, at the corner of Fourth and Pike streets, Seattle. While there, it is alleged that the Robinson woman represented herself as a widow, and professed much friendship for her roomer, to the end that on July 14, 1905, they were formally engaged to marry, but the ceremony was not to take place until August 12.

Then the "touch" began, and Unkel proved that he was a good fellow by investing $450 in two diamond earrings and one finger ring, which he gave to his bride-to-be. It was then represented to him that she needed about $300 to buy a trousseau for the happy occasion, and, the rooming-house business being a little slow in Seattle, he was asked to put up that amount. In the language of the street, he "came across" with the money. This was so easy that the Robinson claim department began to work overtime, according to the allegations.

Pauline informed the trusting and confiding William that she could use about $2000 to clear up a mortgage on property she owned in Los Angeles, and made it so strong that he gave her $2000 without a word of protest—handing her "certificates of deposit," he alleges. The payment of this money served to remind Pauline that she could use more, and she told her husband-to-be that there was a little matter concerning a right of way across some of her land in Santa Rosa county, which a railway desired to acquire, that needed a little money, and he gave her $463 on that account.

Meanwhile she talked love to him, and in her mind's eye pictured the beauties of their new home when they should have become man and wife. So enthusiastic did Unkel become that he handed over to the woman his salary as cook at the restaurant from July to November, 1905, in addition to other contributions to the Robinson conscience fund. About August 1, as the date of their marriage approached, she asked Unkel for $300, saying that she needed the money to secure a divorce from her husband, Harry Robinson, and that the latter had agreed to make no contest if she paid him $500. Unkel handed over her these sums, and looked pleasant.

Then the plaintiff became suspicious, and concluded that he had been played by the woman, after advancing to her in all $4217. The Robinsons removed to Los Angeles soon afterward, and invested in a piece of property—lot 14, block 6, in the Charles Victor Hall tract, Robinson dying last March, and Zinnaman being named as administrator. Unkel asks that the real estate referred to be considered a trust for his benefit, that it be sold, and the proceeds paid over to him.

LAWLER LOOKS ON GOLD.

Sees Two Sacks in Northern Bank, Fresh from Mine—Comes Here for Few Days.

Oscar Lawler, Assistant Attorney-General of the United States, is passing a few days in the city before returning to his official duties at Washington. He has just returned from a tour of Northern California, where he visited the various lodges of Masons in his capacity of Grand Master.

"The northern section of the State is showing remarkable mining development," said Mr. Lawler. "At Nevada city I was taken to a bank where 200 sacks of gold ore were on deposit. I was told that the mine which produced all this ore cost only about $4000, including development work. The ore at the bank was estimated to be worth $400,000.

"Though that section gets rain in large measure, the hay crop this year will be short on account of the absence of late rains, but they get a-plenty in the winter. One man told me they had about 118 inches during the season, he added that they measure the rainfall in feet instead of inches."

Mr. Lawler received a flattering reception from the lodges he visited in his official capacity. At one town, an old man walked twenty-seven miles in order to attend the lodge meeting. During his trip through the extreme northern section of the state, Grand Master Lawler traveled nearly 400 miles by stage and was enabled to get a comprehensive view of the farming, and mining districts.

After attending to several important legal matters here, Mr. Lawler will go East by the Northern route in order to meet Secretary of the Inter Ballinger at Livingston, Mont. As Mr. Lawler is head of the legal division of the Department of the Interior, he has a number of matters to discuss with the Secretary.

BIG INITIATION.

Large Number of Candidates Made into Princes of the Orient Last Evening.

One hundred and twenty-five princelets, including several municipal and Federal officers, were made full-fledged Princes of the Orient last night by the degree team of El Malaikai Council, No. 94, the side degree of the Independent Order of Foresters. Deputy United States Marshal Franklin was master of ceremonies, and, inspired by an audience of about five hundred princes that filled the hall at No. 125½ South Spring street, he performed his part, aided by La Fiesta degree team.

The procession of candidates included Barney Healy, Councilman from "de ate;" City Clerk Lelande, United States Marshal Youngworth, Al Sittell, one of the Marshal's trusted lieutenants; Ralph Williams, clerk of the United States District Court, City Tax Collector Johnson, and "among others," a delegation of fifty who had come from Inglewood in a special car.

When the camels were brought in, Healy was heard to ask for just a little time on the plea that he had something to say to the Mayor about lid lifting. He was very solicitous about the entertainment of the Elks, but soon was so busy with the dromedaries, the goats and things, that he forgot all about the antlered herds. Johnson couldn't think of anything being collected; order in court or anywhere else was beyond the dreams of Williams.

This was easily the most largely attended meeting ever held by the El Malaikai Council, and the biggest class it ever initiated in Los Angeles.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

In the interest of "harmony" the recall bosses have prevented the removal of Dr. Powers, Health Officer, or a split in the Health Board.

Mrs. G. E. M. Wilson, wife of Frank King Wilson, the Montana mining king, was granted a decree of divorce by Judge James yesterday. The wife testified that they first quarreled because her husband would not take the proper number of baths.

Judge Wilbur yesterday denied the motion of Fred Markham, murderer of his brother, Charles Markham, for leave to file a bill of exceptions, as the time limit had expired. Markham will now go to prison at Folsom.

Rebecca E. Guenthart secured a divorce yesterday from C. B. Guenthart, the fleeing president of the Security Building Company, alleging various acts of adultery on his part with an unknown woman.

William Unkel, a confiding cook of Seattle, told in a petition filed in the Superior Court, how he had been "stung" by a smooth rooming-house keeper in that city.

AT THE JITY HALL.

POWERS CRISIS POSTPONED!

"FOR THE PRESENT, AT LEAST," SAYS DR. GIBBONS.

Recall Politics as She Is Played When There Is Danger of One of Mayor's Commissions Splitting on Rocks of Dispute—Something Doing Later on.

"For the present, at least," Dr. Powers, Health Officer, will not be disturbed.

This is the gist of a statement made yesterday by Drs. Sherwin Gibbons and W. J. Chambers, members of the Board of Health, who have been advocating the removal of the veteran executive head of the health department.

Dr. Gibbons now says that Dr. Powers has been "criticised" because he did not handle the milk situation, regarded as delicate at all times, but that the board has not at any time contemplated the removal of Dr. Powers.

Which, of course, is the recall truth.

The "board" has not attempted to get rid of Dr. Powers, but Drs. Gibbons and Chambers have advocated it and their meeting with the Mayor Wednesday evening was intended to pave the way for such action at the next regular meeting. It was said there was even hope that Dr. Powers would resign, but those who know him best say such a course is not possible while he is under fire.

Politicians say the result is a victory for the Mayor over Dr. Gibbons. They also say it is a political result of some importance, because if the Mayor consented to Dr. Powers's removal it would be a serious political blunder.

Dr. Powers is said to have the respect and confidence of the medical profession, the result of fifteen years' close contact with it, and his dismissal would anger many of the doctors who have leanings toward the recall element. That is where the Mayor saw the opportunity to do politics and he did it at the expense of Dr. Gibbons, who, until this action, had been the dominant personality in the recall health department.

Then there was another reason for suspending the effort to dismiss Dr. Powers. That was the recall theory of "harmony." It would never do for one of the Mayor's commissions to split three months after the administration took office. So the boxers got together yesterday and interposed between the obstinacy of the Mayor and of Dr. Gibbons, so that "harmony" might be restored.

Dr. Gibbons has set some high standards for the health department, and he is insistent that military discipline be maintained in executing the details of sanitary work. Likewise he is no respecter of personality and he wants everything done rigidly. This has not been the method of the health department for some years and the only complaint against Dr. Gibbons is that he introduces innovations with a big stick.

When the Health Board recently was trying to dismiss several sanitary inspectors of the "10 per cent." class that the Mayor doesn't like, it was rumored then that Dr. Powers was in danger. But the Mayor silenced this talk. The Mayor is now understood to stand stanchly by Powers, but still hopes to get the healer of the sanitary inspectors.

But, "for the present, at least," Dr. Powers will stay and the inspectors will stay. Just what will happen in a few weeks is not clear, but changes in the health department, either at the topmost top or at the bottom, are predicted.

Behind the political phase of the Powers case is the fact that the dairy whose milk is supposed to have caused two typhoid cases serves 1230 people in Los Angeles. Yesterday all the milk inspectors were catechised by the board to ascertain where neglect should be placed and how it should be punished. And the Mayor said it did not make any difference who was found to blame, he would be "jacked up" properly.

SALOON PERMITS.

ANOTHER IS IN JEOPARDY.

By the time the next municipal election rolls around the Police Commission will probably have two saloon permits, at least, in its possession to be given to whom it pleases. And they will both be for locations controlled by the Maier brewery, which is not regarded as any too friendly to the recall administration.

The commission revoked the permit for the Cape Horn saloon on North San Fernando street some weeks ago. It has postponed granting a new permit to either of several applicants for a month, and some of the members believe one permit, at least, should be kept open.

The second permit for vest-pocket purposes will be that now held by O. J. Fast for a saloon at No. 307 West second street. He has been cited to appear before the board next Monday night to show cause why the permit should not be revoked. Plain-clothes patrolmen working under Capt. Dixon made a Police Court case that is the basis of Dixon's charge that Fast violated the rules of the commission, adopted in June, 1908.

According to the papers sent to the commission by Dixon, who seems to be the promoter of trouble for the license classes as well as derelict policemen, Harry Ballance, who runs a cigar stand in front of Fast's place, was convicted in Police Court of conducting a game by which checks were played for instead of money. These checks were good in trade only, and were spent by Patrolman Sweeny over Fast's bar for drinks. The plain-clothes men, Bartlett, Brown and Sweeney, report that several played the game at a time.

After the conviction, Capt. Dixon dug up the rule of the Harper Police Commission, passed a year ago, which forbade any gambling about a saloon under penalty of revoking the permit. At that time there was complaint of petty gambling in saloons, and the commission passed the rule to stop it. Later Guy W. Eddie announced that he would enforce the ordinance against shaking dice for cigars, and this led the Council to pass an ordinance permitting dice shaking for "merchandise." The ordinance was intended to permit shaking dice for cigars only, but at the time it was believed it would permit shaking for drinks as well as any other kind of "merchandise."

As Ballance was convicted before Justice Fredericksen, the record will be introduced in order to furnish reasons why the permit of Fast, from whom he sublets, should be revoked.

As this custom has been followed at many bars, there is a belief that the administration is making a precedent of the Fast case, and that there is trouble in store for others later.

Dodging a Veto.

A new way to avoid a veto has been found by Councilman Dromgold. Yesterday he took the Mayor to view the scene of a new spur track the Southern Pacific is asking on the San Fernando road at Avenue 26. The spur is to accommodate the company at its repair shops. The Mayor said he found nothing to object to in the franchise, an application for which is now pending before the Council.

City Hall Brevities.

The new ordinance requiring all pawnbrokers, junk dealers and collectors to obtain permits from the Police Commission will go in force July 14, and the City Clerk is sounding warning to make application before that date.

The Park Board visited South Park yesterday to examine the strip along Forty-ninth street that neighbors are urging as an addition to the park.

To boost the cleaning of vacant lots the Los Angeles Realty Board has sent a letter to the Council urging prompt action on the pending ordinance for that purpose.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

RICH HUSBAND BEATS WIFE.

SO SHE STATES IN HER TRIAL FOR DIVORCE.

Woman Gets Decree of Separation from Wealthy Montana Mining Man—Boasts of Attentions to Another Woman Figure in the Case. Too Few Baths, One Complaint.

The divorce action begun some time ago by Mrs. G. E. M. Wilson against the wealthy Missoula (Mont.) mining man, Frank King Wilson, was finally disposed of by Judge James yesterday afternoon. Some time back an agreement was reached between the pair in regard to the community property and, that determined, there was no opposition on the part of Wilson to the legal separation.

It is understood that in the division of the real estate Mrs. Wilson gets the home on West Adams street, on the corner of Magnolia avenue, and a large amount of money, her attorneys refusing to divulge the exact sum.

It was alleged in the petition of Mrs. Wilson that her husband was possessed of a large amount of mining property and real estate in Los Angeles, Butte, Mont., and Ocean Park, a statement that was combatted by the husband in his answer to the complaint. However, Mrs. Wilson is more than well provided for by the terms of the stipulation signed by the attorneys on each side.

Mrs. Wilson, her sister, Angel Miles, and her family physician, were the only witnesses. Mrs. Wilson testified that the first outbreak between the couple occurred in Denver, 1897, a year after their wedding, because she insisted upon her husband taking a bath oftener than he was desirous of doing. Then followed the trouble at one of the hotels in this city, where Wilson went to her apartments one morning about 2 o'clock, and told her that he had been spending the evening with another woman at an apartment-house. This, she said, was followed with a drunken attack upon her.

Another scene occurred at a hotel in Butte, Mont., where he knocked her down and threatened to kill her. The witness declared that the bete noir of her husband appeared to be the monthly household bills, and he was never called upon to pay them when he did not complain and accuse her of extravagance. He told her that she was costing him $500 a month, and on one occasion said that the next time any one called to assist her it would be an undertaker and not a doctor.

Miss Miles testified to numerous acts of brutality on the part of Wilson, and the physician said her broken-down nervous condition was due entirely to the treatment she had received at the hands of her husband. The plaintiff was granted a decree.

MOVING SLOWLY.

HELD UP BY CHARTER DECLARES HUNTINGTON.

THAT the twenty-one-year clause in the city charter is holding up and preventing the Pacific Electric from making needed improvements taking steps to relieve congestion on the streets was the terse announcement of H. E. Huntington in the course of an interview yesterday.

Mr. Huntington was asked about the elevated switchback, completed plans for which have been filed in the City Engineer's office, to extend from the rear of the Pacific Electric depot on Main street across Los Angeles street, and intended to relieve the jam in front of the great building.

"The company has contemplated this for a couple of years," he said. "The plans now filed merely complete those drawn and filed at that time. We will spend a couple of thousand dollars extending the double tracks now in use in the depot out a hundred feet or more across Los Angeles street and over the lot bought several years ago to increase our present depot facilities, but which improvement, under present conditions, will not be possible for many years.

"At present we have no means of handling a train of two or more cars except by running past the station and backing in. It is simply to eliminate this and remove this switching from Main street that the present tracks are to be extended. No elaborate system is planned, and the scheme of an elevated yard is visionary."

"How about the congestion at other points in the city?" the trolley magnate was asked. "Have you any plans in contemplation that will aid in relieving congestion elsewhere?"

"Absolutely none," was the sharp reply. "The twenty-one-year franchise provision in the charter effectually prevents any improvement."

Mr. Huntington threw cold water on the hopes of those who thought a subway would be built in the near future under the Southern Pacific tracks to some point on the river.

"There will not be business enough in Los Angeles in the next ten years to justify the expense of such a subway, and none is to be built," was his dismissal of this topic.

In the same airy way he brushed aside the pet schemes of many near-builders, who, during his extended absence in the East, laid Pacific Electric track into many towns and hamlets, even as far as San Diego.

"I, of course, appreciate the work of those who have been doing so much building for me," he said, smiling quisically, "but there is little probability of much of it getting beyond the paper stage."

Asked if the elevated switchback is to be followed in the immediate future by the building of tracks whereby beach cars and some others will be routed via Seventh street into the lot opposite the present station, and into the basement of the latter, which was to have been converted into a depot, Mr. Huntington answered that it is not.

"When will this be done?" he was asked, and the answer was emphatic: "Not in a thousand years."

Coming down to the subject of a union depot for Los Angeles, Mr. Huntington said: "I think Mr. Harriman intends to build a fine depot in this city. I think that has been his plan for some time, and believe him sincere in what he said when here."

Yesterday Mr. Huntington and a party of officials took a spin in his private car to Huntington Beach and went over the newly-laid track of the Santa Ana-Huntington Beach cut-off. While connected up, this track is not completed, but everything will be in shape by July 1. Service will be started July 5.

THROUGH A SON.

FATHER IS CONDEMNED.

An unusual feature occurred in Judge James's court yesterday in the course of the hearing of the divorce action instituted by Alice M. Kelly against Edgar R. Kelly. The charge was desertion. After the wife had testified, a tiny lad, just over the 11-year line, stepped forward to be sworn, when the name of Hobart Raymond Kelly had been called.

"Is this the witness?" asked Judge James.

"It is," replied the attorney. "Mrs. Kelly is here a total stranger, and if Your Honor please, it will be found that the lad is bright and a competant witness."

"I should much rather have the corroborating testimony from some other source," replied the court, but there being no other witnesses and the rightcousness of the case appealing to the judge, he allowed the youngster to be sworn.

The little fellow took his seat in the witness chair and his feet did not reach the floor. But he appeared as bright as a dollar, and looked straight in the eyes of the court, something that many of the older witnesses do not always do. He was asked what he knew about his father's desertion of his mother, and in a childish treble, he said: "The night of November 17, 1907, papa came to my room where I was in bed and gave me $3; he said that he was going away; I have not seen him since."

Mrs. Kelly was granted a decree. She is supporting herself and child by conducting a little grocery business on Temple street. She was married to Edgar R. Kelly in Wichita, Kan., June 23, 1892, and they were divorced three years later, ensarring again in 1904.

KICKS AND KNOCKS.

ONE HUSBAND'S DIVERSIONS.

The failure of his wife to tell him until the guests began to arrive, that she proposed to give a Valentine party at their home, was the high spot in the action brought by Bertha Newman for a decree of divorce from William E. Newman. The episode occurred at Fort Worth, Tex. However, he knocked her down at Charlevoi, Mich., when she thought he was sick, and was trying to caress him; he beat her black and blue at Oklahoma City and finally wound up his fun by knocking her down at Sawtelle and threatening to kill her, so it appeared in her testimony before Judge James yesterday.

They were married at Eastport, Mich., in 1900, and their life was largely occupied with quarrels and acrimonious discussions when they were not getting ready to move somewhere else. Mrs. Newman, who is a buxom-looking woman, appeared as if she might have held her own in any sort of wrestling match.

She was asked if she had ever given her husband any cause for his cruel treatment of her, and she said: "I always thought I did my part." The court granted her a decree.

SISTERS' CONTEST.

CHEVALLIER WILL INVOLVED.

In Judge Monroe's court yesterday the case involving the will of Miss Alice Chevallier was called for trial before a jury. Much evidence was taken, and the matter will be resumed this morning.

The contest is between Mrs. Louise Holmes and Mrs. Maria Hartung, both sisters of the deceased, the first named residing in this city, the latter the wife of John Hartung, a bank cashier at Anaheim. Miss Chevallier, who for years held a confidential financial position in the Ville de Paris, was accused of embezzling large sums of money, estimated to amount to $34,000. After she had made an engagement with Mark Durand to explain the charges made against her she committed suicide at the home of Mrs. Holmes.

After her death partial restitution was made to her employers by the executor of the estate, John Elder, it being alleged that a sum approximating $50,000 was refunded. It was then found that a will made by Miss Chevallier just previous to her death gave all of her property to her sister, Mrs. Holmes. The other sister, Mrs. Hartung, alleges that the testatrix was not of sound mind when she wrote the will, and that its provisions do not represent her real desires. Hence the argument.

The question whether the will was dated at all was decided by the court in the affirmative, it appearing that the only notation was the figures, "4-14-07," which it was alleged meant that the instrument was written April 14, 1907, and this view was accepted by the court.

Mrs. Charles Taggart, widow of Dr. Charles Taggart, testified that her husband treated Miss Chevallier for a physical trouble which, it is contended, caused the mental affection.

Mrs. Holmes, the sister, who is the sole beneficiary under the will, said the girl was a physically perfect woman. She told of an interview she had with Miss Chevallier the day before she killed herself, in which Miss Chevallier said that she ought not to be afraid to "face the devil" if she was innocent of the crime of embezzlement.

Mark Durand testified that when Miss Chevallier was accused of the theft of sums ranging from $250 to $400 a day, she coolly declared that she knew nothing about it.

Elizabeth Arnold, Richard E. Barry, Horace Elder and Ida H. Hellman were the other witnesses, preceding Mrs. Hartung, who was called just before the adjournment of court. Edwin A. Meserve is the attorney for Mrs. Hartung, and Oscar Lawler, Assistant Attorney-General of the United States, came all the way from Washington to appear for Mrs. Holmes.

MUST GO TO PRISON.

MARKHAM MAKES LAST PLAY.

Fred Markham of San Fernando, who last December was convicted of manslaughter for the killing of his brother, Charles Markham, essayed the role of attorney in behalf of himself yesterday. He will be taken North soon to begin his sentence of ten years at Folsom, imposed by the court.

When Markham was convicted the presiding judge, Wilbur, signed an order of probable cause, and it was understood that a bill of exceptions would be filed in the case, with a view of carrying it to the Appellate Court. A. A. Sturgess represented the defendant in the trial, but, being convinced that there was no good reason for carrying the case further, neglected to prepare the bill of exceptions.

The matter before the court yesterday was on a motion to grant leave to file a bill of exceptions in the case, and, in the absence of any attorney, Markham furnished the court with a number of authorities in support of his contention that he should not be compelled to suffer on account of the alleged dereliction of his attorneys. With the citations, Markham presented what he called an "accusation" against certain attorneys who, he said, had taken money from him and neglected and refused to appear in his behalf in the appeal to a higher court. He set out that A. A. Sturgess, Ellsworth Rowell, Carlyle Wynne and Johnstone Jones had been paid $685 to appear in his behalf in the proceedings following his conviction for the murder of his brother, and that $500 had been paid by him for a defense in the murder case.

Judge Wilbur told Markham that he would not receive the document, but said he might file it in the criminal records. The court then denied the application for leave to file the bill of exceptions, and, on motion of the District Attorney, revoked the order of probable cause. Judge Wilbur intimated that somebody had been attempting to practice law behind the bars, and that it was not giving the profession on the outside a chance. Ellsworth Rowell, quoted by Markham as one of the attorneys who received money from him, was a fellow jailmate with him for several months when he was awaiting bondsmen under a complaint charging him with swindling in connection with a mining scheme in Mexico.

It is but fair to say that all of the attorneys mentioned in the Markham "accusation" deny having received any money from him to prosecute his case to a higher court. Not only that, but they say that they were never retained in his behalf. Whether some of his fellow-jailbirds made him believe that they were retaining attorneys in his behalf, and taking money from him is another story.

The result of the action of Judge Wilbur will be to send Markham North to Folsom in a few days. He has been in the County Jail since his conviction.

MORRISON GUILTY.

MURRAY IS ON TRIAL.

The jury in Judge Willis's court yesterday returned a verdict of guilty on the complaint charging W. J. Morrison with perjury in connection with the trials of Thomas Meagher and Ben Whitney, convicted of burglary last January. Both Morrison and Thomas Murray, his side partner, swore falsely, it was alleged, as to the whereabouts of Meagher and Whitney at the hour the burglary was committed.

The case against Murray was taken up immediately after the jury in the Morrison case had retired, and it was necessary to keep the Murray jury out of the courtroom when the Morrison jury returned its verdict. It is said on the part of the prosecution that it will be easier to convict Murray than it was to convict Morrison. One of the features of the case was the presence of a number of ex-convicts in the room during the hearing, all eager to do something in behalf of Morrison.

OVER A RASHER.

BACON-COOKING RUCTION.

The rift in the lute of marital harmony in the Crandall family was first caused by the objections on the part of the husband as to the manner of cooking eggs and a rasher of bacon by the wife at their Long Beach home.

Afterward, the wife remarked that she did not think it her part to be compelled to hand her spouse his tobacco and cigarette paper, while he sat in the kitchen and did nothing but object to the makeup of the meals she was serving.

Grace and Harold Crandall were married in Ventura and lived by spells at Pasadena and Long Beach. Harold did not support his wife, according to her testimony, and Judge James granted her a decree with the custody of their child. Whether the style in which the eggs and bacon were served influenced the court does not appear of record.

DEBIRES RELEASE.

THROUGH HABEAS CORPUS.

On January 22, Mrs. B. Berthier was taken into custody, charged with improper conduct. She was not represented by an attorney, and pleaded guilty to the complaint. Justice Chambers gave her a suspended sentence of six months, under the eye of Probation Officer A. C. Dodds. She said that she thought her arrest was the result of spite work on the part of R. W. Reynolds, officer of the Los Angeles Humane Society for Children, and that he desired to get her child and place it in a Roman Catholic institution.

On Monday last the suspended sentence was revoked and the woman was given 120 days in the County Jail for a violation of her parole. A writ of habeas corpus has been sworn out in her behalf and made returnable before Judge Willis next Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Presiding Judge Wilbur signed the writ.

MONEY IN TRUNK.

SON IS TO PAY MOTHER.

Catharine Nelson, aged 84, was plaintiff in a case in Judge Conrey's court yesterday, involving a sum of money. The defendant in the action was her son, John B. Nelson, administrator of the estate of his wife, Mary Nelson, who died August 18, 1908.

The plaintiff and her husband, John

SIXTEEN-INCH RICH STREAK.

THREE THOUSAND ROCK REPORT FROM AVAWATZ.

Ram's Horn Blue Bucket Lease Is in Rich Ore—Clara Starts Work on Railroad to Mines and Has Ore Assured to Run Big Smelter. Old Glory Opening Up New Vein.

One of the most important strikes in San Bernardino county in months was the cutting of a sixteen-inch streak of $3000 rock on the Ram's Horn Blue Bucket lease at Silver Lake, near Avawatz, on Monday, at a depth of 165 feet. It disproves, say operators, the theory that values in this section do not go down. The streak was found in the center of a vein of good milling ore, and the high-grade rock is being sacked for shipment.

C. S. Eichholtz of the Avawatz Gold Mining and Milling Company brought the news. The Avawatz, the adjoining property, is sinking on the same vein. It is within ten feet of the depth at which the strike was made, and Mr. Eichholtz is sanguine he is about to break into good ore.

The Ram's Horn has a tunnel 180 feet in ore that will go as high as $100. It drifted thirty feet from the end of the tunnel and crosscut to the vein; then drifted on the vein eighteen feet in four feet of ore matter. "In the last drift a shot fired Monday evening opened a pay shoot of remarkable richness. The Ram's Horn has been operated by present owners since February, and the strike puts the property in good shipping position.

The Avawatz, its neighbor on the south, has a shaft down sixty-five feet. On the twenty-five-foot level it drifted sixty-two feet in ore that samples all the way from $5 to $90. At the sixty-five-foot level it drifted on a vein three to four feet wide, for a distance of seventy-six feet, where it got a well-defined ledge. While no big assays have been obtained, the walls are well defined and the ore is of commercial value.

F. M. Myrick of the Old Glory has driven a tunnel 180 feet, and has just struck good ore. He will go about forty feet farther to strike the contact of a rich vein that outcrops a hundred feet above in the tunnel, where he expects to get good shipping ore. Shipping is expected to start from the Avawatz district in thirty days, according to Mr. Eichholtz.

Clara Busy.

The Clara Consolidated has laid off a large number of men at the mine in order to put them to work on the railroad it is building from Swansea. George Mitchell, president of the Clara, is in Paris floating bonds of the road, and his wife will leave in a few days to join him.

Ore tonnage has been increased to the point where sufficient is in sight to keep a smelter of much larger capacity than the present one going at full capacity for a long period. Work on the railroad will be rushed, under supervision of Vice-President Carrigan, an old railroad man.

Chamber of Mines.

It is anticipated that the booklet, published annually by the Chamber of Mines, will go to press about July 1. It will contain the bylaws of the chamber, rules and regulations regarding the investigation of mining properties, comparative mineral and oil statistics, reports of the officers, classified list of the members, roster of the mining camps and oil fields contiguous to Los Angeles; and a unique map of the Southwest, showing this city's exceptional position in its relation to the mining camps of California, Nevada, Arizona and the west coast of Mexico, and the oil fields of the State. Copies of the booklet may be obtained by addressing the chamber, 300 Germain building, No. 234 South Spring street.

The chamber has recently received a number of advance chapters from the Mineral Resources of the United States for 1908, compiled by the United States Geological Survey, which will be placed in the library for the use of the general public.

Special Agents Here.

Eric C. W. S. Lyders, chief of the field division, and William F. Jewell, mineral land examiner of the United States General Land Office, are in this city, as a result of the decision of the General Land Office to suspend action on the petition of the Southern Pacific Company for certain lands lying between Mohave and the Needles until an investigation can be had by the special agents mentioned. This would indicate that the work and the expenditures in connection with the preparation of the monster petition which was forwarded to Washington were not in vain.

Stereopticon Lectures.

The Chamber of Mines has on hand and available about 100 slides and negatives from which the Publicity Committee will make selections for the first of the series of lectures on the mining and oil industries of the South west. The chamber is also in correspondence with several of the mining districts in regard to furnishing additional slides, negatives and photographs, and it is anticipated that the first lecture will be of considerable interest to mining and oil men and the general public.

When a man takes his life in his hands he should be sure that he has a strong grip.

It's a poor summer girl who cannot have at least two or three strings to her beau.

We rejoice to notice that war rumors have a hard time making themselves really felt.

Before Dr. Eliot gets through we fear that he will need more than five feet for his list of books.

We suppose that the Elks who are to come here are quite as eager to arrive as we are to welcome them.

Italy is to name her warships after her dead poets. Maybe that's why D'Annunzio has decided to die.

We never see a man sailing around in a balloon that we do not envy him without wishing to be in his place.

Those who escape the fatalities of the eastern heat wave still stand a chance to get struck with lightning.

The most discouraging feature of eastern weather is that it changes as a woman changes her mind.

The heat must have been terrible if it killed people in Philadelphia, where nobody thinks of rushing around.

As far as "the best ten books" are concerned, there are no two men in the world who can agree on the same list.

The trouble is that those questions which were settled at the graduation exercises have already bobbed up again.

It will not help matters to have Mr. Johnson say that he hates to waste his time whaling a poor old fat man like Jim Jeffries.

The various State societies in Los Angeles ought to be very busy during Elks' week. This is the city of old familiar faces.

It gives a man a thrill merely to think of all the brass bands that will be here during Elks' week, not to speak of anything else.

The only apology that we shall be called upon to offer next month will be that Mr. Jeffries is unavoidably absent on prior engagements.

We speak of the San Joaquin Valley as the raisin belt, and pretty soon, no doubt, we shall refer to the Imperial Valley as the cotton belt.

We saw something in the paper the other day concerning a speech the Kaiser made. But we must have somehow gotten hold of an old paper.

Actor Farnum deposes and says that Mrs. Gould is a perfect lady as far as he knows, but we don't believe he would know a perfect lady if he saw one.

We earnestly advise the Kaiser not to carry out his intention to visit England. The nerves of London positively could not stand the strain at this time.

Everything appears to finally have its day. As far as we are able to learn, no new breakfast food has been invented for the past three months at least.

We don't hear much of the Elder Statesmen of Japan these times. No doubt they are thinking so hard that they haven't the leisure to appear in public.

It was said that warm weather in Washington would end the tariff talk. Perhaps we may, therefore, hope for the best, according to eastern weather reports.

We are willing to take back a good many of the mean things we have said about Chauncey M. Depew. During the whole tariff debate he never opened his mouth.

A man who claimed he was the rightful heir to the British throne has just died in New Jersey. Why did he go there to add to his already great burden of disappointment?

Among the books that Dr. Eliot mentions as the best in the world is the "Journal of John Woolman." Will everybody who read that fascinating volume please hold up hands?

An eastern paper speaks of "a wealthy Californian who changed his name from Livernash to De Nivernais." The gentleman referred to is a noisy and not a wealthy Californian.

No one should be prevented from reading the Bible, but we think there are portions of it that it might be as well to keep away from young persons who do not yet know about everything.

The farmers of Aroostook county, Maine, expect to clear $12,000,000 this year on potatoes alone. But in spite of all that there will be $10 a week cartoonists to print funny pictures about them.

A man should divide his work between his brain and his hands. In other words, after he has figured up the average of the leading batters he should turn in and help his wife wash the dishes.

So far it seems that the editor of the Honolulu Jiji hasn't been able to get up a war between the United States and Japan on the ground that a constable went into the Jiji print shop and pied the type.

Los Angeles must sooner or later have an official body, paid from the public funds, the duties of the members of which shall be to devote their entire time and abilities to entertaining the stranger within the gates.

UNCLE ALECK, PLAGIARIST.

With the subtle strategy of an ostrich the recall set is playing its politics with its head in the sand. Those who read the "order department" expressions of the evening recall exponent last night must have gathered plainly that Mayor Alexander has buffaloed the Earl-Lissner crowd and is not to be driven from his breastworks. The campaign tone, the garrulity over trivial matters of administration, the exaggeration as to Uncle Aleck's accomplishments all bring new alarm that the man who has held fast to the public crib ever since he came to the city is not to be pried loose even with a recall crowbar.

"Alexander's Plan," "Give the Police a Square Deal," "Making Good" and "Bread Eaters Happy" are the catch-lines for expressions of the oxigency—viz., that "Uncle George" has a strangle hold on the recall nomination just at present and everybody must fall in line.

"Alexander's Plan" is a scheme to drive five deputies of the Tax and License Collector out of their offices by abolishing their positions. They happen to belong to "the 90 per cent. inside the civil-service fence" that cause wry frowns on the face of His Recall Honor. The garrote for them, is his idea. But the "plan" which is proclaimed as "his" is borrowed from some of his predecessors remotely, and more lately from the City Auditor. It merely happens that the plan fits the Mayor's petty political ideas, and in that sense it is "his."

Besides, the Tax Collector happens to be particular prey for the recall bosses just at present. And perhaps the Mayor is executing orders only.

"Give the Police a Square Deal" is mere buncombe to bolster the Police Commission because it declined to grant an "off day" every week to the members of the force. The plan to require only six days' work of policemen has been advocated and seriously considered before, and will perhaps be available some time when the finances permit. But the use of the topic now is merely to cajole policemen into recall zeal.

"Making Good" is another bolster for the Mayor. Everything is heading straight for the millennium since the gray veteran in office-seeking has been executing the business of the recall bosses. And all because he vetoed an ordinance permitting the placing of a spur track across a street where there are already tracks, and where additional facilities were needed for handling the great crowds during the Elks' visit.

But how happy the bread eaters of Los Angeles must be when they learn that it was His Recall Honor and not Councilman Dromgold who devised the alleged "standard loaf" ordinance. Whatever is good in that ordinance came from the non-partisan member from the First Ward and not from the Mayor, though there is much doubt as to whether there is any good at all. The Mayor wanted a law requiring a standard loaf at 32 ounces, and smaller loaves in the quarters of this amount. This proved impracticable and was repealed. Then the Mayor vetoed the repealing ordinance and demanded another law. The Dromgold idea was chosen. It merely provides that all loaves shall bear the weight and name of the baker, vesting the City Sealer with authority to weigh them. But it does not apply to any loaf that has been baked eight hours. Under the ordinance any baker need not stamp his bread until eight hours after baking, and after eight hours the weight will cut no figure! Yet we are told that "the bread purchaser now has an assurance that when he places his 5 cents upon the counter 5 cents' worth of bread will be delivered."

How did Los Angeles ever get along without Uncle Aleck?

THE END OF CARLISM.

From Spain comes an interesting announcement, published a few days ago, and certain to have an important bearing upon the future of that country. It seems that Carlism is about to come to an end, thanks to the mediation of the Pope, who has never used the powers of his exalted position to better purpose. Don Carlos and his claims to the throne have been a perpetual menace to the security and tranquillity of the country. Rebellion has followed rebellion, and one at least was the cause of foreign intervention. For many years now the shadow of Carlism has lain over Spain, effectually preventing the internal confidence which was her only hope of restoring her place in the world.

The efforts of the Pope have been directed toward a reconciliation between Don Jaime, son of Don Carlos, and King Alfonso. That they have been successful speaks as much for the beneficence of the Pontiff as for the good sense of the young claimant. Don Jaime has, in fact, everything to gain by an amicable arrangement with his cousin, the King, by which he will be allowed to take up his residence in the country, to accept a military command, and to assume the position of a royal prince. Nothing is asked from him in return except a renunciation of hopes that could never be fulfilled and a cessation of political relations with his father, Don Carlos. This should be easy enough for him, as he has never had any personal enthusiasm for his own cause, while his father has alienated his affections by his parsimony and harshness. Don Carlos is enormously rich, but he gives his son practically nothing and refuses to make any arrangement for his inheritance. He is, in fact, a greedy miser of the most despicable kind, while his sordid inclinations are encouraged and fostered by his young wife, who is unwilling to see any division of a fortune that she hopes may reach her intact. It may be that Don Jaime's poverty has prevented him from seeking a wife, and it is doubtful now if he will ever do so. If he should die childless, as there is every reason to expect, Carlism will be doubly dead, as the present King is heir to the throne along both lines.

And yet, in a way, Carlism has not been without its advantages to Spain. When Queen Christina became regent during the infancy of her son, Alfonso, she found herself confronted with a coalition of the aristocrats and the Carlists. In self-defense she had to ally herself with liberal Constitutionalists or be wholly without friends. Her ministers insisted that Alfonso should be educated along broad lines, and it will be remembered that upon one occasion the Queen Regent was forced, against her will, to dismiss a tutor who had been inculcating into his pupil some pernicious ideas of the divine right of kings and the advantages of an absolute monarchy. Queen Christina is herself an absolutist and wholly out of sympathy with constitutionalism, but she had to make a virtue of necessity, and whatever political virtues the young King may possess are due to this fact. Queen Christina's predilections for Gen. Weyler were due to her love of absolute sovereignty with the edge of a strong sword to protect it.

Even the influence of the Pope could do nothing with Don Carlos himself, who is now an old man and wedded inseparably to the political follies which have always been the most hopeless features of his cause. It is hard to believe that civilization still contains representatives of a crude absolutism for which kings lost their thrones and their heads three hundred years ago. And yet so recently as 1894 Don Carlos issued a proclamation in which he said that he would never consent "to any compromise with those abominations which go by the name of liberalism, constitutionalism and parliamentarianism, or to the smallest modification of my religious ideas or hereditary rights." What these "ideas" and "rights" actually are may be judged from two decrees promulgated by him during an insurrection that for a time seemed likely to succeed. The first provided that "whoever attends any worship which is not of the Roman Catholic church shall be punished by banishment from the kingdom." The second was no less stringent. It enacted that "the Spaniard who forsakes the Roman Catholic church for any other sect or creed will be punished with life-long banishment, but the offender will be permitted to return on making a public recantation of his errors." It says much for the benighted condition of Spain that such a man should be able to command a public support which has always been dangerous and that has sometimes seemed to be effective and deadly. Perhaps it speaks no less eloquently of the misgovernment that can make such a man a preferable alternative.

THE NEW RAILROAD COLOSSUS.

When, about fifteen years ago, Russel Sage chuckled to himself because he had unloaded the decrepit Iowa Central Railroad, made up of a few short tracks beginning and ending nowhere, upon Edwin Hawley, a man comparatively unknown to the railroad world, the old capitalist had no idea that he was starting an incipient railway magnate upon a brilliant career. Hawley had previously strung some short pieces in Minnesota together and extended them down to the Iowa State line, and these, together with the Iowa Central, formed the beginning of the Minneapolis and St. Louis system. It tapped the newly developed wheat districts of Southern Dakota and Minnesota, and traversed the rich farming country of Central Iowa. These roads, which had gone through bankruptcy and were bought for a song, soon became paying properties under the vigorous management of Hawley and his associates, H. E. Huntington, John E. Searles, Frank Trumbull and others who had faith in their leader.

But his moneyed friends knew their man. Hawley had learned the railroad business from the ground up. His first venture was in the commission business in his native town of Chatham, where, a mere lad, he dealt in poultry, butter and eggs. From there he went to New York and ran a tugboat on his own account. Then he became a clerk in the Erie Railroad office, and later was transferred to the Ohio and Mississippi, thus thoroughly familiarizing himself with office details.

The turning point was when he chanced to make the acquaintance of Collis P. Huntington of California, then the railroad king of the country. That gentleman discerned the remarkable capacity of young Hawley, engaged his services, promoted him rapidly and finally placed him in charge of the New York office, where he handled the various railway and steamship lines with marked success. While in this position he entered the directorate of the Southern Pacific Railroad and was also on the boards of the Texas roads identified with that system. He was thus enabled to master all the details of railroading in every department and in all phases of the work.

When Harriman came into power, Hawley's field in the development of the business was given to another and he formed new connections in different lines. He dipped into copper, coal, iron, lighting, electric power and shipbuilding, but never lost his interest in railroads. He is on the boards of directors of some thirty corporations and keeps close tab on each. Ten years ago he bought the Colorado and Southern, connecting Denver with some Texas towns, for $2,500,000, made some improvements, extended its terminals to the gulf, and sold it the other day to James J. Hill for $17,000,000, clearing several millions in the transaction.

He has recently purchased a controlling interest in the Chicago and Alton and the Toledo and St. Louis, or "Clover Leaf," two important roads which bring the traffic of his other roads to Chicago, St. Louis and Detroit over his own lines. He had already acquired control of the Chesapeake and Ohio, connecting Washington and Newport on the Atlantic seaboard with Cincinnati in the Middle West, and is now buying large blocks of bonds in the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville road, which has recently been struggling against hard luck. These acquisitions give him continuous lines from the Atlantic shore to the far Northwest, while his friendly relations with Hill will enable him to make favorable traffic arrangements for Puget Sound and trans-Pacific shipments.

But he will soon reach the Pacific Coast by an independent route. He has a considerable interest in the new Stillwell road—the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, terminating at Topolobampo on the Gulf of California, thus giving him a complete transcontinental line from ocean to ocean—the first to be entirely controlled by a single individual. Besides the various roads mentioned, Hawley has large holdings in the extensive southern systems of the Louisville and Nashville and the Atlantic Coast Line, with which it is intimately connected.

Among the prominent financiers with whom this new railway king is associated in his numerous corporate enterprises are Speyer & Co., Banker Vanderlip, Paul Morton, Crosby Brown, and Fisk & Robinson of New York; Henry Walters of Baltimore, F. W. Scott of Richmond, J. W. Castles of New Orleans, M. E. Ingalls of Cincinnati, Banker John J. Mitchell of Chicago, and H. E. Huntington of Los Angeles. The railway lines which he and his associates control aggregate more than 14,000 miles in length, their gross earnings exceed $130,000,000 a year, they yield a net income of $45,000,000 and pay in dividends more than $10,000,000.

In brief, Edwin Hawley is the new and formidable colossus who has lately sprung into the limelight, whose methods are now being studied and closely watched by the danisens of Wall street and railroad men everywhere, eager to divine the purpose and trend of every move he makes on the railway chessboard of the United States. We have gone into these details to an unusual extent because it is interesting to watch the evolution of a railway magnate and financial king while the process is going on.

AN EYE ON 1912.

It is a far cry to 1912, but the political chessmen are already maneuvering for position. This is especially true of our esteemed friends, the Democrats, who, it is popularly supposed, will have a candidate in the field at the next Presidential election. Just what claim they will carry to the people for their indorsement is yet unborn, but that several aspirants will be in the field for the doubtful honor of a nomination is assured. Eliminating William Jennings Bryan from the roll, an Ohio man already has all sails set for "the port of missing men."

Reference is had to Gov. Harmon of Ohio, who, last fall, aided and abetted by the local-option furore, was able to land a winner in that State by the comfortable majority of 40,000. That victory has made Harmon see visions and dream dreams, and he must be counted among those "prominently mentioned" for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Judson Harmon belongs to the conservative wing of the national Democracy and is the antithesis of the Bryanic type of latter-day Bourbons. He is what is popularly known as a Cleveland Democrat, having served as Attorney-General during a part of the last administration of President Cleveland, and stands for all that Cleveland ever stood for in matters of party and national policy. A strict constitutionalist, but slightly tinged with the fetich of free trade, an advocate of sound money, he represents all that is best in the tenets of the Democratic party. Whether the party will be sane enough to nominate such a man three years hence remains to be seen.

In 1908 Harmon was a prospective candidate for the Democratic nomination, but he had yet to earn his honors in Ohio. Besides, he was hamstrung by many of his own party friends in Ohio, who were bound to the chariot wheels of the Nebraskan. Since that time Harmon has carried Ohio, a sturdy Republican State, and has designs on a second term as chief executive. If he should win again he must be reckoned with when the time arrives for the Democrats in national convention assembled to choose a victim.

Ohio has been performing most unseemly political gymnastics of late on the question of the Governorship. In 1905 the Democrats elected the late John M. Pattison, because the Republican nominee, Gov. Herrick, during his first term had offended the temperance element in that State. Three years later it chose Harmon, because Gov. Harris, who succeeded to the chair upon the death of Pattison, was too friendly to the temperance elements. But with President Taft a probable candidate to succeed himself in 1912, the story from Ohio would be different; for Harmon, with all the aid of his superb machine now in full operation in the Buckeye State, would not be able to carry it. However, so far as the Democrats are concerned, the hope of Harmon is in the lap of the gods.

WHY IS A BATHING SUIT?

The season at the beach resorts opens up merrily. And the first gun, as you might say, has been fired from picturesque La Jolla, which far-famed name the eastern tourists pronounce exactly as it is spelled, in their ignorance of our soft Castilian form of speech bequeathed to us by Rodrigues Cabrillo on his voyage of discovery in 1542.

The situation at La Jolla was exploited in The Times of yesterday by our regular correspondent at that port of entry, or of call, as the case may be. Before the correspondent's complete story could land itself in the telegraph room the entire circuit of wires running south were burned up three times consecutively with the tremendous heat. Finally, however, the following was successfully hooked:

"A petition has been presented by certain residents of La Jolla, asking that bathers be required to wear costumes extending below the knees and to fit closely about the neck; also that no one in bathing costume be allowed farther than 300 feet inland from the surf line. This latter is for the purpose of excluding bathers in scant attire from visiting the shops or going in and out of the postoffice. A covering over the forms of those thus attired is asked when they emerge over the dead line of 300 feet."

We greatly fear that if the authorities grant this petition it will interfere materially with the prosperity of La Jolla. It is all very well to advertise the other attractions, such as the caves and the literary colony, but people will not go to the south coast just to see a hole in the side of a bluff or a female poet who wears screw curls. In order to draw the public in these days of sharp and keen competition, a resort must deal in thrillers. It must have something unique—features that induce bald-headed men with money to travel long distances and to spend weeks at the principal boarding-houses.

None who have ever visited La Jolla will dispute that it has had a great asset in its particular style of bathing suits, coupled with the [illegible] next-to-nature freedom with which [illegible] There wasn't much to them, it is [illegible] they lacked in yards they more [illegible] in drawing qualities. The biggest [illegible] be safely stowed away in an ordinary [illegible] bag.

We scarcely know just what to say [illegible] unfortunate and ill-timed controversy [illegible] two sides to every question, and [illegible] must also be two sides to a bathing [illegible] were not true, matters might be even [illegible] cated at La Jolla than they are now. [illegible] that it is not the sides, but the ends, of [illegible] suit, that are complained of. The [illegible] affirmative is that the sea-going [illegible] Jolla end too abruptly, both at the [illegible] and the bottoms as well. On the [illegible] the other leg, as we would better say, [illegible] is asserted by the negative that this is a [illegible] try and, as long as the ocean doesn't [illegible] should rank outsiders who never go [illegible] anyway, butt in and make trouble?

Let us hope that some sort of compromise [illegible] be reached. What is an inch or two at [illegible] both ends of a bathing suit between friends [illegible] how would it do to fix certain hours [illegible] during which those who consider themselves [illegible] would have permission to turn their backs [illegible] the mountains?

whose wedding last evening was of interest to friends in this city and the East.

MRS. WILLIAM H. BONSALL and Mrs. Thomas Philips Newton yesterday entertained a large number of friends at the California Club, at an enjoyable tea, in honor of Mrs. Albert M. Bonsall, a recent bride. Quantities of pink sweet peas and palms graced the rooms. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, Mrs. I. N. Van Nuys, Mrs. W. G. Cochran, Mrs. Earl B. Millar, Mrs. Frank Burnett, Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, Mrs. E. A. Preuss, Mrs. Carrie Schumacher, Mrs. Cameron Erskine Thom, Mrs. William H. Joyce, Mrs. Addie Freisner, Mrs. Leo Chandler, Mrs. Dan L. McFarland, Mrs. Victor Stewart, Miss Carrie Waddilove, Miss Lou Winder, Miss Letha Lewis, Miss Florence Silent, Miss May Ridgway, Miss Sarah Plater McFarland, Miss Annis Van Nuys, Miss Louise Burke, Miss Sallie Utley, Miss Mildred Burnett and Miss Mary Witmer. An interesting musical programme was rendered by Arend.

Interesting Wedding.

Miss Mary Olive Liston made a charming bride yesterday. Her wedding to Harry Abeles, which was solemnized at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Arthur Liston of West Seventh street, was of interest to many friends in the East as well as this city. The bride wore a pretty gown of white silk voil, lace trimmed, and carried a shower of bride roses. The only attendants were little Emory Liston and Bernice Bedel, who assisted as ringbearer and flower girl. Clyde Liston, brother of the bride, accompanied by Miss Johnson, played the wedding marches, and Mrs. William Beach sang "I Love You Truly." The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh Smith, a friend of the family. The home was ornamented with a profusion of pink sweet peas and asparagus plumosus. Mr. and Mrs. Abeles left last evening for San Francisco, and later will visit Seattle and Lake Tahoe. After August 1 they will receive their friends at No. 1231½ West Seventh street.

Outing Pleasant.

Roberts-Dawson Wedding.

Miss Sadie Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Roberts of No. 139 New York street, was married last evening to Earnest Dawson, a young business man. The service was read at the bride's home by Rev. J. Horace Mallows. Miss Roberts looked dainty in a white gown, trimmed with lace. She carried white blossoms. Shasta daisies and Matilija poppies were combined gracefully in decorating the house. Mrs. J. H. McClintock, Bernice McClintock and Mrs. Frank R. Thomas had charge of the music. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson will spend their honeymoon at Lake Tahoe and will later reside at No. 1231 Wright street, where they will receive after July 15.

Church Weddnig.

Another wedding yesterday was that of Mrs. Bessie Rowland and Harvey L. Horton, which was solemnized in the Naomi-avenue Christian Church, the pastor, Rev. Willis Myers, officiating. The young people stood beneath a canopy of greenery and carnations, from which was suspended a large wedding bell. Arches of ferns and carnations added to the pretty arrangement. The bride wore white chiffon silk, trimmed with baby Irish lace, and carried bride roses. Her sister, Miss Leta Winer, in white organdy and lace, with an arm bouquet of Shasta daisies, was maid of honor. The Misses Kate Errett and Ellena Horton, the two bridesmaids, were gowned alike in white organdy. They also carried Shasta daisies. Little Dorothy Horton scattered rose petals along the path of the bridal party, and Ernest Roland carried the ring. Raymond Horton was best man, and the groomsmen were Norman Horton and Allen Spencer. The ushers were John Cole, James Myers, Leonard Wright and Walter Werden. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Winer of No. 1151 East Adams street. Mr. Horton and his bride will be at home to friends at No. 2310 Naomi avenue, after July 16.

From Berkeley to Beach.

Miss Anita Putsker, daughter of Prof. Albin Putsker of the University of California, who has been visiting friends in Los Angeles, spent yesterday at Santa Monica.

Miss Olive Davidson of San Francisco, after a month's visit with two of her Stanford friends, Miss Marguerite Griffin of No. 1146 West Thirty-seventh street, and Miss Florence Fellows of No. 148 West Forty-sixth street, left for home this week. Many affairs were given in compliment to the visitor, among them a theater party, presided over by Miss Fellows, and a dinner party of which Miss Griffin was hostess.

STEAMSHIP FINE REMITTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 24.—Remission of the fine imposed on the Toyo Kaisen Steamship Company on the charge of violating the coastwise shipping laws in recently landing Mrs. Timmons, daughter of former Vice-President Fairbanks of San Francisco, is provided in a decision just rendered by Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor McHarg.

Mrs. Timmons recently sailed from San Francisco with her mother and father for a world cruise, but at Honolulu, on cable advices that her husband had been ordered back to shore duty, she returned to San Francisco on the Japanese boat.

This violated the law which imposes a fine of $200 on a foreign steamship company for each passenger carried from one American port to another. The fine was remitted because of the unusual nature of the case.

PRINCESS BEATRAZE NAMED.

MADRID, June 24.—The ceremony of placing the name of the little Princess Beatraze on the civil register, took place yesterday at La Granja. In addition to the name of Beatraze, the Princess was given the names of Maria Teresa Bienvenide. The Queen and the little infanta are doing well.

RESTORING COMPLEXIONS

Two ounces Rose Water; one ounce Spirits of Cologne; four ounces Sartoin. Put the Sartoin into a pint of hot water (not boiling) and when dissolved and cooled add the Rose Water and Spirits of Cologne and strain through a fine cloth. Any large bottle will serve as a receptacle if it can be closed air-tight.

These simple ingredients can be obtained at any well stocked drug store and easily mixed at home. This preparation should be applied once a day after washing. It is said the results become apparent after the first few applications, but the treatment should be continued until the rose tint complexion becomes permanent.

SATURDAY

(tomorrow) we will have on exhibition a variety of DECORATED WEDDING and PARTY CAKES and SUGAR FLOWERS done by MR. C. FREUND, recently of SHERRY'S, NEW YORK CITY.

This announcement will be of importance to the society ladies of Los Angeles upon the eve of so many important social functions.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

To advocate the use of paper flowers in this land where roses bloom from January to December, seems at first thought folly. Nothing ever was, or ever will be, so beautiful as the natural blossoms—but they will wither and fade—sometimes before their mission as decorations is fulfilled. They are as fragile and perishable as they are sweet and lovely. The item of expense in floral decorations here, compared with eastern cities, is at the minimum. Many of us grow our own flowers, and most of us can always get enough blossoms in our own yard or that of an obliging neighbor, to adorn our rooms for ordinary purposes.

In the East it is not so, except at certain seasons of the year. A modest bunch of violets costs $1 on Fifth avenue and New York florists demand fabulous prices for their treasures. Hence the paper flower and the paper decorations have attained a vogue there and in other eastern cities which, during the last few months, has assumed proportions of rivalry with the florists.

A certain Los Angeles art firm has, within the past month, summoned here a young woman from New York who is an expert in the manufacture of paper flowers and decorations. She can take a bit of crepe paper and, with a deft twist or two, transform it into an Easter lily, or a jonquil, or a rose, that is such an exact copy of its model in real life that, three feet away, you would declare it was identical. This young woman artist has all sorts of clever ideas tucked away in her pretty brain. It was under her direction that the big ballroom for the famous "Bal de Tete," in New York, was decorated last January. Senator and Mrs. Root, Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce and the French Ambassador, M. Jusserand and wife, were among the patronesses of this brilliant affair. The decorative scheme was carried out in a network of wistaria blossoms, pendant from the ceiling, the plumy petals of these oriental flowers drooping from the vines in the most natural manner. An immense ball swung from the center of the ceiling and from it branched ropes of twisted paper which, at a certain time, were pulled, setting free a multitude of air balloons which floated above the heads of the fashionable throng. The women wore fascinating paper head-dresses, and when these many-colored balloons fluttered from their moorings, filling the upper atmosphere like so many gay birds of Paradise, the scene was like fairyland.

If you are passing through upper Broadway today you will notice a window in this art store to which I refer filled with samples of these wonderful crepe paper flowers and decorations. There is a huge wedding bell and there are chimes of smaller bells, and there are garlands of white wistaria, and there are baskets of daffodils. You will notice also, the fronds of asparagus here. These, I am told, are the real ferns which have been so treated that they will literally last forever without a shadow of turning color or withering. One can get a few sprays of these ferns and use them repeatedly.

SOME CHARMING CONCEPTIONS.

Just now this artist decorator is very busy arranging schemes for luncheons, banquets and weddings. She showed me one design for an engagement party which is so charming I must give at least a hint of the scheme. It is to be a yellow luncheon and the centerpiece is a charming basket with high handles, made of yellow crepe paper, in two shades, and filled with lovely, long-stemmed jonquils, to each of which is attached a yellow satin ribbon, which extends to the plate and is tied to the place cards, which are heart-shaped. At the close of the luncheon, each guest pulls the ribbon and draws to her a basket with a pretty souvenir attached. Charming little baskets with handles tied to the handles and filled with yellow candies, will stand at each plate. The ceiling of the dining-room for this enchanting feast will be draped by garlands of wistaria in shades of yellow, and the candles and chandelier will have yellow wistaria shades.

FOR A WEDDING.

For a coming wedding a perfect model of an ocean greyhound is being made of paper. This design is distinctly appropriate, because the bridal pair are going to Honolulu on their wedding trip. The cargo of this fairy-like ship is wholly made up of pale pink roses—a hint of the gorgeous sunset in their inner petals. This will form the centerpiece for the dining room and the bride and groom will stand during the ceremony under a huge bell of roses. Immediately after the ceremony four tiny pages will instantaneously pull the pendant ribbons and a shower of petals will flutter down over the happy couple.

* *

For a Dutch Lunch.

If you want to give a novel Dutch luncheon you may have for your centerpiece a Dutch windmill or a wooden shoe filled with tulips. The most becoming Dutch sunbonnets done in pink and white crepe paper and with broad, flaring brims of paper tied with pink ribbons depending from the back, may be used as favors—a sunbonnet (these are of the regulation size) hung over the chair of each guest. The usual almond or bonbon cases may be a little Dutch boy or girl, or a goose basket filled with the favors or candles. Overhead may be a mass of blue festoons carrying out the Dutch idea.

In whatever she may purchase or make, she may purchase her materials, take a lesson or two, and make her own paper flowers and decorations. The prices, when one takes into consideration the lasting effects, are not exorbitant.

Some Farmers.

Mrs. H. W. R. Strong of Whittier goes to the National Council of Women of the United States, now in session at Toronto, where she has been asked to speak on "Women in Agriculture." Probably no woman in California is better qualified to discuss this topic than Mrs. Strong, who has made a Whittier ranch into a model of cultivation, and to whom much of the credit belongs for making the prune a thing of commerce. I remember when she made her debut in New York several years ago for the purpose of pushing the attractiveness of these graceful plumes to the front. She had an audience, I believe, with the late Ward McAllister, social dictator of the "Four Hundred" of Gotham, to place before him the possibilities of the ostrich plume for decorative purposes. Since then she has advocated their use, the popularity of these plumes has wonderfully increased. Just now thousands of birds are being pressed into service—ornamental devices for the coming Elks' convention.

In the current number of Collier's, Arthur Ruhl has an interesting article pointing out the contrast between the Vassar College girl of the present day, western sister co-ed of the University of Wisconsin with its army of men and women—lawyers, farmers, engineers and school teachers-to-be. Some splendid women farmers have been turned out from the latter institution, which, wholly dependent on the State Legislature, has for its keynote the accomplishment of practical results, for the Legislature of a middle western agricultural State is not going to spend money on highfalutin bric-a-brac. Indeed, the work of its agricultural department has been so much in the public limelight that some of the undergraduates of the academic wing are inclined to think they have a grievance. "People seem to think we haven't anything here but cows and co-eds," they say.

Mr. Ruhl points out that whereas one Vassar girl he knew, on emerging from her four years' cloister in a quiet park, surrounded by feminine cultude, admitted that the only man she could consider as a prospective husband would be a chief justice of the Supreme Court; the Wisconsin co-ed, after four years' association with young men on an equal footing, expresses herself as follows: "We are not perfect. We don't ask to be worshiped. We have no use in the business of daily life for an aureole or pedestal. They are both troublesome to tote around. We would rather at any time be first-rate human beings than any poor, second-rate goddesses."

Seasonable Suggestions.

Carnations appear on summer hats, in the softest shades of pink as well as in white and red.

Some of the three-quarter lace coats are jetted. They are made with as well as without sleeves.

A white crepe de chine scarf with shirred stripe border and gold metal fringed ends is very pretty.

Jaunty little tea coats have gained a wild-fire popularity. They are worn with skirts to match.

BRIDE'S LIFE SADLY WRECKED.

SAYS HUSBAND'S PARENTS BROKE UP THEIR HOME.

Mrs. Walter Gadsby of Portland Is Suing Capt. William Gadsby for $200,000, Alleging That He Has Alienated His Son from Her and Sold Possessions.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 20.—When the case comes to trial of Mrs. Beatrice Gadsby, wife of Walter Gadsby, against her parents-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. William Gadsby, it is promised by the plaintiff and her attorneys that a tale will be unfolded which will set by the ears the circle wherein move Portland's first families.

Mrs. Gadsby, beautiful, young and the daughter of George H. Hill, a leading business man, wants from the senior Gadsby couple $200,000 because, so she alleges, they have robbed her of her home, her husband and all that life holds dear.

It is a pitiful story as the girl-wife tells it; the story of a husband after his marriage still firmly tied to his mother's apron strings, of two doting parents encouraging their son to believe he was too good for his wife, of their treating her with greater and greater coldness, culminating finally in their sending her husband away and selling her home and household goods while she lay ill at the home of her own parents with her first baby by her side.

Capt. Gadsby is the owner of one of the largest furniture houses in the Northwest, and his wealth is rated well up toward the half-million mark. When his son married Beatrice Hill he was apparently well pleased. Portland's best set showed interest in the union of members of two of its best-known families, and the beginning of the young couple's married life was most auspicious.

"I was very happy at first," relates the girl-wife. "I loved Walter and he loved me, but I soon saw that Mother Gadsby did not like to have Walter bestow his affection on me. She was jealous and showed it in every way. She and Capt. Gadsby wanted me to do just as they told me about everything. They thought I was not Walter's equal. They humiliated me on many occasions, and when I went to Walter for help and sympathy he said he was afraid to antagonize his mother; that if he did he would be disinherited in favor of his brother.

"Capt. Gadsby had given Walter a beautiful home when we were first married, and they wanted me to give it up and come to live at their house, so Walter could be with them all the time and they could watch me. When I objected they sent Walter away to British Columbia, and when I became ill I went to my parents' home. Then Capt. and Mother Gadsby sold our home and all our furniture, even to our wedding presents, so that when I got well there was no place for me to go.

"I love Walter, and would like to return to him, but they will not let him have me. They have taken from me everything, and my life is wrecked."

Religion in the Schools.

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Bishop Johnson in his able sermon before the Normal School, in setting forth the fact that the teaching of religion has no legitimate place in the public school, advised the teacher to live up to his contract with the State, which he affirmed was "that you confine yourself to the mental training of the children committed to your care." This would forbid the inculcation of truthfulness honesty, obedience to rightful authority, cleanliness of thought, speech and action, to say nothing of patriotism and honor. These are not religion, neither are they within the sphere of "mental training." The bishop speaks of the child as he enters the school as a "little human plant endowed with memory, understanding and will." But the little human plant has another side to his being, call it by what name you may. Perhaps the bishop would have the child leave this faculty at home on entering the public school. The fact is that he not only takes it along, but enters a little world where ethics play as large a part proportionately as in the greater world outside. To meet the ethical questions of school life no appeal need be made to religion. There is a substantial agreement among all sects and religions as to what is beautiful and noble in moral character, and "the little human plant" may be depended on to know some things without being taught, as for instance, that right is right.

No one appreciates the importance of this quality of training more than the bishop; but he insists that while the public schools rule out all such teaching, we force home to the hearts of the parent his awful obligation to look after the religion and morals of the child he has brought into the world. This theory is fitted to an ideal condition; still no one knows better than the bishop with his wide knowledge of the homes of the people, that to relegate this task to the present day home is in large part to have it neglected. Since we are not even on the edge of the ideal condition presupposed, the question arises what shall we do in the meantime? How are we to bring in a social and civil millennium if it must be done through moral training in the home and this home is in so many cases unfitted and so often unwilling to assume this task.

In view of the fact that in spite of the excellent ethical training in many homes, the influence of the church and kindred institutions, "the little human plant" so often turns out to be a common and often bad kind of weed, it seems superfluous to caution teachers in the public school against giving the aid which their position enables them to do, and which so many of them are doing, to the unspeakable advantage of the State.

ELBERT S. TODD.

A Crack at Firecrackers.

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you kindly, through the columns of your paper, call attention to the nuisance of promiscuous firecracker shooting? The Fourth of July is nearly two weeks off, and the noise and accidents have already begun. There is a law against it: let it be enforced. If parents have not got the sense to stop their children: if they can't teach them to obey the law, let them pay the fine.

OUTDOOR INSTITUTE.

Sunday-school Teachers Enjoy Day's Outing in Sycamore Grove and Hear Interesting Talk.

The Los Angeles Graded Union of Sunday-school Teachers held an outdoor institute in Sycamore Grove on Wednesday, attended by over 100 teachers. During the morning, the last of a series of teacher-training lectures was delivered by Rev. R. A. Hadden. Two hours were spent at the lunch tables, during which there were toasts, stories and songs, the soloists being Mrs. J. E. Ward and Miss Lucy Brower. There were devotional exercises in the afternoon, led by Mrs. Crabbe, and the party divided into sections and studied next Sunday's lesson. All Sunday-school workers are invited to the meetings of the union, which are held in Temple Auditorium every Wednesday morning at 9:45 o'clock.

SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST.

IG CASH PRIZE TEMPTS MANY CONTESTANTS TO TRY FOR IT.

Young Pasadena Fiddler Has His Eye on the Big Purse and Hopes to Win It to Complete His Musical Education. Antelope Valley Girl After the Money—Hollywood and San Fernando in It.

HE announcement in yesterday's Times of the large cash prize and scholarship offering of The Times the educational Marathon of 1909, ised quite a stir among the young ple who are bent upon getting some the good things, educational, to be n away by The Times this sum-he grand capital prize of $500 in coin, to be used by the winner in way he, or she, may wish in ad-cing his, or her, education, caused eyes of some of the ambitious ones bulge and their mouths to water. at $500 plum on the educational tree tainly looks good to all of the con-tants and a good many of them will ke Herculean efforts to shake it.

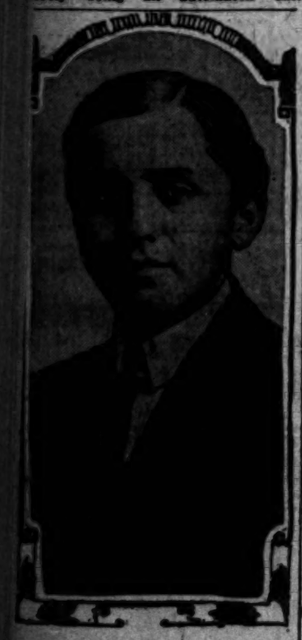
PASADENA LAD WANTS IT.

ne of those who will make the most termined effort to win the big prize Raymond Austin of Pasadena. Ray-nd is a fiddler—a violinist, if you ase—of much talent. He draws bow quite skilfully in a Pasadena chestra, but he is not satisfied with rely being an automaton unit



Raymond Austin,

among an aggregation of players. He wants to improve his talent and perfect himself both in technique and the interpretation of music and eventually shine as a soloist and a master of the king of musical instruments. Raymond is figuring how many lessons from a famed maestro he could buy with that $500, or how long a course he could take in some high-class conservatory of music with fifty golden eagles ($500.) He is going after the big money with all the might and vigor that is in him, and it will take a "braw lad" or a "bonnie lassie" to beat him to it.

DARING DOROTHY.

There is at least one bonnie lassie who has the daring to give the Pasadena fiddler a run for the big purse. She is Dorothy Scherer of No. 1636 East Fourteenth street, Los Angeles. Miss Scherer will be just sweet sixteen in July and as she expects a violin for a birthday present, she wants a scholarship or plenty of money to enable her to learn to play it. She is a handsome and attractive girl, with a disposition, so her friends say, to match her good looks. Furthermore, she has the distinction of being a native of the Antelope Valley. Time was (and that not very long ago) when jack rabbits and antelopes were about the only natives of the Antelope Valley. But irrigation has worked wonders in the Antelope Valley, as elsewhere in Southern California, and the Antelope Valleyans may point with pride to Miss Dorothy Scherer as a product of that region. Her folks came to California from Texas, first settling in the Antelope Valley, but the family has resided in Los Angeles for the last eight years. Dorothy's father, Jacob Scherer, is a retired grocer. She is the youngest of a family of eight children—two sons and six daughters. An older sister of Dorothy, Miss Louise, was in The Times scholarship contest of 1905 and won a scholarship in the Southern California Business College. Dorothy wants a violin scholarship, or money to pay for violin lessons under some good master.

A FAMILY AFFAIR.

By reviewing the list of prize-winners in Times scholarship contests for the past eight years, it would be found that The Times has been educating whole families of children. One member of a family has succeeded another year after year in previous contests, and the contest of 1909 will have many instances of this kind. No better proof of the benefits of these Times contests to the contestants, and the pleasure and satisfaction derived from them, could be had than the fact that so many contestants enter the race for the second or third time, or are succeeded as contestants by sisters or brothers. Most contestants make their candidacy a family affair and everybody works for the success of the boy or girl in it, not even excepting father. The fathers and mothers sometimes take as great interest in the contest as their sons and daughters and the parents not infrequently do most of the work to win the prize for some junior member of the family.

HOLLYWOOD HUSTLERS.

Hollywood has a family, every member of which works, including father. They believe in keeping a good thing once possessed, in the family. Last summer Miss Winifred Spencer of Hollywood succeeded in winning a scholarship in the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts. She was assisted in her campaign by her sister, Lela, and her father, F. P. Spencer, proprietor of the Hollywood Planing Mill. This year Lela will try for a scholarship and her sister and father will help her. Lela thinks one musician is probably enough in the family, so she has decided to try for a business college scholarship. Lela is 14 and Winifred 15 years of age. Young as they are, they have been keeping house for their father and older brother since they lost their mother years ago. Mr. Spencer bought Winifred a bicycle last summer to make it easier for her to gather up the coupons and suscription votes. Since Lela has entered the contest this summer, he will provide her with a bicycle, also, so that both girls can cover more ground while canvassing for votes. Hollywood is scattered over a good deal of ground, but the Spencer sisters are going to try to call on every resident of the beautiful foothill town and the surrounding country, to solicit subscriptions to The Times. Lela requests all who wish to see a Hollywood girl succeed in the race for education to save their subscriptions and coupons for her until she or her sister find time to call for them.

LILY OF THE VALLEY.

The great San Fernando Valley will not go unrepresented in the contest of 1909. Miss Lillian Waite of the old mission town writes thus: "I have just finished High School and wish to go on to college, and would like to work for a scholarship." She requests credentials and necessary blanks so she can begin at once.

If Miss Waite is a sister of Master Lyman C. Waite of San Fernando, who was one of the best boys in the contest of 1904, and is anything like the fine lad her brother was, she will be a worthy representative indeed of the great productive valley which will soon feel the live-giving touch of the Owens River waters.

With such good towns as Fernando, Burbank, Chatsworth, Glendale, etc., and the fine valley farming country to work in, the "Lily of the Valley" should prove one of the most successful of contestants.

Space forbids further mention of the merits of contestants enrolled, in this issue, but other promising candidates will be properly introduced from time to time. The total enrollment at the present time is thirty-eight and the ranks are filling up more and more as the end of the contest approaches.

"It cured me" or "It saved the life of my child" are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures.—[Adv.

He remained the son two years and then went to Colton, but for some reason he did not take the trunk with him. Nelson died later, and it is asserted that the trunk contained most of her husband's money. She will suit against the son to recover it.

It was in testimony that when Nelson was in Los Angeles the son-in-law had a bank account. He was figuring on the financial transactions of the party, Judge Conrey found that the son owed the mother $2500 and rendered judgment for that amount.

CARRYING JUDGE. In the noon recess yesterday Judge Willis united Miss E. Armento and Ruth J. Hall in matrimony. This was the first time that the genial court had performed this ceremony, and he gave the occasion all of the frills of a wedding. Armento is an old friend of Judge Willis, and thought no one could tie the knot quite so securely as he.

COMMITTED INSANE. Henry Hirokichi Hirai, Adrian Lafayette Goodwin and W. H. Corbin were adjudged insane by the Lunacy Commission yesterday, and sent to the Insane Asylum.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

FAIL SENTENCE FOR SPEEDING.

THIRTY DAYS IS PENALTY FOR RECKLESS DRIVING.

Alleged Victim of Business Man's Fists Hobbles Into Court Badly—Wife Not Present at Trial of Husband, Who Left Her Girl.

Sharpless, a young business man with offices in the Equitable Building, was sentenced to thirty days in the city jail by Police Justice Chambers yesterday. He had been found guilty of reckless driving and running into A. Marcotti of No. 1616 Redondo street, at Forty-first Place and Avalon avenue, March 11. Marcotti suffered injuries which necessitated the amputation of his right leg at the knee.

Sharpless, in addition to the testimony Sharpless gave during thirty-five miles an hour, was on the wrong side of the street, and collided with Marcotti, who was riding a bicycle. Though Marcotti was thrown to the pavement and his bicycle smashed, Sharpless increased the damage to his machine and drove over the man, causing lacerations and bruises about the head and body. Marcotti's left leg was broken in two places. Sharpless filed notice of appeal and was released on bond for his appearance in Superior Court. His crippled victim was the most important witness for the prosecution, hobbling to the witness stand on crutches.

Derry in Court.

Derry, who was arrested in this city last week, for deserting his wife and eloping with Miss Elsa Nelson, aged 427 North Figueroa street, was arraigned before Police Judge Fredericksen yesterday. He pleaded guilty and was held for sentence July 2. His wife and mother appeared at Central Station, but did not enter the courtroom.

Jim Gets Off Easy.

Auto Speeders Fined.

Two auto speeders were fined by Police Judge Fredericksen yesterday morning. Hall was fined $15, A. E. Hall and H. Sherman $20 each, R. H. Sherman $20 and Frank Hattermeritte $5, which was paid.

Pickpocket Thief Caught.

Charles Morris was arraigned before Police Justice Fredericksen yesterday on the charge of stealing $5 from a man at home on North Main street. His examination was set for March 11. Morris was detected in the act of

HE'S HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

Eduardo Ramirez, formerly of Nogales, Mex., is held at the County Jail, without bail, to await the arrival of extradition papers from the State Department at Washington. The prisoner is charged with forging custom-house bills for merchandise. He and his brother transacted an extensive business at Nogales, which is located partly in Arizona, and partly in Mexico. As manufacturers agents, it is alleged the two brothers undervalued importations of goods and transacted other illegal business. Eduardo Ramirez came to Los Angeles some time ago, but has not been engaged in business. He states he is closely related to several prominent Mexican families and expects aid from them. The United States District Attorney has no particulars of the alleged crime, but will hold the prisoner to await an examination on the question of extradition to Mexico.

ROGERS'S CASE WITH COURT.

After lengthy arguments by Deputy District Attorney McCormick and Attorney George Adams in Justice Ling's court last night, the cases of J. S. Rogers and Erneet E. Rogers were taken under advisement. The two defendants are charged with compounding a felony. According to the evidence introduced by the prosecution, they tried to extort $400 upon the alleged promise they would secure the dismissal of a case then pending against Frank Dunham, Jr. By means of a clever woman detective of the District Attorney, it was shown that Mrs. Dunham handed Ernest Rogers $400. The defense claims the money was paid in settlement of a debt contracted by Dunham, and that it was not for the purpose of quashing criminal prosecution.

PARSON M'CROSSAN'S CASE.

The case against Rev. Charles McCrossan, who is charged with issuing a fraudulent mining prospectus, is dragging along in Justice Summerfield's court. Attorney Earl Rogers will probably aid in the defense today. In his absence, Attorney Paul Schenck has been looking after McCrossan's interests. The case may not be concluded for several days.

ELLIOTT TAKEN EAST.

Ben Elliott, one of the former suspects in the Poitera murder case, was taken East by his father yesterday. He will be put to work on a ranch near La Mure, N. D. Sheriff Hammel subjected young Elliott to a searching examination, and concluded he had nothing to do with the terrible murder.

WANT IT CANCELLED.

A complaint was filed in the United States District Court yesterday, asking that naturalization granted to Albert Lucas Powell be cancelled on account of alleged irregularities in making out the application for citizenship.

LIQUOR INDICTMENT.

Horatio Jiminis, a prisoner in the County Jail, has been indicted by the Federal grand jury, charged with introducing liquor on an Indian reservation. He will probably be arraigned next Monday.

A MINOR BANKRUPTCY.

Edgar R. Derry, Jr., of this city filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in the United States District Court yesterday. His stated liabilities are $751 and assets $100.

BRYAN, JUNIOR, MARRIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

GRAND LAKE (Colo.) June 24.—William J. Bryan, Jr., and Miss Helen Virginia Berger, daughter of Alexander Berger of Milwaukee, were married at 8:30 this morning at Kinnikinic Lodge, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Levering, on the west shore of Grand Lake. The wedding was a quiet affair, and only the immediate families of the couple were present. The ceremony was performed out of doors, under a great pine tree and on the shore of the lake, Rev. H. S. Huntington of Crete, Neb., officiating.

Miss Edna Baker of Lincoln, Neb., was maid of honor, and Samuel Berger, brother of the bride, was best man. The bridal party were gowned in white. The bride-elect carried lilies of the valley, and wore a tiara of the same flower, and the maid of honor carried lavender sweet peas. The little flower girl, Mary Berger of Milwaukee, cousin of the bride, carried pink sweet peas in her flower basket.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, Jr., will spend their honeymoon at Grand Lake, and will leave about September 1 for Tucson, Ariz., where they expect to make their home for the next two years.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

PASADENA.

FIVE PEOPLE NEAR TO DEATH IN BIG AUTO.

Machine Smashed, But of Occupants Only Driver Is Injured—Sugar Planter Fears Japanese Control of Hawaiian Islands—Holmes Cancels Lease of Green Hotel.

PASADENA, June 25.—Benjamin Newman, proprietor of the Bonita Hotel in Arcadia, and one of the owners of the Newman ranch at El Monte, narrowly escaped death at Arcadia shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Newman was at the wheel of his big touring car, returning from a trip with his wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mullen and Mrs. E. Judd.

As he approached the Santa Fé Railroad tracks just east of the Hotel Oakwood the women screamed "Here comes the train, look out!" Newman became confused, stopped his car right on the track, attempted to back up, and then started ahead.

Eye witnesses state that there was a most sensational scattering of skirts and chorus of cries as the women hurled themselves out of the tonneau of the touring car; that they went over the back and out at the sides, and the three women and W. C. Mullen succeeded in freeing themselves just as the big engine of the San Bernardino local bore down upon the frantic driver. With a terrific crash it caught the machine amidship, tossing it up the track some distance, reducing it to kindling wood and twisted scrap iron. Newman was hurled fifty feet and was picked up for dead. Coroner Calvin Hartwell was on the train, and said that the automobile was the most complete wreck he has ever seen. The train was delayed about twenty minutes. It was the same local that killed Patrolman Jack Slade in Pasadena three weeks ago.

The injured man was carried to the porch of a saloon near the railroad crossing and was given attendance. The report was sent to Pasadena that he had been instantly killed, and friends here hurried to the scene of the accident, to find that Newman had been removed to his home, regained consciousness and was in a fair way to recover. He suffered severe scalp wounds and may be injured internally, although it is believed by attending physicians that this will not prove the case.

PARKINGS UNWIDENED.

The movement to widen the parkings of North Raymond avenue between Chestnut and Villa street, a distance of about one mile, by sacrificing the width of the street, was defeated at a meeting of the property owners last night, by a vote of 18 to 2. Discussion was spirited, one faction desiring to widen the parkings from three and a half feet to five and a half feet. Those opposing the movement won the control, establishing a precedent in such a case in this city.

FEARS JAPANESE CONTROL.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Spalding, the latter formerly Miss Elsa Benr of this city, will leave tomorrow for Kealia, Kauai, of the Hawaiian Islands, to be gone until spring. Ruy Spalding is president of the Makee Sugar Company on the Island of Kauai.

"While no Japanese laborers have gone on strike on the northern island," said Spalding yesterday, "there is no question but that there is imminent danger in the Hawaiian group from the rapidly-increasing Japanese population and growing sentiment of the Japanese socialistic press. Apparently little is thought of the late trouble there by the people of this Coast, but on the islands there is a well-grounded fear that some day the Japanese will attempt to create a base on the islands and master the situation. Of course, that would mean war with the United States."

Spalding also spoke of the action of the government in allowing thousands of acres of government land to lie fallow when it is adaptable to the growing of sugar. The output of sugar on the Island of Kauai has fallen off 40 per cent. because leased lands have been called in by the government.

HOLMES LEAVES GREEN.

It was announced here today that J. H. Holmes has canceled his lease of the Hotel Green which went into effect last winter for a term of years and that all business relations between Col. G. G. Green and himself are severed. This announcement will occasion much surprise, as Holmes was connected with the big hostelry for many years as manager; considered his lease favorable and did a splendid and profitable business last season. At present he is managing a hotel at San Rafael near San Francisco. It is confidently believed that he will return here in the fall to become connected with one of the larger hotels of Southern California and his name has been mentioned in connection with the Maryland, the Virginia, the U. S. Grant Hotel at San Diego, and even with the Idle Wentworth. He has denied all rumors. No one has been named to succeed him as lessee or manager of the Green. Col. Green is at his summer home in the east.

PEARL DUBBS FREED.

The cases against Miss Pearl Dubbs, charging her with arson and burglary, were dismissed yesterday on motion of the prosecuting attorney, who declared that the young woman is almost a wreck, mentally and physically, and was undoubtedly not responsible for her acts.

RETURNS FROM HONOLULU.

Paul de Longpre Back at Hollywood After Six Weeks in "The Blessed Islands."

HOLLYWOOD, June 24.—Paul de Longpre and Madam de Longpre returned yesterday after spending six weeks in the Hawaiian Islands. Both are greatly improved in health. Mr. De Longpre is enthusiastic over what he calls the "Blessed Islands." He says: "Los Angeles should be the sister of Honolulu, the one completing the other," and that "it is hard to believe that a great city like Los Angeles has not at least one steamer making regular trips to that paradise of the Pacific. It is harder yet to believe that, living in a city of 310,000 people, one has to ride in a train for nearly 500 miles in order to board a steamer for Hawaii, when it would be so easy to have one steamer start from San Pedro. I feel sure that vessel would do an immense business."

He says he passed the six happiest weeks of his life in Honolulu. He and Mrs. De Longpre lived in a cottage next to the one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Longworth on their honeymoon trip. The cottages are in a grove of fourteen acres of 100-year-old cocoanut trees about 200 feet off Waikiti Beach, which Mr. De Longpre considers the finest spot in the world.

Honolulu, with its splendid, dustless macadamized roads, struck the artist as a paradise for automobiles, as well as an ideal place for a perfect rest.

RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

Last night, in Seminary Hall, College of Immaculate Heart, Hollywood, six young ladies were presented with diplomas and gold medals by Mons. Hartnett. Miss Louisa O'Neill delivered the salutatory; the valedictory was in the nature of an essay, the subject of which was "The Masterpieces," read by Miss Mary Boland. Another bright paper dealing with "Celtic Literature" was read by Miss Julia Kearney.

The programme was a delightful musical one, made up of solos, choruses and ensemble work by an orchestra of twenty-five pieces, the numbers being "Spring Night" (Bargeil;) "June Song" (Gretschen;) "Adagio and Rondo" (Weber;) "O Divine Redeemer" (Gounod;) "Euryanthe" (Weber.) Special awards were made thus: For excellence, gold medal donated by Rev. D. W. J. Murphy of Hollywood, was awarded to Martha Pittman; gold medal for Christian doctrine, donated by Rev. George Doyle, awarded to Miss Julia Kearney; gold medal for needlework, awarded to Miss Louise O'Neill. An exhibition of beautiful art and needlework of the pupils was a feature of the closing exercises.

The graduates were: Misses Mary Boland, Blanche Holey, Julia Kearney, Mayme Keller, Louisa O'Neil and Lillian Smith.

AZUSA.

AZUSA, June 24.—The last meeting of the Woman's Club for this season was held yesterday in the club rooms. The subject for the afternoon was "Forestry." Mrs. W. W. Orcutt of Los Angeles read a paper on "What Forestry Means to America." Charles Silent suggested that in view of the fact that $3,000,000 has been subscribed for building good roads in Southern California, but no action has been taken looking toward their beautifying, the club shoud take a small section of one of the roads near here and plant it with cork oak. He also urged that as the yucca is being rapidly exterminated, the members of the club should undertake to plant the foothills and the riverbed so that tourists could take all they desire and still leave enough yuccas to reproduce themselves.

Following the business came the installation of the new officers, of whom Mrs. J. H. Anderson is president.

THERE will be plenty of good fiction in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday.

LAUNCH WAR AGAIN DISTURBS LONG BEACH.

Fight Over Ferry Business to San Pedro—Appeal to Be Made to the City Council by Local Men Who Resent Tactics of Rivals—City Receives Check from County.

LONG BEACH, June 24.—War has again broken out on the wharf between the launch owners who are in the ferry business between Long Beach and San Pedro. During the winter, when business is slack, the San Pedro boatmen stay away from this port, and ticket booths are empty, save for the local men, who pay the year round. As soon as the season opens the San Pedro men come over, pay booth rent for three months, and proceed to divide up the business with the faithful ones.

This morning an agent was installed in one of the booths selling tickets for four San Pedro boats, and at once there was almost a riot. At one time it looked as though a free-for-all fight was imminent, but cooler counsels prevailed, and the matter was straightened out temporarily, pending an appeal to the Council for protection for "home industry."

RECEIVES CHECK.

City Clerk Boynton received a check this morning from the County Treasurer for $541.21, being the balance of the road tax belonging to the Carroll Park district, which was annexed to the city last fall. The city received in all about $1700 of this fund, all of which is being expended in the district for lights, fire hydrants and street improvements.

Postmaster Hirsch today estimated that the receipts for the fiscal year, which will close next Wednesday, will show an increase for the year of 10 per cent.

MOUNTAIN FIRE BEATEN BACK.

JUSTICE WILLIAMS IN BATTLE WITH FLAMES.

Joins Wardens in Their Fight Against First Conflagration of This Season in San Gabriel Canyon. One Thousand Acres Whipped by Blaze, Despite All Efforts.

CAMP RINCON, June 22.—Fighting fire in the San Gabriel Cañon, where the world stands on end, a dozen fire wardens, aided by visitors at Camp Rincon, defeated the first conflagration of the season yesterday, but not until 1000 acres had been whipped by the flames.

In the brigade of fire fighters was Police Justice Williams of Los Angeles and J. H. Russell, County Treasurer Hunt was fishing far up the cañon, and returned too late to help. Judge Williams returned from the battle blackened and disheveled, with clothes burned and ragged.

The blaze originated just below the old silver mine, near Sharp's Flats, and was caused, it is thought, by the cigar butt of a careless camper. Fire Warden H. D. Briggs, proprietor of Camp Rincon, hurried to the scene with a wagonload of men, and joined Fire Warden Glenny of Monrovia, who had a force on the fire line. Seven hours of exhausting work checked the blaze, and saved thousands of acres from devastation. The national forest is well policed this year.

FRIENDS HOLD MEETING.

Quakers Gather in Whittier for Annual Session and Election of Officers.

WHITTIER, June 24.—The fifteenth annual meeting of the Friends' Church is now in session here. It is largely attended, more visitors being present than for many years.

This morning the election of officers was held, the following being elected: John Chawner, presiding clerk; R. Esther Smith, assistant; Susan H. Johnson, recording clerk; George Taylor, announcing clerk; H. E. Harris, official reporter; W. V. Comn, railroad secretary. The presiding clerk was reelected. He has served for nearly twelve years in this capacity.

Among the items of business transacted at today's session was one relating to the manner of conducting the Evangelical work of the churches. Hitherto this has been in charge of a salaried officer, the Evangelistic superintendent. Hereafter the work will be divided between three representatives, one from each of the quarterly meetings.

Opposition developed over changes in the church discipline recommended by the general gathering of the Friends' "Five Year Meeting." The principal change advocated is the discontinuance of what many regard as a needless bit of church machinery, the "meetings of Ministry and Oversight." The duties of this body are similar to those of an executive board, and the discontinuance of this part of the organization is looked upon with favor by many. The opposition to its discontinuance developed almost altogether from among the members of the body itself. After a lengthy discussion the matter was laid aside for one year.

The general church movement for uniting on all common ground was seen today, among the Friends, in the favorable consideration of a resolution in relation to delegates to the peace conference, offered jointly by the "Orthodox," and "Hixite," or "Unitarian" Friends of New York, two branches of the Quakers between which in former years, there has been much friction.

The afternoon session was given over to the work of the Bible Schools and of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society. In the evening a vigorous prohibition address was made by Rev. Charles V. LaFountain of Los Angeles.

The sessions will continue until Tuesday noon, June 29.

Funeral services for E. S. Howard, of this city, were held from the family home on Friends avenue this afternoon, Whittier Lodge of Masons being in charge. Mr. Howard leaves a widow and two children, Miss Hazel Howard of the college faculty, and Bailey Howard, president of this year's graduating class of the High School.

BRIDGING AUTO TRACK.

Rushing Work of Preparing for Big Race Next Month—Santa Monica Ready for Elks.

SANTA MONICA, June 24.—Work is being rushed in the construction of the bridge across Nevada avenue at Fourth street, for the accommodation of the residents and visitors on the day of the automobile road race, July 10. The bridge will bring the section inclosed within the track in touch with the outside world during the progress of the races.

Arrangements are also being made for guarding the course during the races. All streets crossing the course are to be roped. The grand stand is nearing completion and the work on the grading of the course is about finished. The speed ordinance has been withdrawn for the first ten days of July.

In connection with the entertainment of the visiting Elks on Santa Monica Day, July 13, the local committees are arranging a programme of Spanish sports. These are to be given in front of the Ocean-avenue grand stand.

NEW CAR SERVICE.

For the purpose of accommodating the increasing summer travel, the Los Angeles-Pacific electric line will tomorrow, begin a new service between Sawtelle and Venice. This will give a fifteen-minute service through Santa Monica, as the local cars will alternate in both directions with the coaches of the main line.

The annual election of officers for the Women's Club will be held at the meeting next Monday afternoon. A large attendance of the membership is expected.

Joseph R. la Berge has sold his livery business to J. F. Windhorst, of Chico.

E. E. Randall and J. M. Benton have been appointed to fill vacancies on the police force.

Closing exercises of the Academy of Holy Names were held last night in Columbia Hall. There was a large attendance. The programme was musical and literary.

VENICE.

VENICE, June 24.—These are go-as-you-please days for the members of the Southern California Editorial Association, who are the guests during the week of their annual outing of the Venice of America Company. The only business session will be the annual meeting Saturday, when officers will be elected for the new year. This will be followed by a banquet at the ship Cabrillo, and that in turn with a ball at the pavilion.

ARDENTLY SUPPORTS CLAIMS OF COOP

Wisconsin Man Makes Test Wh... Proves Theory to Be Correct

According to L. T. Cooper, who, during the past few years, has become a recognized authority on stomach disorders, the human stomach is responsible for a large majority of ill-health, and nearly all sickness is traceable directly to it. He claims that if the stomach is restored to a normal condition of health and activity in digesting and assimilating food, such ailments as dyspepsia, catarrh, rheumatism, liver and kidney trouble, will quickly disappear. Cooper further claims that his New Discovery preparation will accomplish this result in a very short time, and his claim is supported by statements from many responsible persons living in all parts of the country. Among these is Ernest Gerlach, living at 324 Washington Court, Sheboygan, Wis. Mr. Gerlach says

CITY MARSHAL OVERZEALOUS.

VENTURA OFFICIAL MAY HAVE TO QUIT HIS JOB.

He Is Accused of Striking Prisoner and Then Challenging Him to Gun Fight—Row Arises Over an Alleged Violation of Liquor Law by Barber.

VENTURA, June 24.—City Marshal Russell, may resign his job as he is accused of striking a prisoner, and challenging him to fight a duel. There is some talk of impeaching him.

John Nicholson, a barber, was arrested yesterday upon a charge of violating the local liquor ordinance by keeping liquor in his shop. He had appeared before Justice Ortega, and was given a day in which to plead. In front of the Town Hall he met the Marshall and an argument over the case arose.

The marshal, it is said, struck Nicolson in the mouth. Then, so the story goes, he ran into his office and, despite the efforts of his deputy, Scott Russell, threw a pistol out of the window toward Nicholson, who was standing outside on the sidewalk, jumped out of the window himself, and challenged Nicholson to a gun fight.

The affair created a great deal of excitement in town. This morning Nicholson pleaded not guilty to violating the liquor ordinance, and asked for a jury trial. The case was set for hearing next Tuesday.

BEACH TRACT INCORPORATED.

Articles of incorporation were filed in Los Angeles, yesterday for the Ventura Beach Company, a close corporation that is to have control of the handling of the Beach Tract. The capital stock is $50,000, all subscribed.

The bankers of this town are having their annual picnic at Foster Memorial Park, today.

A fire which there is some reason to believe was incendiary in its origin, last night partly destroyed the house on Meta street, near Ash, occupied by the family of George Hosenfeldt. The house, which belongs to Ed. Barnett, was damaged to the extent of about $300, the loss being covered by insurance.

TO TEACH FARMING.

The Oxnard High School, in this county, is going to put in an agricultural department. The High School Trustees of the Oxnard Union District held a meeting at the sugar town last night, and gave the principal of the school instructions to look out for a fit man to have charge of the new work. The teacher, besides being an expert in scientific agriculture, must be fitted to teach physical geography and perhaps, one other scientific branch in the school.

The Trustees also began negotiations for the purchase of a tract of seven acres within a few blocks of the schoolhouse, to be used as a High School farm.

DECIDE DIVORCE IS A FAILURE.

SEPARATED COUPLE REMARRY AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

Impatiently Await Final Decree, and, With That in Their Possession, Go from Riverside to San Bernardino to Secure License and a Minister for Second Wedding.

RIVERSIDE, June 24.—That marriage is not a failure is the decision reached by John Vocsko and Mrs. Mabel C. Vocsko, who secured their final decree of divorce yesterday, and who hurried away together to San Bernardino as fast as steam could carry them, to secure another license and again become man and wife.

Vocsko is a successful Alessandro rancher, whose wife grew tired of wedded life a year ago. She was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce on the ground of cruelty, and for the last year the two have been living apart. Some time ago the freedom she sued for began to pall.

The husband was more than willing for a reconciliation, and a second courtship began. As soon as the year was up, the pair appeared before Judge Densmore to have the final decree signed, so that they might marry again.

The second ceremony took place in San Bernardino last evening.

PIONEER DEAD.

George Crawford, one of the earliest pioneers of Riverside, died suddenly of heart failure last evening at his home on Magnolia avenue. Up to the time of his death he was apparently as well as usual. He was sitting in his chair at home, when, without a word he fell forward. Life was extinct before members of his family reached his side.

He came to Riverside from Canada in 1875, and was one of the first to buy a home on Magnolia avenue, and plant oranges. He was within a few months of 80 years old at the time of his death.

Mr. Crawford leaves a widow, two sons and one daughter.

HAVE NO SITE FOR RACE TRACK.

PROMOTERS OF TIA JUANA PLAN IN HOT WATER.

Succeed in Overcoming Opposition to Scheme Only to Find Themselves Without Land for Course—Bathing Suit Question Up to San Diego City Attorney.

SAN DIEGO, June 24.—Promoters of the Tia Juana race-track scheme are again in hot water. It seems that after a warm fight they succeeded in overcoming opposition to a concession from the Mexican government, but now they are hard up for a site.

The original concession granted was for a track on or near the international boundary line. An option on property belonging to a local syndicate had then been secured. However, the opposition brigade wielded its hammers both in the City of Mexico and at Washington, with such effect that this concession was withdrawn by order of President Diaz.

A delegation visited Washington and finally squelched opposition there, which resulted in a new concession being secured, but which requires, it is said, that the track be built farther away from the United States boundary line than was at first intended. This compels the promoters to obtain possession of more land, which, according to a local man, fell foul of the land end of the deal.

D. R. Worden, Isadore Cohn, F. S. Banks, W. C. Creveling and Attorney W. A. Alderson attended a meeting here Monday, following which Cohn, Creveling, Earl Low and Attorney Alderson went to Ensenada, where they will seek to adjust legal matters pertaining to the deal.

Frank Salmons, of this city, who has been a promoter of the deal from its inception, declares he has nothing to do with the race-track scheme whatever; that he merely acted as agent for land owners.

CITY ATTORNEY TO DECIDE.

The complaint of La Jolla citizens that bathers wear immodest costumes is now in the hands of City Attorney Andrews for an opinion as to what measures regulating bathing suits can be enforced. During the discussion of the subject, Superintendent of Police Sehon asked of his colleagues if it is intended to shut out women who wear low-necked dinner gowns. The request of the Council is that no person be allowed to appear in public without a covering extending from the neck to the knees.

PISTOL BURNS BOY.

Gene Bearns, son of a prominent grocer, was badly burned in the face and forehead by the discharge of a toy pistol yesterday. John McCullem, a negro boy, held the pistol when it was discharged. The charge narrowly missed Bearns's eyes. The Chief of Police has issued an order to arrest all boys found with toy firearms, or other explosives.

INCREASES SWAILE'S BAIL.

Upon being informed by the District Attorney that Charles R. Swaile, the alleged dynamiter, in jail awaiting a second trial, was preparing to leave this country in case the court reduced his bail, Judge Guy increased the amount from $3500 to $6500. Two deputy sheriffs assert that they overheard a conversation in jail between Swaile and his wife, in which it was decided the latter was to mortgage all their property for bail funds, and upon his release they would leave California for good.

HIS WIFE SAID NO.

Santa Ana Man and Soda Company Lock Horns in Court—Sues for Alamitos Land.

SANTA ANA, June 24.—In a case on trial in the Superior Court the refusal of Mrs. R. L. Precht to agree with her husband to taking stock in the Pacific Coast Soda Company is pitted against her husband's signature to an agreement to take stock. The soda company is suing to compel Precht to accept $1000 worth of stock. Precht says he signed only on condition that his wife would consent to his procedure. The agent had represented that the stock was going fast, and Precht had to sign at once if he wanted any. Mrs. Precht was against taking stock, and Precht refused to pay the $1000.

WANTS MONEY.

The First National Bank of Fullerton has brought suit in the Superior Court because a crop raised at Fallbrook failed to satisfy the bank's mortgage on a $1476.07 note. Part of the crop was destroyed, part failed to mature, and the bank realized only $772.20. The bank asks judgment of $702.82 against F. W. Snell, who owned the crop.

NEW SUIT ON OLD LAND.

Notice of the pendency of an action in Los Angeles, brought by Susanna P. Bryant against Fred H. Bixby and the Alamitos Land Company to partition a tract of 7500 acres near Los Alamitos and Long Beach, has been recorded here. The land is the same that was concerned in the well-known Los Angeles suit of Jotham Bixby against I. N. Hellman and others. Some land from the allotment has been sold.

The creditors of the Huntington Beach Canning, Pickling and Produce Company have assigned their claims, aggregating $20,000, to J. G. Parsons, who today brought suit against the stockholders of the company on their statutory liability. It is expected that when the debts are cleared up the cannery will make its way to the front.

Edna G. King of Orange has begun a suit for divorce against Herbert B. King.

Reinhold Dinkler, aged 21, of Anaheim, a native of Germany, today filed his declaration of intention to become a citizen.

ELSINORE TO CELEBRATE.

ELSINORE, June 24.—It was decided last evening at a meeting in the City Hall, that Elsinore will celebrate July 4. Monte Cambern, U. D. Jacobs and Homer Wesnen were appointed a committee in charge.

Mrs. C. N. Gardner, owner of the Lakeview Inn, yesterday purchased of L. D. Clark, nine acres on Grand avenue, with a fine lake frontage. It is the intention of Mrs. Gardner to make a pleasure ground on this site.

READY FOR MAKING SUGAR.

Los Alamitos Ranchers Have Record Crop of Beets and Factory Prepares Accordingly.

LOS ALAMITOS, June 24.—In anticipation of a bumper crop from the largest acreage ever harvested for the sugar factory here, improvements are being rushed. Modern machinery is replacing the old, the water supply has been increased, finishing touches are being given to the manager's new house, and roomy additions are being made to the office and machine shop.

The work of cultivation in the fields is practically over, and hundreds of acres are being irrigated from artesian wells. Contracts are being made for beet topping and Superintendent H. C. Lawrence is booking applications for positions for sugar making.

Carloads of limerock, coke, fuel oil and sugar bags are arriving daily and many carloads of sugar-beet-pulp and molasses are being shipped.

OIL FOR ROADS.

Orange and Los Angeles County Supervisors are applying oil to the dusty roads, and standpipes are being erected for a water supply for street sprinklers, to be used when heavy hauling begins.

COLTON.

COLTON, June 24.—Justice Hanna of this city has been appointed by Charles Post, Clerk of San Bernardino, as a deputy for the issuing of marriage licenses.

Mrs. J. D. Rutherford went to Los Angeles yesterday to be present at the graduation exercises of the State Normal School. Her daughter, Miss Calla Milliken, is among the graduates.

HEINSHEIMER FORTUNE VAST.

New York Banker Left Estate Which Proves to Be Worth Fourteen Million Dollars.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 24.—The payment of $148,000 to the State Comptroller, as the collateral inheritance tax on the estate of the late Louis A. Heinsheimer, revealed the fact that the banker left an estate of $14,670,000.

Mr. Heinsheimer was a member of the powerful banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and when he died on last New Year's Day, it was estimated by his business partners that he might have been worth not more than $5,000,000.

The collateral inheritance tax appraisers investigated the estate, however, and discovered that it was worth about three times what was supposed.

Mr. Heinsheimer's will bequeathed $2,000,000 to Hebrew charities, among them being a number in the West.

LAKE GEORGE HOTEL BURNS.

LAKE GEORGE (N. Y.) June 24.—The main building of the Fort William Henry Hotel at Lake George, owned by the Delaware and Hudson Company, was destroyed by fire early today, entailing a loss estimated at $250,000. There were no guests in the hotel, which had not yet opened for the season.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

An entire car of watermelons was received here yesterday for the first time this year. They came as all watermelons of the early season do, from Imperial Valley. The arrival of the car was the beginning of the lower prices on watermelons for the entire season. They dropped to 1¼ cents a pound when purchased in quantity. There were eight melons in the consignment, which are daily arriving in larger quantities—from one to three cars every twenty-four hours. The consumers are asking no odds so long as they arrive. Cherries from Ashland, Or., were the only feature of arrivals of that kind. These are packed according to the new ideal method of packing, which places the cherries direct from the packer to the consumer without being changed from box to basket and basket to box, but remaining in the case with loose fruit. The Ashland cherries sell at 75 cents per drawer, containing eight cartons. Cherries from the coast part of the State was so plentiful that dealers were glad to take about anything that was offered within reason. White cherries are particularly plentiful, and they brought from 3 to 7 cents.

The egg market continues very firm on local stock. Some case count eggs were sold at 23½ cents a dozen, a fractional premium above the regular prices. Eastern fresh eggs moved freely at 22 cents, while low price ones are being disposed of at 20 cents. Some eastern fresh stock, which he desired to clean out, a dealer was offering at 19 cents a dozen. Some case count eggs were sold at 23½ cents a dozen, a fractional premium above the regular prices. Eastern fresh eggs moved freely at 22 cents. This low price was made by a dealer carrying too much eastern fresh stock, which he desired to clean up. Receipts of local were only 5,000 cases.

Butter arrivals were 35,212 pounds. The market on butter is variable. Creamery extras yesterday sold at 24¼ cents per pound square, just 1 cent below the market price. Ladie butter was in fair demand.

Cheese receipts were 107 pounds. Limberger, Northern fresh and Eastern Twins were the best sellers of the day. There were no changes.

The decline in spuds, which has been expected for some time, came yesterday. The tubers sold at $1.50 for the fancy early rose and 10 cents higher on early Burbanks, which are just beginning to arrive. A car of northern stock was shipped in. Onion receipts were scarce. The market on them was firm throughout.

The first Rooding white figs of the season were received. They sold at $1.50 per box. Black figs are only worth from 75 cents to $1 per box. There were no changes in the apricot and peach prices. Prunes and simonum plums are arriving. They are in a demand red variety and sell at $1.25 per lug box. Other plums are holding steady.

The first announcement of a break in local wheat prices came yesterday. This breaking of the high prices on wheat that has been expected for some time and with favorable conditions, further declines may be looked for in the immediate future. This will insure lower flour prices.

THIRD DEGREE IN QUEER WAY.

Postoffice Suspect Strongly Declares Innocence.

Officers' Action Subject of Sharp Criticism.

After being held incommunicado for nearly twenty-four hours, Orlando F. Altorre, clerk at the postoffice at the time of the big registered mail robbery, was taken to the County Jail yesterday afternoon, upon an indictment formally charging him with the theft of $15,000 intrusted to the care of the postal department by the First National Bank of this city.

It is asserted that, after a two weeks' investigation, in which the best talent of the Postoffice Department was employed, there is not one positive fact that implicates Altorre in the robbery. He absolutely declares his innocence, and states that there is nothing to confess.

The frail-appearing young clerk was subjected to a "third degree" that ought to extort a confession from any guilty man. He was arrested at his mother's home in Colegrove Wednesday afternoon by Inspector Wilson and United States Marshal Youngworth. Instead of giving him an opportunity to secure bail or to consult an attorney, the two officers took Altorre to the City Jail. He was not booked in the regular manner, but was thrust into No. 6 cell, from which the regular occupant was removed. The treatment of the man was most brutal.

SECRETLY CONFINED.

He remained there from 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon until 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Detective Capt. Flammer made a positive denial that the Federal prisoner was hidden in the City Jail and told Mrs. White, the heart-broken mother of the prisoner, that he knew nothing about her son.

About 10 o'clock he was taken into Capt. Flammer's private office and subjected to a "sweating" in order to secure a confession if possible. In an interview with a Times reporter, Altorre stated that no amount of pressure could make him confess to something he had never done.

"I am absolutely innocent," said he, tears starting to his eyes. "They have tried in every possible way to get me to say something that would tend to implicate me. I told the simple truth. Don't I know I have been under surveillance for many days? I have felt keenly the imputation of guilt, but kept at work. I told my mother all about the case. She knows that I could not lie to her. I never took the money."

Several Federal officials expressed surprise at the action of Capt. Flammer, in assuming jurisdiction of a government case. As captain of detectives, Flammer's duties are confined to arrests under the State law or city ordinance. He is not even deputized as an officer under Marshal Youngworth, and legally has no right to participate in the "sweating" of the prisoner or to keep him confined in the City Jail, except in case of an emergency. Postoffice inspectors are also merely employés of the postal department and have no power to make arrests.

MARSHAL EXPLAINS.

United States Marshal Youngworth explained the unusual course taken in the Altorre arrest, by stating that he was working under the orders of the inspectors. "It was not my case, but that of the inspectors," said he. "I was justified in doing as I did and I do not fear hostile criticism."

One of the county officers said that the probable reason for taking Altorre to the City Jail instead of to the County Jail, where all Federal prisoners are confined, was to maintain absolute secrecy until a confession could be extorted or the missing $15,000 could be located, through admissions of the defendant.

After Youngworth and Wilson took her son away Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. White did not see him again until yesterday afternoon, when Attorney Fred Thompson made a formal demand upon the Marshal to produce his prisoner. Sheriff Hammel did his best to aid the weeping old lady yesterday morning, and he did not rest until he convinced himself that the prisoner was not in the County Jail. "Madam, if your son were here I would tell you," said he frankly.

When Attorney Thompson stated he would secure a writ of habeas corpus for the defendant, Altorre was permitted to leave the Marshal's office where he was kept after being smuggled from the City Jail.

DEFENDANT'S RIGHTS.

"The defendant had the constitutional right of being taken before the nearest magistrate," said Attorney Thompson. "He also had the right to demand being admitted to bail. He was not even allowed to see his attorney until the officers had gone through their mysterious sequestration."

Altorre will probably be arraigned next Monday in the United States District Court.

The little garden in the rear of Mrs. White's home has been dug up until there is not a square foot that has not been examined for a trace of the missing $15,000.

The defendant has the reputation of being a quiet and hard-working young fellow, who has never been in any serious trouble before the present affair. He has been a trusted registry clerk for years.

The postal officials have been greatly stirred up over the disappearance of the $15,000. The First National Bank of this city consigned four packages, containing an aggregate of $30,000 to the Bank of Bisbee, Ariz. The packages were registered at Station C June 12. About four days later President Elliott of the First National Bank was notified by telegraph that the packages had not reached the Bisbee bank. The postal authorities were immediately notified. Postmaster Flint was absent at the time, and he knew nothing of the robbery until he read dispatches in the eastern papers.

The postoffice clerks were greatly dismayed when it was learned that $30,000 was missing. A search of the registry department resulted in finding two packages, one containing $10,000 and the other $5000. The bank here, however, did not stand to lose anything, as all its registered packages are insured for their full value.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL FACTS.

The local force of inspectors being deemed unable to cope with the situation, Chief Inspector O'Connell of San Francisco was ordered here to aid in the investigation. After two weeks' work, they determined to fix the blame upon Altorre, upon alleged circumstantial evidence. A detective who has worked with the inspectors is said to have stated that there is no proof implicating Altorre, but that it was hoped a severe "third degree" might make the prisoner talk.

From the secrecy maintained, it is apparent that the "sweating" did not produce results. Attorney Thompson stated positively that his client can never be convicted upon the evidence secured so far, even if he were guilty, an assumption which he vehemently denied.

SEEKS DIVORCE AFTER LONG ABANDONMENT.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NOGALES, June 23.—That she is still a wife, though her husband, in succession, has married two other women, is the contention of Mrs. Cipriana Shepard, whose divorce suit against J. L. Shepard has just been transferred from Tucson to the District Court in this city. Shepard is a wealthy mining man, secretary of the Realito Mining Company, which has property in Sonora, south of Nogales. According to the woman, she and Shepard maintained marriage relations for a period of seven years, three children being born to them. These relations began in 1899, in Nogales, and were continued for years at the Realito camp. At the start, Shepard had another wife, from whom he was divorced in 1903; but it is alleged that he continued to live with the Mexican woman until three years ago, when he married Isabel M. Muir, with whom he now lives in a Tucson hotel. For some time past the Mexican woman has supported herself and her two living children by washing clothes and other menial tasks, something which is dwelt upon at length by her attorney, who contrasts her condition vividly with the luxury that prevails around the latest Shepard menage.

Last week, near Calabasas, Edward Egan, a prosperous rancher, was murdered in his cabin, apparently stunned by a blow and his throat cut after he had awakened from stupor and had attempted to save his property. There is evidence that his hands had been tied and that brutality had been used to force him to divulge where he had hidden money. The body was found under a mattress, on which had been thrown a bloodstained rifle and knife, both of them Egan's property. Egan was an aged and feeble man, who had lived in the vicinity for thirty years. He had about $25,000 worth of realty and was popularly supposed to have hidden away a considerable amount in cash. A Mexican, Casiano Romero, is believed to have been the murderer. Romero was found the next day, several miles from Calabasas, his shirt spotted with blood.

Ingenio Otono is in hiding across the line, wanted in this county for the murder of a countryman, Antonio Vasquez. It all happened over the desertion of Otono for Vasquez by a woman who had been claimed as wife by the former.

A few days ago, a broken rail wrecked a southbound train on the Sonora road, near Carbo station. The locomotive and baggage car went along as usual, but the passenger coaches were thrown over on their sides, giving the passengers a terrible shaking. As it happened early in the morning the Pullman passengers were thrown from their berths. C. S. Stewart and G. Hamlin were hurt, as well as six Mexicans and a couple of Chinese. Conductor Budge was somewhat bruised. The Mexican government is conducting an inquiry into the cause of the wreck.

The great Southern Pacific shops at Empalme, near Guaymas, are nearly complete, at a total cost of $1,500,000. The buildings are all of concrete and steel, and fireproof. The shops are among the largest in the West and are designed for doing the bulk of the repair work of the West Coast line, though other shops will be maintained at Culiacan and Mazatlan.

Sonora's agricultural possibilities are shown by late shipments through this port of several carloads of tomatoes, consigned to St. Paul, Minn., several carloads of oranges for eastern markets, and five carloads of Garvanza beans for Spain.

Throughout Sonora are being established manufacturing establishments, favored by concessions from the national government and by the high tariff levied upon manufactured products of the United States and other outside countries. In Nogales, Sonora, Louis B Fleischer has established a factory for the fashioning of rough clothing, such as is used by miners, and employs eight hands, assisted by the latest mechanical appliances.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON, June 23.—Though two men still strive to occupy the single office of city water superintendent, comparative peace prevails in the fight between the Mayor and the opposing five Councilmen, for Mayor Heney has gone to San Francisco to visit his brother. There was a City Council meeting last night, at which it was agreed that the Mayor's charges against Councilman Martin should be taken up as soon as Heney return. Reference was made by resolution to the refusal of the Council to take up the charges last week, the failure to act being explained on the ground that the Mayor's action was summary, not giving the accused Councilman time to secure legal advice, summon witnesses or otherwise prepare a defense. Martin received a copy of the charges four hours before the time of the Council meeting called by the Mayor, but the text or import of the charges have not thus far been made public by either side.

Heney's letter to Martin was most peremptory, as follows: "Having spent considerable time the past few days inquiring into your official and semi-official acts, I have reached the conclusion that the highest interests of this community will be best subserved by the immediate retirement of yourself from the office of Councilman of the city of Tucson. Therefore, I now demand your resignation."

The Councilman's reply was as brief, to-wit: "You assign no sufficient reason for my resignation, and I know of none. Your conclusion, under existing circumstances, can hardly be considered. I decline to comply with your request."

Before leaving the Mayor issued a manifesto, in rather indefinite terms, but which was stated: "Either I must resign as Mayor or five men must resign as Councilmen."

Two former employés of the Southern Pacific Company are in jail in Tucson, charged by Special Officer G. E. Walters with complicity in the dynamiting of the home of Superintendent W. H. Whalen of the Tucson division of the railroad. The men accused are Ben Klink, a conductor till a few weeks ago, but latterly a bartender, and Thomas Northen, a former brakeman. It is told that both had been discharged from the service for good cause. M. B. Moller, chief of the Southern Pacific detective service at Los Angeles, has been gathering evidence, which will be brought out at the preliminary hearing of the men on Friday. John Desmond, arrested for the same crime, has been discharged, no evidence of value being found against him. It has been found that the Whalen house was so badly damaged by the explosion that it is in danger of falling, and that it will have to be completely rebuilt.

Marks, alias, Rowan, Henderson and Harrison, the forger who escaped yesterday from a Kansas officer on the Rock Island Limited at Benson, was caught at St. David, a small Mormon community on the San Pedro River, the same evening, while trying to escape into Mexico. Marks had lived at Bisbee and was familiar with the country.

L. C. Miller has been sent to the penitentiary from Tombstone, for six years for felony. His case is an interesting one. While an inmate of the Yavapai County Jail, about fifteen years ago, he became mixed up in an attempted jail break, in which Lee Nroris, a young Prescott attorney, was killed. The chief criminal in the affair was a train robber, who later was hanged, Miller getting a life sentence. He was a good prisoner, and studied diligently, under a correspondence school, to fit himself as a civil engineer. As a result, his term was cut down, and when he was released he was presented by Mrs. Russell Sage with engineering instruments valued at $600. But he was morally unable to keep straight.

Herman Brower, a Tucson shoemaker, has sued for divorce, alleging that his wife had struck on the preparation of his meals, and had compelled him to do the family cooking as well as providing support for the family. The couple were married in 1901 and had lived happily till lately, when the wife had acquired a distaste for the cookstove. As the woman had left the city, apparently with the intention not to return, the husband was given a decree.

Complaints, made to the City Council concerning defective wiring at many points, have stirred up the local electric lighting company to making close inspection and connections, and all danger spots.
